Adlai Attacks From Streets

Demo Speaks On N.Y.'s Teeming Sidewalks Against 'Brazen' GOP Civil Rights Claims

NEW YORK (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson moved Thursday night into populous New York to assail what he termed a "brazen" Republican effort to take credit for progress in the field of civil rights.

Campaigning on the sidewalks of civil rights-conscious New York, Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, ranged from foreign policy to civil rights in three street corner talks.

Amidst the heterogeneous population, largely Jewish, of the Lower East Side, he said it was time President Eisenhower "moved in and took command" of Middle East foreign policy.

The theme of Eisenhower's personal leadership came up again in a street corner rally in the heart of Harlem, predominately populated by Negroes and Puerto Ricans. There Stevenson repeated his stand on segregation.

"When the President was presented with an opportunity for great national leadership in this field," the Democratic candidate said, "he was virtually silent. I am referring to the Supreme Court decision on desegregation in the public schools."

Time and again, Stevenson mentioned his Republican opponent, Eisenhower, by name—a procedure usually shunned in political speeches by presidential candidates. Apparently this was in line with his campaign strategy to equate the President with his partys record.

Harried Trip

Stevenson moved onto New York's concrete campaign trail less than two hours after he arrived on a weather - harried trip from Elkins, W.Va.

He arrived in New York one day after Eisenhower had been in town for the World Series opener. Stevenson is to attend Friday's game, weather permitting, and will speak in heavily democratic Brooklyn.

Speaking informally on the East Side Thursday night, Stevenson claimed that the United States has lost prestige "from Iceland to Japan." Any domestic gains are "meaningless," he said, "unless we have peace and security in the world."

But it was for Harlem, avidly wooed by both parties as symbolic of the Negro voet, that Stevenson reserved his main fire. Crowds estimated by police at 15,000 persons in two rallies cheered him.

Most Important

There, in his prepared speech, Stevenson quoted his own words, delivered last week before a Southern audience in Arkansas, on the integration issue.

" 'What is most important is that we agree that once the Supreme Court has decided this constitutional question, we accept that decision as law-abiding citizens,' " he said.

Stevenson rejected what he said were Republican claims that they had stopped discrimination in employment by government contractors, and ended segregation in the District of Columbia. He also rejected GOP statements taking credit for integration in the armed forces.

The last claim, he said, made him "pretty disgusted."

On Story

"Well, you know, I happen to have been in on that story from the start — and these Johnny-come-lately Republican claims make me pretty disgusted."

Stevenson said he was assistant to the secretary of the Navy in 1941 and 1942 when "we took the first and the hard steps toward removing the racial barriers in the United States Navy."

In July, 1948, he said, President Truman "sounded the death knell of segregation in the armed forces" with an executive order.

"That order was issued despite the testimony of chief of staff Dwight D. Eisenhower before a congressional committee on April 2, 1948, that complete desegregation in the armed forces would, as he put it, get us 'into trouble,'" Stevenson said. Then he continued:

"But four years later, candidate Eisenhower admitted, in a speech at Chicago on Oct. 31, 1952, that —and these are his words — 'now, so far as I know, there is nothing in the way of segregation in the Army, Navy, Air Force or Marines left — at least as a matter of official record.'

Demo Record

"Why then — why — did President Eisenhower tell the American people on Monday of this week in listing the accomplishments of his administration, that one thing the Republicans have done since 1952 is to end segregation in the armed forces?

"I don't mind the President's trying to make off in broad daylight with the Democratic platform—he always returns to it after election day—but he better stop trying to run on the Democratic record."

During a speech in Elkins, W. Va., Stevenson criticized the Eisenhower administration for what he called "shunting aside" of lifetime conservationists "in favor of political appointees."

It was the severest politics-type statement in an otherwise nonpartisan speech at the State Forest Festival whose big moment was the crowning of a pretty girl as "Queen Sylvia."

6 Crewmen Saved As Trawler Sinks

IJMUIDEN, Netherlands, (AP) — The capsized Polish fishing trawler Syranka, with eight men feared trapped in her hull, sank late Thursday night.

She suddenly disappeared in the sea shortly before midnight, the Polish Fisher Depot-ship Morskawola announced.

It gave no further details.

Six of the 14-man crew were picked out of the sea where the trawler overturned in rough seas, about 100 miles off the British North Sea coast on the Dogger Bank. Fishing boats picked up the men.

The survivors told rescuers they heard sounds of knocking from inside the hull of the capsized vessel before it sank.

Nixon Adds Norfolk Date To Schedule

Increased speaking demands have necessitated revision of Vice President Richard Nixon's Nebraska schedule and it now calls for appearances at Norfolk and Columbus Oct. 12.

The Republican vice presidential candidate's new schedule was announced Thursday by State GOP Chairman Richard E. Spelts Jr. of Grand Island.

Nixon's DC-6 will land at Norfolk Airport at 9:30 a.m. where Madison County GOP Chairman L. G. Nelson has scheduled a reception for the vice president.

Motorcade

A 12-car motorcade will transport the Nixon party to Columbus where the Republican candidate will address the National Mechanical Cornpicking Contest.

Democratic vice presidential candidate Estes Kefauver will also speak at the contest, with his address scheduled for 2:45 p.m. Following his address in Columbus, Kefauver will speak at Fremont and Lincoln.

Spelts said Governor Victor Anderson will issue greetings from the people of Nebraska at the con test site at 11 a.m.

Nixon's address will follow. Both speeches will be broadcast over radio.

Platte County Republican Chairman J. O. Peck has arranged a noon luncheon at the Columbus Auditorium for Nixon.

The vice president will leave Columbus at 12:30 p.m. to return to Norfolk where he will enplane for another speaking engagement in Michigan that evening.

Present System Favored

Council Members Unanimous

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

City Council members presented a solid front in favor of retaining the present form of city government at their meeting with the Charter Revision Committee.

Members present were Councilmen Joseph E. Fenton, Hugh Thorne, Ray Osborn and Chauncey W. D. Kinsey.

Osborn told the Committee that if directors get out of control in going their own way it is the fault of the Council, not the form of government.

The city now has a very good form of government, Osborn said.

Thorne Agrees

That statement was agreed to by Thorne who added he felt the mayor needed no more authority. The mayor's authority now, he said, comes from the fact that he knows he has the backing of the City Council.

A strong mayor which did not need Council backing for his authority, he said, could be a dangerous thing if the wrong man were elected.

Both Fenton and Kinsey echoed the same thoughts. Kinsey added that he believed the Committee should relax that section of the charter which now prohibits any city official from having an interest in any city contract.

Contracts

A person should not have to stop doing business with the city, Kinsey said, if they want to serve on the Council.

Council members also approved a utilities board and provision in the charter for a city coordinator or assistant to the mayor and Council. However, they said, the coordinator should not have authority over the directors.

The next meeting of the charter committee will be Tuesday at 7 p.m.

Industrial Plants Court Test Asked

Attorney General Beck Contends York Bond Issue Unconstitutional

By ROY CAMPBELL
Star Staff Writer

A test case questioning the rights of cities to build industrial plants for lease to private firms had its beginning in the State Supreme Court Thursday.

The city in question is York, where construction is nearly completed on a $350,000 building to house the York Cold Storage and York Packing companies.

The action is expected to have far-reaching effects on the industrial picture in Nebraska, namely in the attempts by both the state and cities to bring new industry into Nebraska.

Attorney General C. S. Beck presented two petitions to the Supreme Court in instituting the case Thursday. One was a request to institute an original action in the Supreme Court, which the court is expected to pass on next week.

The other was an injunction suit asking the court to stop the city of York from issuing industrial revenue bonds for construction of the plant which later would be leased to a private firm.

Directed By Anderson

The attorney general was directed to file the injunction by Gov. Victor Anderson "in order that the court may have an early opportunity to adjudge the legal questions involved." The governor in a letter said attorneys for bonding companies will not give an approving opinion until the Supreme Court passes on the law.

The law involved is LB 375, passed by the 1953 Legislature and included in the 1955 cumulative supplement, Sec. 18-1604. It authorizes cities and villages of any size to issue revenue bonds to finance acquisition and construction of industrial buildings to be leased to private firms or individuals.

In his injunction petition, Beck said the law is unconstitutional because it "constitutes an attempt to authorize the taking of private property for other than public purposes.' It also, Beck said, attempts to authorize the giving or loaning of public money or credit in aid of private industries, which the petition says is unconstitutional.

No Vote Cited

The act is additionally unconstitutional, Beck said, because it authorizes "donations to work of internal improvements without requiring the proposition be submitted to the voters."

The petition said the act doesn't set the means of determining the value of municipally owned property and there is no provision for insuring the collection of payments in lieu of taxes.

The act, the petition said, is an attempt to donate lands under control of the state to private corporations.

Escape Fees, Taxes

One understanding of the act, as applied to cities paying for industrial buildings, was that private industries could escape bond handling fees and taxes which are exempted when municipalities issue the bonds.

Under the terms of the York Cold Storage and Packing companies, the firms would pay rentals on terms of a 50-year lease. The first 10 years would have rentals sufficient to retire the revenue bonds.

The remaining 40 years would permit the company to lease the buildings and grounds for $200 a year.

In his first petition, Beck said that many cities in Nebraska are in negotiation proceeding to a point where commitments are about to be made by parties involved.

Several Millions

The question of the constitutionality of the law "makes it virtually impossible for the parties to proceed." The amounts involved, Beck said, run into several millions of dollars.

He said the construction of the York project is to a point that financing under the act will be ready for completion in December of this year.

The injunction suit names as defendants the mayor, Lloyd O. Livingston, and members of the York City Council. They are Olaf N. Miller, Reid A. Pentico, Wesley H. Penner, Herbert Zieg, Warren Allen Hudson, Charles H. Toms, Gerald D. Hoffmaster, and Emmett L. Malster.

State's Resources Division Anxious For Court Ruling

A spokesman of the Nebraska Resources Division said his office is anxious to get an opinion on the constitutionality of LB 375 passed by the 1953 Legislature.

The bill authorizes cities to issue industrial revenue bonds for construction of plants which later are leased to private corporations or individuals.

The attorney general, C. S. Beck, instituted procedures with the State Supreme Court Thursday in an attempt to test the constitutionality of the bill.

Beck asked for an original suit in the court for an injunction proceedings against the city of York. The city, according to the petition, is preparing to issue revenue bonds for building a packing and storage plant.

The Resources Division spokesman said the York project is the only one undertaken in the state by a city at the present time.

The spokesman said the industrial expansion of the state hinges in large part on the outcome of the case. He said the law could be a "valuable took" for expanding industry in Nebraska.

PAINE AIR BASE, Wash. (INS) —Two Air Force jet fighter interceptors were missing Thursday and an Air Force spokesman said they are believed to have collided in mid-air and crashed.

Lt. Richard Hawkins, public information officer at Paine Air Base, said simultaneous loss of radio and radar contact with the two planes led to the belief they collided and crashed. They were on a patrol flight near Neah Bay on the rugged northwest coast of the Olympic Peninsula.

Vice President Agrees With Demo That Inductions Should End —But, When Possible

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Nixon said Thursday night he and other Republican candidates do not intend to "kid the American people in an election year" by hold out hopes that the draft can be ended soon.

Nixon, making a nation-wide TV-radio broadcast based on the 32-state tour he completed Wednesday took up the draft issue raised by Democratic presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson. Stevenson has said the draft should be ended as soon as possible, consistent with the national safety.

Nixon said he thinks Stevenson is well intentioned, but does not have the "background, experience and judgment" which, Nixon said, qualify President Eisenhower for leadership.

Nixon said he agrees that the draft should be ended as soon as national safety makes it possible, but that it was not a subject on which to "kid the American people" in an election year by giving the impression that time will come soon.

Nixon was interviewed, through a television hookup, by eight newsmen from various cities he visited on his 15,000-mile swing. Considering the rigors of the trip, the Vice President looked fresh when he appeared, conservatively dressed in gray at a studio here for the broadcast.

On oher issues, Nixon had this to say:

Farm matters — farmers in drought stricken areas such as Texas would be in better shape today if Congress had approved prompt payments under the administration's soil bank plan. While the drought can't be blamed on either party, he said the soil bank in the long run would help farmers in the drought areas by encouraging the withdrawal of marginal lands.

Support

Power and natural resources—President Eisenhower "has not had the support he should have had in Congress," Nixon said, for proposals he made under his "partnership" policy of developing public resources with emphasis on participation by local public and private interests. He said resources will not be fully developed if the whole job is left to the federal government.

"Big people vs. little people"—Nixon said, "any political candidate who tries to divide Americans on a class basis is rendering a terrible disservice to this country." He repeated his objection to calling any American a "little man." He said the 67 million American wage earners are receiving an average of $50 a month more now than they did in 1952.

Race relations—a moderate approach, Nixon repeated, is the best way to achieve the equality of opportunity which he said all Americans of good will desire. That is the Eisenhower approach, he added.

Unprepared

In discussing the draft, Nixon said:

"Let us never forget that there were thousands of American boys who went into Korea unprepared and that some died because they did not have the training they needed."

He said this would never happen under Eisenhower.

Newsmen who questioned Nixon were Arden Pangborn, editor of the Oregon Journal: Bob Gray, staff man for the Houston Post; John C. McDonald, political writer of the Minneapolis Tribune; Paul M. Warner, editorial director of the Philadelphia Inquirer; Alvin S. McCoy, Kansas correspondent for the Kansas City Star; Alden C. Dunkleberger, editor of the Nashville Banner; Virgil Pinkley, editor and publisher of the Los Angeles Mirror-News and Lester M. Hunt of the Indianapolis Star.

IKE ADDS DAY TO N.W. TRIP

After Nixon Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon checked campaign notes and strategy Thursday and Eisenhower sandwiched an extra day into his political expedition to the Pacific Northwest.

The White House said, however, that the added day isn't being put into the schedule at Nixon's urging.

Nevertheless, the vice president reportedly has been tugging at his running mate to get out around the country and be seen more, in in an effort to cash in on the Eisenhower personal popularity in the weeks before the November election.

Nixon himself is just back from 16 days of rugged campaigning that took him 15,000 miles through 32 states.

Before TV Talk

In advance of reporting to the nation by television Thursday night, Nixon spent an hour and a quarter with the President.

Eisenhower is planning to leave for the Northwest a day earlier—Oct. 16, instead of Oct. 17. He still plans to get back to Washington on Oct. 19.

Campaign activities en route—in Minneapolis and St. Paul—will be moved up a day.

Instead of a joint appearance on radio and television with Gov. Arthur Langlie of Washington, who is running for the U.S. Senate on the GOP ticket, Eisenhower will speak at a rally at the Civic Auditorium in Seattle.

Visit With Brother

Also, the President will spend a night at the home of his brother, Edgar, a lawyer in Tacoma, Wash.

Hagerty said it was at Langlie's request that Eisenhower will speak at the Seattle rally instead of appearing with Langlie on radio and TV.

Eisenhower will have an extra day in Seattle. Hagerty said some activities may be scheduled for it or the President may use the time for working on speeches.

The Civic Auditorium speech will be Oct. 17 from 8:00 to 8:30 PST, over a statewide radio-TV network.

The next day, Oct. 18th, Eisenhower will talk at the Puget Sound College field house—Hagerty said it will not be a "full-fledged speech."

Major Address

He will make a major address from the Portland Civic Auditorium that night over the ABC nationwide TV and radio network, from 7:30 to 8:00 PST.

After the speech, Eisenhower will take off for Washington. He expects to arrive at 8:20 a.m. EDT Oct. 19.

In another elaboration of the President's campaign plans, Hagerty filled in details of Eisenhower's trip to Pittsburgh, Pa., Tuesday.

Further campaign activity in the Pittsburgh area may be added to the schedule. If it is, Eisenhower will leave here earlier Tuesday than he had planned.

Eisenhower's Pittsburgh speech will be delivered from Hunt Armory from 9:00 to 9:30 p.m. EDT over the nationwide radio-TV networks of NBC.

Present System Favored

Council Members Unanimous

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

City Council members presented a solid front in favor of retaining the present form of city government at their meeting with the Charter Revision Committee.

Members present were Councilmen Joseph E. Fenton, Hugh Thorne, Ray Osborn and Chauncey W. D. Kinsey.

Osborn told the Committee that if directors get out of control in going their own way it is the fault of the Council, not the form of government.

The city now has a very good form of government, Osborn said.

Thorne Agrees

That statement was agreed to by Thorne who added he felt the mayor needed no more authority. The mayor's authority now, he said, comes from the fact that he knows he has the backing of the City Council.

A strong mayor which did not need Council backing for his authority, he said, could be a dangerous thing if the wrong man were elected.

Both Fenton and Kinsey echoed the same thoughts. Kinsey added that he believed the Committee should relax that section of the charter which now prohibits any city official from having an interest in any city contract.

Contracts

A person should not have to stop doing business with the city, Kinsey said, if they want to serve on the Council.

Council members also approved a utilities board and provision in the charter for a city coordinator or assistant to the mayor and Council. However, they said, the coordinator should not have authority over the directors.

The next meeting of the charter committee will be Tuesday at 7 p.m.

Industrial Plants Court Test Asked

By ROY CAMPBELL
Star Staff Writer

A test case questioning the rights of cities to build industrial plants for lease to private firms had its beginning in the State Supreme Court Thursday.

The city in question is York, where construction is nearly completed on a $350,000 building to house the York Cold Storage and York Packing companies.

The action is expected to have far-reaching effects on the industrial picture in Nebraska, namely in the attempts by both the state and cities to bring new industry into Nebraska.

Attorney General C. S. Beck presented two petitions to the Supreme Court in instituting the case Thursday. One was a request to institute an original action in the Supreme Court, which the court is expected to pass on next week.

The other was an injunction suit asking the court to stop the city of York from issuing industrial revenue bonds for construction of the plant which later would be leased to a private firm.

Directed By Anderson

The attorney general was directed to file the injunction by Gov. Victor Anderson "in order that the court may have an early opportunity to adjudge the legal questions involved." The governor in a letter said attorneys for bonding companies will not give an approving opinion until the Supreme Court passes on the law.

The law involved is LB 375, passed by the 1953 Legislature and included in the 1955 cumulative supplement, Sec. 18-1604. It authorizes cities and villages of any size to issue revenue bonds to finance acquisition and construction of industrial buildings to be leased to private firms or individuals.

In his injunction petition, Beck said the law is unconstitutional because it "constitutes an attempt to authorize the taking of private property for other than public purposes.' It also, Beck said, attempts to authorize the giving or loaning of public money or credit in aid of private industries, which the petition says is unconstitutional.

No Vote Cited

The act is additionally unconstitutional, Beck said, because it authorizes "donations to work of internal improvements without requiring the proposition be submitted to the voters."

The petition said the act doesn't set the means of determining the value of municipally owned property and there is no provision for insuring the collection of payments in lieu of taxes.

The act, the petition said, is an attempt to donate lands under control of the state to private corporations.

Escape Fees, Taxes

One understanding of the act, as applied to cities paying for industrial buildings, was that private industries could escape bond handling fees and taxes which are exempted when municipalities issue the bonds.

Under the terms of the York Cold Storage and Packing companies, the firms would pay rentals on terms of a 50-year lease. The first 10 years would have rentals sufficient to retire the revenue bonds.

The remaining 40 years would permit the company to lease the buildings and grounds for $200 a year.

In his first petition, Beck said that many cities in Nebraska are in negotiation proceeding to a point where commitments are about to be made by parties involved.

Several Millions

The question of the constitutionality of the law "makes it virtually impossible for the parties to proceed." The amounts involved, Beck said, run into several millions of dollars.

He said the construction of the York project is to a point that financing under the act will be ready for completion in December of this year.

The injunction suit names as defendants the mayor, Lloyd O. Livingston, and members of the York City Council. They are Olaf N. Miller, Reid A. Pentico, Wesley H. Penner, Herbert Zieg, Warren Allen Hudson, Charles H. Toms, Gerald D. Hoffmaster, and Emmett L. Malster.

State's Resources Division Anxious For Court Ruling

A spokesman of the Nebraska Resources Division said his office is anxious to get an opinion on the constitutionality of LB 375 passed by the 1953 Legislature.

The bill authorizes cities to issue industrial revenue bonds for construction of plants which later are leased to private corporations or individuals.

The attorney general, C. S. Beck, instituted procedures with the State Supreme Court Thursday in an attempt to test the constitutionality of the bill.

Beck asked for an original suit in the court for an injunction proceedings against the city of York. The city, according to the petition, is preparing to issue revenue bonds for building a packing and storage plant.

The Resources Division spokesman said the York project is the only one undertaken in the state by a city at the present time.

The spokesman said the industrial expansion of the state hinges in large part on the outcome of the case. He said the law could be a "valuable took" for expanding industry in Nebraska.

PAINE AIR BASE, Wash. (INS) —Two Air Force jet fighter interceptors were missing Thursday and an Air Force spokesman said they are believed to have collided in mid-air and crashed.

Lt. Richard Hawkins, public information officer at Paine Air Base, said simultaneous loss of radio and radar contact with the two planes led to the belief they collided and crashed. They were on a patrol flight near Neah Bay on the rugged northwest coast of the Olympic Peninsula.

Vice President Agrees With Demo That Inductions Should End —But, When Possible

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Nixon said Thursday night he and other Republican candidates do not intend to "kid the American people in an election year" by hold out hopes that the draft can be ended soon.

Nixon, making a nation-wide TV-radio broadcast based on the 32-state tour he completed Wednesday took up the draft issue raised by Democratic presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson. Stevenson has said the draft should be ended as soon as possible, consistent with the national safety.

Nixon said he thinks Stevenson is well intentioned, but does not have the "background, experience and judgment" which, Nixon said, qualify President Eisenhower for leadership.

Nixon said he agrees that the draft should be ended as soon as national safety makes it possible, but that it was not a subject on which to "kid the American people" in an election year by giving the impression that time will come soon.

Nixon was interviewed, through a television hookup, by eight newsmen from various cities he visited on his 15,000-mile swing. Considering the rigors of the trip, the Vice President looked fresh when he appeared, conservatively dressed in gray at a studio here for the broadcast.

On oher issues, Nixon had this to say:

Farm matters — farmers in drought stricken areas such as Texas would be in better shape today if Congress had approved prompt payments under the administration's soil bank plan. While the drought can't be blamed on either party, he said the soil bank in the long run would help farmers in the drought areas by encouraging the withdrawal of marginal lands.

Support

Power and natural resources—President Eisenhower "has not had the support he should have had in Congress," Nixon said, for proposals he made under his "partnership" policy of developing public resources with emphasis on participation by local public and private interests. He said resources will not be fully developed if the whole job is left to the federal government.

"Big people vs. little people"—Nixon said, "any political candidate who tries to divide Americans on a class basis is rendering a terrible disservice to this country." He repeated his objection to calling any American a "little man." He said the 67 million American wage earners are receiving an average of $50 a month more now than they did in 1952.

Race relations—a moderate approach, Nixon repeated, is the best way to achieve the equality of opportunity which he said all Americans of good will desire. That is the Eisenhower approach, he added.

Unprepared

In discussing the draft, Nixon said:

"Let us never forget that there were thousands of American boys who went into Korea unprepared and that some died because they did not have the training they needed."

He said this would never happen under Eisenhower.

Newsmen who questioned Nixon were Arden Pangborn, editor of the Oregon Journal; Bob Gray, staff man for the Houston Post; John C. McDonald, political writer of the Minneapolis Tribune; Paul M. Warner, editorial director of the Philadelphia Inquirer; Alvin S. McCoy, Kansas correspondent for the Kansas City Star; Alden C. Dunkleberger, editor of the Nashville Banner; Virgil Pinkley, editor and publisher of the Los Angeles Mirror-News and Lester M. Hunt of the Indianapolis Star.

IKE ADDS DAY TO N.W. TRIP

After Nixon Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon checked campaign notes and strategy Thursday and Eisenhower sandwiched an extra day into his political expedition to the Pacific Northwest.

The White House said, however, that the added day isn't being put into the schedule at Nixon's urging.

Nevertheless, the vice president reportedly has been tugging at his running mate to get out around the country and be seen more, in in an effort to cash in on the Eisenhower personal popularity in the weeks before the November election.

Nixon himself is just back from 16 days of rugged campaigning that took him 15,000 miles through 32 states.

Before TV Talk

In advance of reporting to the nation by television Thursday night, Nixon spent an hour and a quarter with the President.

Eisenhower is planning to leave for the Northwest a day earlier—Oct. 16, instead of Oct. 17. He still plans to get back to Washington on Oct. 19.

Campaign activities en route—in Minneapolis and St. Paul—will be moved up a day.

Instead of a joint appearance on radio and television with Gov. Arthur Langlie of Washington, who is running for the U.S. Senate on the GOP ticket, Eisenhower will speak at a rally at the Civic Auditorium in Seattle.

Visit With Brother

Also, the President will spend a night at the home of his brother, Edgar, a lawyer in Tacoma, Wash.

Hagerty said it was at Langlie's request that Eisenhower will speak at the Seattle rally instead of appearing with Langlie on radio and TV.

Eisenhower will have an extra day in Seattle. Hagerty said some activities may be scheduled for it or the President may use the time for working on speeches.

The Civic Auditorium speech will be Oct. 17 from 8:00 to 8:30 PST, over a statewide radio-TV network.

The next day, Oct. 18th, Eisenhower will talk at the Puget Sound College field house—Hagerty said it will not be a "full-fledged speech."

Major Address

He will make a major address from the Portland Civic Auditorium that night over the ABC nationwide TV and radio network, from 7:30 to 8:00 PST.

After the speech, Eisenhower will take off for Washington. He expects to arrive at 8:20 a.m. EDT Oct. 19.

In another elaboration of the President's campaign plans, Hagerty filled in details of Eisenhower's trip to Pittsburgh, Pa., Tuesday.

Further campaign activity in the Pittsburgh area may be added to the schedule. If it is, Eisenhower will leave here earlier Tuesday than he had planned.

Eisenhower's Pittsburgh speech will be delivered from Hunt Armory from 9:00 to 9:30 p.m. EDT over the nationwide radio-TV networks of NBC.

Britain, France Stand Firm While U.S. Keeps Free Hand

SECURITY COUNCIL PREPARES TO OPEN DEBATE ON SUEZ

By PIERRE J. HUSS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (INS) — Britain and France stood squarely on the 18-nation London Conference plan for international control of the Suez Canal Thursday while the United States kept a free hand for Friday's important UN. Security Council sessioin.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles stayed in Washington and gave no hint or indication that on arriving at U.N. headquarters Friday he will be ready or willing to join Britain and France in fully backing a position certain to draw a Soviet veto in the showdown vote.

Dulles has shifted toward the viewpoint that the Security Council could best help alleviate the Middle East tension over the Suez by striving for the establishment of a basis for negotiation between the Western powers and Egypt.

Dulles will fly from Washington to New York Friday morning to make a major speech in the Security Council giving the American position on the issue.

There is growing favor for such an "approach", with the Egyptian and Russian delegations said to be willing to give thought to the possibility of delegating Dag Hammarskjold to be chairman of a committee for conducting private talks between the Egyptians and the Western side.

Dag In Forefront

The U.N. secretary general has kept in the forefront of the U.N. developments by conferring separately with the foreign ministers as they arrived.

But he has not tried to "horn in" on his own accord, pending the airing of viewpoints in the Council and the outcome of secret behind-the-scene talks among the key delegates.

British Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd, aided by French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau and Belgian Foreign Minister Paul Henrispaak, canvassed a number of Council delegates in the hope of gaining support for a resolution which would endorse international control of the waterway.

Lloyd has a ninety -minute speech to the Security Council ready, comprehensively reviewing and expounding Britain's policy in insisting that the canal be again internationalized nad that Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser violated the 1888 Constantinople Convention in nationalizing the waterway.

Lloyd will be the first speaker after the Council has settled the question of whether Israel is to be given a hearing or even is to be invited to the Council table as non-voting participant. He will be followed by Pineau.

The New York Times in a Washington dispatch said some American shipping companies are working on the plan. It said worldwide shipping and oil interests and the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development would be invited to take part.

Benson Alters Plans

'Welcomes Fight'

CHICAGO (INS) — Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson announced Thursday that he has completely rearranged his speaking schedule to lash back at what he called "political enemies" who "want to make me, personally, an issue in this campaign." "I welcome the fight," he said, and "I'm ready and eager to join the battle."

Benson said his schedule change covers the next five weeks and he will use ranch wagons and small planes to meet farmers "where it counts—right at the country crossroads of America."

The secretary said the schedule so far includes visits to 111 farm communities in Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, California, Idaho, Montana, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan in the next three weeks.

Plans for the final two weeks are now being completed.

Without specifically naming Democratic presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson and his running mate, Sen. Estes Kefauver, Benson charged that the "opposition" is "now using every device in the books to stir up ill will" on the farm issues. He added:

"It has looked likely for months that the farm policies of this administration would be grossly distorted for political purposes, especially in the Corn Belt. I am sorry to say it has come to pass . . .I find now that political opponents are trying to make me, personally, an issue in the campaign."

Intensive Nebraska Campaign Announced

Two days of intensive Nebraska campaigning by plane and ranch wagon were announced Thursday by Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson.

The Associated Press reported from Chicago that on Oct. 12, the day that vice presidential candidates Richard Nixon and Estes Kefauver are also in the state, Benson will speak at Beatrice, Hebron, Clay Center, Fairbury, Geneva and Superior.

On Oct. 13, Benson is slated to visit Hastings, Holdrege, Gothenburg, Scottsbluff, Minden, Lexing and North Platte.

NU Dismisses 2 Members Of Banned Group

The University of Nebraska has dismissed two students, because of membership in a "sub rosa" organization, University officials said Thursday.

The students are Veldon Lewis of Fremont and Ronald Speer of Chadron, Dean of Student Affairs J. P. Colbert said.

The students were apprehended by campus police early one morning painting sidewalks and porches on fraternity row, officials said.

The main reason for suspension was not "this act of vandalism," Dean Colbert stated. He said that the pair was using a stencil cut-out of Pi Xi, an "undercover organization which is banned by the Board of Regents because of its secrecy," and affiliation with this group brought about the dismissal.

The students, he said, admitted connection with the organization, which has been active on the Nebraska campus for the past two years.

ESTES KEFAUVER CONTENDS:

'To GOP, $ More Important Than Heart'

LOS ANGELES (INS) — Estes Kefauver stumped through Los Angeles Thursday by helicopter and auto and told thousands of listeners that to the Republicans "the dollar sign is more important than the heart."

The Democratic vice presidential candidate said in a talk prepared for delivery Thursday night that there is "something nostalgic" about Republican claims that Democratic welfare proposals "will bankrupt the country."

The GOP used the same pitch, Kefauver said, when proposals first were made for the income tax law, and for enactment and subsequent broadening of Social Security.

Kefauver declared:

"The Republicans have been against all improvements. They were against resource development. They have been against the development of the great multi-purpose dams, ever since they proposed the sale of Muscle Shoals to Henry Ford, after which the Democrats under the leadership of Franklin D. Roosevelt had the imagination to make of Muscle Shoals the first step in the Tennessee Valley Authority."

He said that "Democrats are concerned with costs, too," but that "in our system of keeping accounts, we Democrats list human beings as the prime asset of this country."

Contending that "the Republicans, as they always have, are trying to turn back the clock," Kefauver also asserted: "They may have succeeded for a moment in history in deterrring and diverting the tide of progress which is our nation's finest tradition — but not for long."

Earlier, Kefauver said in a street rally in the Los Angeles garment district that President Eisenhower's 1952 "crusade" had "bogged down in a morass of deals and favoritism."

He told his "labor audience" to choose between him and Vice President Richard M. Nixon, his campaign rival, whom he described as having a "consistent anti - labor voting record."

Answering former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's coast-to-coast radio and television attack on Democratic presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson, Kefauver said Dewey apparently had been chosen by the GOP high command "to take the low road" in the Republican campaign.

Kefauver told a news conference here:

"I suspect the reason Dewey is indulging in that kind of tactic is that Mr. Stevenson has been making real headway in this campaign."

Britain, France Stand Firm While U.S. Keeps Free Hand

SECURITY COUNCIL PREPARES TO OPEN DEBATE ON SUEZ

By PIERRE J. HUSS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (INS) — Britain and France stood squarely on the 18-nation London Conference plan for international control of the Suez Canal Thursday while the United States kept a free hand for Friday's important UN. Security Council sessioin.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles stayed in Washington and gave no hint or indication that on arriving at U.N. headquarters Friday he will be ready or willing to join Britain and France in fully backing a position certain to draw a Soviet veto in the showdown vote.

Dulles has shifted toward the viewpoint that the Security Council could best help alleviate the Middle East tension over the Suez by striving for the establishment of a basis for negotiation between the Western powers and Egypt.

Dulles will fly from Washington to New York Friday morning to make a major speech in the Security Council giving the American position on the issue.

There is growing favor for such an "approach", with the Egyptian and Russian delegations said to be willing to give thought to the possibility of delegating Dag Hammarskjold to be chairman of a committee for conducting private talks between the Egyptians and the Western side.

Dag In Forefront

The U.N. secretary general has kept in the forefront of the U.N. developments by conferring separately with the foreign ministers as they arrived.

But he has not tried to "horn in" on his own accord, pending the airing of viewpoints in the Council and the outcome of secret behind-the-scene talks among the key delegates.

British Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd, aided by French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau and Belgian Foreign Minister Paul Henrispaak, canvassed a number of Council delegates in the hope of gaining support for a resolution which would endorse international control of the waterway.

Lloyd has a ninety -minute speech to the Security Council ready, comprehensively reviewing and expounding Britain's policy in insisting that the canal be again internationalized nad that Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser violated the 1888 Constantinople Convention in nationalizing the waterway.

Lloyd will be the first speaker after the Council has settled the question of whether Israel is to be given a hearing or even is to be invited to the Council table as non-voting participant. He will be followed by Pineau.

State Dept. Has No Word On New Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — A spokesman said Thursday the State Department had no information on a reported plan of American shipping and oil interests to help Egypt develop and expand the Suez Canal.

Press officer Lincoln White said, "We have no information on that —I've checked all over the lot and I can find no one who knows anything about it."

The New York Times in a Washington dispatch said some American shipping companies are working on the plan. It said world-wide shipping and oil interests and the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development would be invited to take part.

Joseph Kelly, 57, Accountant, Found Dead At Home

Joseph T. Kelly, 57, an accountant for Sullivan Transfer Co., was found dead Thursday at his home, 313 So. 54th.

The death was ruled a suicide from a .410 shotgun wound by Lancaster County Deputy Sheriff Del Zieman, acting coroner.

Zieman said Mr. Kelly's body was found in the basement by his family upon rising Thursday morning. Indications were Mr. Kelly had been despondent over his health, Zieman said.

Born in Exeter, Mr. Kelly had lived in Lincoln for 35 years, was a member of St. Teresa's parish and Elks Lodge 80, and had attended the University of Nebraska.

Surviving are his wife, Anne; daughters, Mrs. David Major of Eagle Grove, Ia., Kathleen L., of Lincoln; and Mary Jean at home; mother, Mrs. Thomas Kelly of San Anselmo, Calif.; sisters, Mrs. Cecilia Pinney, Margaret Kelly and Agnes Kelly, all of San Anselmo, Calif., and Mrs. Karl Meyer of Santa Rosa, Calif.; and one grandson.

Funeral services will be Monday, 10 a.m., at St. Teresa's Catholic Church. Rosary will be recited 8 p.m. Sunday at Hodgman-Splain.

Benson Alters Plans

'Welcomes Fight'

CHICAGO (INS) — Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson announced Thursday that he has completely rearranged his speaking schedule to lash back at what he called "political enemies" who "want to make me, personally, an issue in this campaign." "I welcome the fight," he said, and "I'm ready and eager to join the battle."

Benson said his schedule change covers the next five weeks and he will use ranch wagons and small planes to meet farmers "where it counts—right at the country crossroads of America."

The secretary said the schedule so far includes visits to 111 farm communities in Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, California, Idaho, Montana, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan in the next three weeks.

Plans for the final two weeks are now being completed.

Without specifically naming Democratic presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson and his running mate, Sen. Estes Kefauver, Benson charged that the "opposition" is "now using every device in the books to stir up ill will" on the farm issues. He added:

"It has looked likely for months that the farm policies of this administration would be grossly distorted for political purposes, especially in the Corn Belt. I am sorry to say it has come to pass . . . I find now that political opponents are trying to make me, personally, an issue in the campaign."

Intensive Nebraska Campaign Announced

Two days of intensive Nebraska campaigning by plane and ranch wagon were announced Thursday by Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson.

The Associated Press reported from Chicago that on Oct. 12, the day that vice presidential candidates Richard Nixon and Estes Kefauver are also in the state, Benson will speak at Beatrice, Hebron, Clay Center, Fairbury, Geneva and Superior.

On Oct. 13, Benson is slated to visit Hastings, Holdrege, Gothenburg, Scottsbluff, Minden, Lexing and North Platte.

NU Dismisses 2 Members Of Banned Group

The University of Nebraska has dismissed two students, because of membership in a "sub rosa" organization, University officials said Thursday.

The students are Veldon Lewis of Fremont and Ronald Speer of Chadron, Dean of Student Affairs J. P. Colbert said.

The students were apprehended by campus police early one morning painting sidewalks and porches on fraternity row, officials said.

The main reason for suspension was not "this act of vandalism," Dean Colbert stated. He said that the pair was using a stencil cut-out of Pi Xi, an "undercover organization which is banned by the Board of Regents because of its secrecy," and affiliation with this group brought about the dismissal.

The students, he said, admitted connection with the organization, which has been active on the Nebraska campus for the past two years.

Shooting Victim's Condition 'Poor'

Mrs. Lillian M. Suckstorf of 2629 No. 48th was listed in poor condition Thursday at a local hospital.

Mrs. Suckstorf, 39, was shot five times at a downtown bar Monday noon. Roger Vigil, 29, also of 2629 No. 48th, has admitted the shooting and has been bound over to Lancaster County District Court after pleading guilty to a charge of shooting her with intent to kill, wound or maim.

ESTES KEFAUVER CONTENDS:

'To GOP, $ More Important Than Heart'

LOS ANGELES (INS) — Estes Kefauver stumped through Los Angeles Thursday by helicopter and auto and told thousands of listeners that to the Republicans "the dollar sign is more important than the heart."

The Democratic vice presidential candidate said in a talk prepared for delivery Thursday night that there is "something nostalgic" about Republican claims that Democratic welfare proposals "will bankrupt the country."

The GOP used the same pitch, Kefauver said, when proposals first were made for the income tax law, and for enactment and subsequent broadening of Social Security.

Kefauver declared:

"The Republicans have been against all improvements. They were against resource development. They have been against the development of the great multi-purpose dams, ever since they proposed the sale of Muscle Shoals to Henry Ford, after which the Democrats under the leadership of Franklin D. Roosevelt had the imagination to make of Muscle Shoals the first step in the Tennessee Valley Authority."

He said that "Democrats are concerned with costs, too," but that "in our system of keeping accounts, we Democrats list human beings as the prime asset of this country."

Contending that "the Republicans, as they always have, are trying to turn back the clock," Kefauver also asserted: "They may have succeeded for a moment in history in deterrring and diverting the tide of progress which is our nation's finest tradition — but not for long."

Earlier, Kefauver said in a street rally in the Los Angeles garment district that President Eisenhower's 1952 "crusade" had "bogged down in a morass of deals and favoritism."

He told his "labor audience" to choose between him and Vice President Richard M. Nixon, his campaign rival, whom he described as having a "consistent anti - labor voting record."

Answering former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's coast-to-coast radio and television attack on Democratic presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson, Kefauver said Dewey apparently had been chosen by the GOP high command "to take the low road" in the Republican campaign.

Kefauver told a news conference here:

"I suspect the reason Dewey is indulging in that kind of tactic is that Mr. Stevenson has been making real headway in this campaign."

5 Israelis Killed As Armistice Group 'Condemns' Israel

Mixed Truce Commission Cites Attack

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP) — Israel announced five Israelis were killed and one wounded Thursday in a desert ambush attack on two cars.

The same day, the U.N.-supervised Israel-Jordan Mixed Armistice Commission condemned Israel for an attack a week ago on a police post, in which Jordan said 39 Jordanians were killed.

The ambushed cars were carrying workers home from a potash plant at Sodom. They were on a desert road leading from the south end of the Dead Sea to Beersheba in the Negeb.

First reports of the incident did not identify the attackers. Sodom is 2½ miles from the Jordan-Israel border.

But officials here said the attack took place about nine miles inside the border

Followed Reprisal

The desert road ambush came just over a week after Israel made a deliberately planned attack into Jordan in reprisal for Jordan attacks on Israelis. Israel announced at that time that the attack was aimed to warn Jordan against making any future attacks on Israel

Israel was absent when the U N supervised Israel-Jordan Mixed Armistice Commission condemned Israel for the Sept 25-26 attack on the Hussan-Sharafa police post. Jordan reported 39 Jordanians were killed in the seven-hour overnight battle.

Lt. Col. Christian Moe of Norway, the U. N. truce supervisor chairman of the commission, voted with Jordan to condemn Israel for threatening peace on the demarcation line,

Boycott

Israel announced the day before that it would boycott meetings of the Mixed Armistice Commission and refuse to take active part in investigating border incidents. An Israeli Foreign Ministry spokesman said this decision was made because of "steady attempts by the U. N. truce supervision organization to equalize acts of Jordan aggression with Israeli measures of self-defense."

At the time of the Sept. 25-26 raid into Jordan, Israel said 36 Israelis had been killed and 51 wounded in border incidents in the preceding six months. On Sunday, Sept. 23, four members of an archaeological outing in Israel were killed and 18 wounded by firing from Jordan, and two Israeli workers were shot down in the next two days.

'Decision Day'

DENVER (AP)—Colorado's governor, Democrat Ed C. Johnson, joined in a get-out-the-vote drive Oct. 13 in connection with President Eisenhower's birthday, but he proclaimed the occasion "Decision to Vote Day" rather than "Ike Day" as national sponsors suggested.

ATTORNEYS PROPOSE STATEWIDE PROBATION SYSTEM BILL REVIVAL

A committee of Nebraska attorneys recommended Thursday that a bill calling for a statewide probation system, which died in the last Legislature, should be revived at the next Unicameral session

The measure, LB 210, was killed in committee

The report by a State Bar Association committee on crime and delinquency prevention has been prepared for presentation to the state association at its annual meeting in Omaha Oct. 18-19.

The committee said it believes that the system of probation proposed by LB 210 "is practical and workable."

"The committee has determined that among bench and bar there is a quite uniform feeling that some system of probation will be a greatly needed forward step in the field of crime and delinquency prevention," the report added.

Touching on sex offenses, the committee said it believes "that the existing laws are adquate to deal with sex offenders and deviates, and that the existing problems, if any, are primarily local problems of law enforcement."

James F. Brogan of Madison heads the committee.

In another report, the committee on judiciary headed by Robert H. Beatty of North Platte said the supreme and district courts of the state have been "greatly strengthened and made more secure" by the fact the Nebraska Supreme Court has upheld the constitutionality of the judges' retirement act passed by the last Legislature.

The committee also renewed a recommendation that the selection of judges be taken out of politics.

Wymore Legion Votes Purchase Of New Building

Lincoln Star Special

WYMORE, Neb.—Members of the Wymore American Legion have voted to purchase for $8,500 the Ed McClure building on the town's main street for the purpose of eventually having a Community Building.

Under the plan proposed, the Legion will buy the building and the city will be asked to provide funds to hire an architect and engineers for the purpose of estimating cost of renovating and converting it to a community hall.

Wymore citizens would then have the privilege of voting on whether to buy the building from the Legion for the price the Legion paid for it and converting it to a Community Hall. Other than the high school auditorium, which is inadequate, the town has no public meeting place.

No Clarity

LONGVIEW, Tex. (AP)—There were more Moores in Longview's District Court than is recommended for legal clarity.

The divorce suit of Boxie James Moore of Longview against Effie Mae Moore of Philadelphia was called to trial by Judge David C. Moore.

One of the jurors was M E. Moore

Beatrice Church Rejects All Bids

Lincoln Star Special

BEATRICE, Neb.—Because a contractor overlooked a $10,000 item in submitting his bid, the First Presbyterian Church trustees and building committee have rejected all bids and issued a call for new bids on a new church building.

The Krumme Construction Co. of Falls City was low bidder at $229,397 on the general contract for the church building from among nine bidders. Krumme was more than $25,000 under the next lowest bidder.

A representative of the firm asked that he be allowed to withdraw the bid after discovering that a $10,000 item had been overlooked in the addition of figures.

The church officials decided then to call for new bids on the general contract and to hold bids on mechanical and electrical contracts until the general contract is decided. Letting date is now Oct. 17 a 2 p.m.

Rock 'N' Roll Draws Soviet Criticism

MOSCOW (AP) — The newspaper Soviet Culture said Thursday the rock 'n' roll craze in the United States has the same effect on American youth as a tarantula's bite.

The organ of the Soviet Ministry of Culture took heavy slaps at U.S. "businessmen who are making money" from the craze, the performances of Elvis Presley, "which are always accompanied by wild scenes, brawls and fighting," and distribution of a film based on rock 'n' roll.

5 Israelis Killed As Armistice Group 'Condemns' Israel

Mixed Truce Commission Cites Attack

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP) — Israel announced five Israelis were killed and one wounded Thursday in a desert ambush attack on two cars.

The same day, the U.N.-supervised Israel-Jordan Mixed Armistice Commission condemned Israel for an attack a week ago on a police post, in which Jordan said 39 Jordanians were killed.

The ambushed cars were carrying workers home from a potash plant at Sodom. They were on a desert road leading from the south end of the Dead Sea to Beersheba in the Negeb.

First reports of the incident did not identify the attackers. Sodom is 2½ miles from the Jordan-Israel border.

But officials here said the attack took place about nine miles inside the border.

Followed Reprisal

The desert road ambush came just over a week after Israel made a deliberately planned attack into Jordan in reprisal for Jordan attacks on Israelis. Israel announced at that time that the attack was aimed to warn Jordan against making any future attacks on Israel.

Israel was absent when the U. N. supervised Israel-Jordan Mixed Armistice Commission condemned Israel for the Sept. 25-26 attack on the Hussan-Sharafa police post. Jordan reported 39 Jordanians were killed in the seven-hour overnight battle.

Lt. Col. Christian Moe of Norway, the U. N. truce supervisor chairman of the commission, voted with Jordan to condemn Israel for threatening peace on the demarcation line.

Boycott

Israel announced the day before that it would boycott meetings of the Mixed Armistice Commission and refuse to take active part in investigating border incidents. An Israeli Foreign Ministry spokesman said this decision was made because of "steady attempts by the U. N. truce supervision organization to equalize acts of Jordan aggression with Israeli measures of self-defense."

At the time of the Sept. 25-26 raid into Jordan, Israel said 36 Israelis had been killed and 51 wounded in border incidents in the preceding six months. On Sunday, Sept. 23, four members of an archaeological outing in Israel were killed and 18 wounded by firing from Jordan, and two Israeli workers were shot down in the next two days.

'Decision Day'

DENVER (AP)—Colorado's governor, Democrat Ed C. Johnson, joined in a get-out-the-vote drive Oct. 13 in connection with President Eisenhower's birthday, but he proclaimed the occasion "Decision to Vote Day" rather than "Ike Day" as national sponsors suggested.

ATTORNEYS PROPOSE STATEWIDE PROBATION SYSTEM BILL REVIVAL

A committee of Nebraska attorneys recommended Thursday that a bill calling for a statewide probation system, which died in the last Legislature, should be revived at the next Unicameral session.

The measure, LB 210, was killed in committee.

The report by a State Bar Association committee on crime and delinquency prevention has been prepared for presentation to the state association at its annual meeting in Omaha Oct. 18-19.

The committee said it believes that the system of probation proposed by LB 210 "is practical and workable."

"The committee has determined that among bench and bar there is a quite uniform feeling that some system of probation will be a greatly needed forward step in the field of crime and delinquency prevention," the report added.

Touching on sex offenses, the committee said it believes "that the existing laws are adquate to deal with sex offenders and deviates, and that the existing problems, if any, are primarily local problems of law enforcement."

James F. Brogan of Madison heads the committee.

In another report, the committee on judiciary headed by Robert H. Beatty of North Platte said the supreme and district courts of the state have been "greatly strengthened and made more secure" by the fact the Nebraska Supreme Court has upheld the constitutionality of the judges' retirement act passed by the last Legislature.

The committee also renewed a recommendation that the selection of judges be taken out of politics.

Wymore Legion Votes Purchase Of New Building

Lincoln Star Special

WYMORE, Neb.—Members of the Wymore American Legion have voted to purchase for $8,500 the Ed McClure building on the town's main street for the purpose of eventually having a Community Building.

Under the plan proposed, the Legion will buy the building and the city will be asked to provide funds to hire an architect and engineers for the purpose of estimating cost of renovating and converting it to a community hall.

Wymore citizens would then have the privilege of voting on whether to buy the building from the Legion for the price the Legion paid for it and converting it to a Community Hall. Other than the high school auditorium, which is inadequate, the town has no public meeting place.

Bar Association's Suggestion

The Nebraska Bar Association is to be credited with a solid service to Nebraska education in its recommendation that competitive debating be restored as a school activity.

The association pointed out that through information gained and divulged the general citizenship is improved. The association also noted that more training in debate will make better lawyers. We might add that more practice in referring to sources, more skill in organizing subjects and more training in expressiveness would help everyone whether lawyers or not.

Indeed, the first requisite of debate is to get the facts, to go to reliable sources. And the prime requisite of successful citizenship in this democratic and complicated age is to think from facts and decide after the careful weighing of them. If America is to lose its course it will not for lack of bright and well equipped school rooms or for the lack of techniques, but it will come by easy descent into the acceptance of plausibilities and well expressed misinformation. It is a day of varied and effective communication and of keen competition for the possession of the other man's mind. It can easily become the day when it is not what is said, but who said it and how. There is the struggle, for those who are willing to struggle, of who is to possess and direct the thoughts of the individual—the owner of the mind or the coveter of it. The only true weapon of defense within the reach of the owner is a tenacious devotion to the fact, plus the training to find and manage it.

If there is anything to be added to the bar association's excellent proposal it is that it was not extensive enough. It called for competitive debate. It could have called for a requirement that no one should be graduated until the principles and practices of debate were well possessed.

Reaching For More Power

In appearing before the Lincoln Charter Revision Committee, Dave Erickson, in charge of the city's water and light departments, voiced this highly significant opinion:

"As Lincoln continues to grow, it will again need to expand its water supply and build additional large feeder mains, reservoirs, pumping stations, etc. When that need arises, much time and probably some expense will be saved if the governing body of the utility has power to issue the utility revenue bonds that may be required to finance the needed improvements. One forceful example of rapid planning and construction to meet a sudden unanticipated water expansion program is that of a private water company operating in the suburbs of a large midwestern city. In 1954 this company planned and constructed a $5 million water expansion program within the period of one year. This program included the construction of 36-million-gallons-per-day water treatment plant, new pumping station, and several large water feeder mains. Under Lincoln's present city charter, such a speedy solution to water needs could not be accomplished."

Mr. Erickson, of course, is not suggesting that Lincoln's municipal water system should go back into private hands. After years of supervision of it, he would be the last man in the world, we surmise, to suggest that the solution of Lincoln's troubles in connection with an adequate water supply at all times is private ownership and operation. What he was proposing to the charter committee was additional authority in the hands of whoever is in charge of Lincoln's water plant to issue revenue bonds in undetermined amounts to finance needed improvements without a vote of the people. The time may come when the people of Lincoln are willing to confer authority on whoever may be in charge of the municipal water plant but we doubt it.

Could be that Mr. Erickson in the paragraphs to which attention has been called was presenting an adroit reply to the criticism of former Mayor Clark Jeary over the delay in planning for a water system expansion program. We can't recall that Mr. Erickson pounded any tables in seeking to direct public attention to the needed expansion program. That expansion program was the product of an advisory committee composed of well-known Lincoln citizens.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

The Milwaukee Journal notes that Milwaukee had the driest September in 65 years. It was on the fair road to transforming that dubious distinction to the driest September in its long and honorable history, only to experience a rain on the next to the last day of the month which deposited less than a quarter of an inch of moisture but still enough to exceed the .19 of an inch of rain that fell in September of 1891. We were about to suggest that Nebraskans could feel sorry for themselves over the continuance of dry weather when, in checking the exchanges, we find that drought is common to most of the regions of the West and Midwest.

Some Old Saws Fall

Early in Nebraska's history and bobbing up again since then was the notion that water attracts water. The lakes and the forests lining their banks were assurance, we were told, of timely well-spaced rains. Milwaukee on the shores of one of the largest fresh-water lakes on the North American continent found out differently in September. About the only conclusion that we can reach is that we simply do not live right out this way. The only area that has had more rains than it needed is the region roughly embraced in the New England and North Atlantic states, where they could have gotten along on occasions throughout the summer and early fall with less moisture. The rest of the country was below normal in rainfall.

★

Science announces the discovery of a tree or a number of pines, rather, dating back more than 4,000 years—a pine tree older than the oldest giant redwood—a tree which flourished as many years before the dawn of the Christian century as have elapsed since the birth and life of Christ. Scarcely a decade passes now without discovery revealing that this western world reaches back into antiquity no less than some of those regions which have been credited with being the birthplace of civilization.

Have A Look At Record

Has Adlai Stevenson violated political protocol by his attacks upon President Eisenhower? One of the strange things about this campaign is that Mr. Eisenhower, in the thinking of many of his most devoted friends, is not fair game for criticism, and is above and beyond it. When the day arrives that any occupant of the White House can impose upon the notoriously short memories of the American people, then we are in a bad way. The St. Louis Post-Dispatch is the latest to refer to President Eisenhower's unfortunate reference in a speech in Kentucky, seeking to blame the Democrats for failure of the federal school aid bill. The real test came, the Post-Dispatch insists, when the Powell amendment was offered. That rider was a provision to withhold federal school aid from any state failing to "comply with the decisions of the Supreme Court." An advance count, the Post-Dispatch added, showed that the Democrats in the House would vote against the Powell amendment by approximately two to one. All that was needed was reasonable Republican party support of the White House's asserted position against the amendment, support which a strong appeal by the President to his party could have insured. No such appeal came from Mr. Eisenhower or from the White House staff, nor from Republican Floor Leader Martin or any other Republican House member. The result was the 148 Republicans were registered as favoring the Powell amendment and only 46 against, crippling though it was and in flat conflict with what the President said represented his position. The Democrats voted on the Powell amendment, 77 for and 146 against, the opposition primarily among southern representatives. In short, the Post-Dispatch points out that the Republican members of the House by a vote of three to one supported an amendment in conflict with the President's views, while the Democrats by a vote of two to one took the President's position on the Powell amendment. Then using a pretext that they did not approve the formula for distributing the funds, the Republicans turned around in the House and voted against the bill on final passage, 119 to 75, with the Democrats supporting the bill on final passage 119 to 105.

★

It is difficult to believe that the President deliberately misrepresented and distorted the record. His error undoubtedly is to be charged to one of his team. But error it is and as an error, on a matter as important as education, it should be corrected in the public mind.

Relief For Whom?

The federal government, according to Agriculture Secretary Benson, is preparing to go into the market with a $10 million lard buying program to support the price of hogs.

That calls for a good deal of spelling out in terms of real benefit to Nebraska pork producers. Lard has had a declining market for a number of years and most producers have specialized in the leaner type of hogs. A federal aid program, if it is to have broad effect, it would seem, should be aimed at the greatest point of trouble.

It is expected that in a region where drought has cut the supply of grain an early and heavy run of hog sales is forecast. Some repetition of last year's heavy sales appears in store.

It is to be recalled at that time that Secretary Benson, armed with $85 million, announced a pork buying program to relieve the beleaguered producers. But hog prices continued to decline while his department loaded up on processed pork. If he meant relief for the producer he misfired. There was virtually no drop in consumer pork prices nor glutting of the market as the government piped off the extra production. In the end the tax payers were stuck for many millions, and neither the producer nor the consumer experienced any substantial relief.

Mr. Benson's much smaller lard buying program can well work out the same way unless he makes provision for price floors at the hog market, a thing he did not do last year. This time there should be no celebration out on the farms until it is determined for sure just who it is that Benson is going to relieve.

Soil Bank Deadline

The Department of Agriculture has announced that 4,335,555 acres had been placed under soil bank agreement by September 28. Of these Nebraska signed 10,800 agreements accounting for 253,527 acres which will be eligible for a maximum compensation of $5,919,909.

Those are not final figures. The deadline for the 1957 wheat crop is today. Declining crop prospects indicate that Nebraska will give the soil bank program maximum patronage.

While the program was conceived as a means to reduce national food surpluses, compensating the farmer in part for refraining from planting a substantial portion of his acres it cannot be gainsaid that thus far, especially in the drought-ridden Midwest, a true test of the efficacy of the program is still at least one winter away. It continues to function more as a crop insurance program.

Choice Between Ike And Democrat Party

ABOARD STEVENSON TRAIN, Pittsburgh, Pa. — President Eisenhower is running for re-election against the Democratic party.

This is the central fact of the 1956 campaign as it enters the crowded and crucial weeks which will determine the outcome November 6. It is the key to present developments.

That the President is vastly stronger than his party is by now a cliche Republicans themselves have driven home by behavior which at times approached the hysterical and was often hardly self-respecting.

At the same time, the Democrats since 1953 have shown one of the great surges of vitality which have marked their often-stormy century as a national party. It is again a cliche to recall that since 1952 they have scarcely lost an election from the courthouses to the Congress and have taken nine governorships from the Republicans.

When Adlai Stevenson won renomination at Chicago he was riding a crest of Democratic strength which, far from ebbing, has recently reached new heights from Maine to the state of Washington. It was a new departure for him.

He ran for governor of Illinois in 1948 as a superior kind of Democrat. The state party had come to him, a political novice, and was repaid with his smashing triumph. Largely on the basis of that triumph and on his record at Springfield, the national party made him the reluctant object of one of the rare genuine drafts of politics.

Again Stevenson ran as an individual as well as the party nominee. He set up his headquarters in Springfield, well away from Washington, which was identified with Harry S. Truman, and from the big cities which are the core of Democratic strength outside of the South. He drew largely upon personal friends for his staff.

Circumstances helped create these situations. In 1948 the Chicago Democratic machine needed what the trade calls window dressing. In 1952, the national Democratic party, 20 years in power, was deeply disaffected and suffering from accumulated liabilities ranging from Korea to the tax scandals.

The entirely different picture today is being verified by all political soundings. Stevenson still has his personal following, devoted, admiring and perhaps very large. But the Democratic party, with its bright new faces in so many places, is the image which appears in sharp outline as the formidable counterforce to President Eisenhower.

'Press Conference' Planned For Ike

WASHINGTON — The Madison Avenue boys who are masterminding much of Ike's campaign were surprised the other day when they put up to him the idea of answering questions at a so-called "People's Press Conference" on television.

The idea of the "People's Press Conference" was hatched by Young and Rubicam. They are bringing a cross-section of people in from various parts of the U.S.A. to meet with the President to ask him questions ranging from war and peace to the high cost of living. But the Y and R experts figured the President would not want to answer too many questions.

Much to their surprise, they found he liked the idea, said he didn't want to put any limit on the type of questions asked.

The members of the "People's Press Conference" group will be handpicked. They will be friendly to the President. But nothing is barred when they pop their questions.

NOT SO SILENT STEVENSON

Adlai Stevenson was touring St. Louis. The crowds had been tumultuous, the best he had had. As enthusiastic crowd is good for the ego and Adlai found the high spirits contagious.

Beside him as he drove through packed streets was Sen. Tom Hennings of Missouri, who is running for re-election. On one building, Hennings spied a sign. It read: "The St. Louis Silent Club."

"Adlai," said Hennings, "wouldn't you and I like to join that club!"

Stevenson grinned.

"Maybe last election," he said. "I was a rank amateur then. But this time I'm learning."

MARQUIS CHILDS

Adlai Must Go The Longer Way

EN ROUTE WITH STEVENSON —It can hardly be called optimism since most of the managers of the Stevenson campaign have been through this frantic mill before, but they do feel now that they have brought President Eisenhower down from his lofty pedestal to engage in the rough give-and-take of a political contest.

They have seized on one sentence in President Eisenhower's Lexington, Ky., speech in which he said that the issue of the campaign was "which party in these recent years has done more to help all citizens meet the problems of their daily lives."

Stevenson started out at once to make the claim for his party and it is on this line that the balance of the campaign will be fought if those closest to him have their way.

This is a clear recognition in other words that it is a contest not so much between President Eisenhower and Stevenson as between Eisenhower and the Democratic party. On that premise, with the Democratic organization burgeoning in state after state, the Stevenson managers base their confidence.

The Stevenson strategists realized in planning the campaign that their man would have to work at least 10 times as hard as the Republican candidate to make a dent. They were convinced, however, that if they keep Stevenson continually out in the country, they could make the headlines and stay in the public eye in contrast to President Eisenhower, who had announced that he would make only five or six television talks.

What the Democratic candidate must do by wearing out shoe leather and using lung power the Republican candidate, by virtue of holding the office of the presidency, gets almost effortlessly. The odds have been historically against the challenger, which may be the principal reason why only four incumbent presidents have been defeated during the past century.

While most commentators pointed out the political implications of naming a Democrat and a Catholic to the vacancy, the President could say that he was merely performing one of the duties of his office.

He will make an appeal for the United Community Funds and Councils of America, a traditional gesture from the White House. He will make this not as a political broadcast on Ed Sullivan's Sunday night show, which has a very high audience rating. Again it is a duty, but it will show the President to millions of Americans in his most congenial and agreeable role.

Stevenson must by contrast hammer hard at what he believes to be the payoff issues. In his first swing which took him into a number of farm states he hit hardest on the farm issue.

This was not so much with the hope of carrying those states, since the Eisenhower margin of victory there was up to 16 per cent four years ago. The object is to win away a small percentage of the farm vote in such states as Pennsylvania, New York, Ohio and Massachusetts where the rural districts are solidly Republican.

New York, for example, is the second largest farming state in the union and a three per cent switch in upstate New York would, according to Stevenson's strategists, put that state in the Democratic column.

WHAT YOUNG PEOPLE THINK

Is Big Business All-Powerful?

By EUGENE GILBERT
President of the Gilbert Youth Research Co.

"Big businesses run everything in America — they have all the money." This reaction of a 16-year-old high school girl in Tucson, Ariz., sums up the attitude of many of our young people toward big business.

Our organization queried 1,923 youngsters of high school age in 42 cities through the country to find not only their opinions but also their knowledge of the major industries of our country.

One question asked was: "Tell me everything that comes to your mind when you hear the words 'big business'."

Nearly 31 per cent of those interviewed thought of big business in a negative sense, as sort of a giant monopoly spread across all America. They feared the future will see all free enterprise swallowed up in one or two gigantic trusts.

The consensus was that within the next decade and a half there will be one or two large companies representing each individual industry.

All this sounds more like an account in a Russian newspaper than a report about American secondary school students. However, these are their reactions. The lack of information among teen agers about some of our major industries comes at a time when companies are spending more and more money on school materials and educational literature such as films, books, displays and charts. Some of these corporations have entire divisions set up for the development of aids to promote better understanding among school children of their products and services.

But somehow or other the free enterprise message is not getting across. The school boys of today will have many misconceptions to unlearn if they are to grow up to be the industrial leaders of the 1980's.

And it would seem a wise procedure for more industries to re-examine the ways of getting facts across to teen-agers and to plan educational programs that will illustrate the factual story of American industry.

For instance, in another study of 5,402 young people, our organization found that one out of three teen-agers thinks that electric and telephone companies make between 25 and 49 cents on every dollar of income, and one out of 10 thinks they make 50 cents or more. Furthermore, practically 40 per cent of these young people think that oil companies make over 30 cents per dollar, and one out of 9 thinks they make more than 50 cents or more.

As an example of how these opinions stack up against industry figures, the Consolidated Edison Co., a huge utility serving the New York metropolitan area, reports 10.6 cents of each revenue dollar represents profit after taxes.

Similarly, the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. reports that its Bell System, which operates 48 million of the nation's 58 million telephones, gets about 12 cents of each revenue dollar after taxes.

Standard Oil of New Jersey, which engages in all activities of the petroleum industry in many parts of the world says its profits have been averaging 10 and 11 cents of the revenue dollar for several years after taxes.

From these figures and the comments of teen-agers on the nature of big business, it is obvious that youth has no conception of American industry and knows even less about the nature of stockholders. This is aptly illustrated by the fact that only 19 per cent of the youngsters interviewed could even vaguely define the term "common stock." Few had any idea how many stockholders own shares in a large company, thereby missing a vital element in their insistence that "America is run by big business."

Nevertheless, or perhaps because of these beliefs, only one out of eight young men in high school expects or has any desire to go into business for himself. The majority hope to find security and success in positions with important national companies.

The "reach for the sky" dream of American youth seems to have suffered a setback in the period since the end of World War II. Young men would rather put their trust in management of large concerns than set out on their own.

To combat this, businessmen in many major cities have banded together to give aspiring young people of high school age a chance to see the system of free enterprise at work. In Junior Achievement organizations, a teen-ager can get capitalization, advice and instruction in the formation and operation of his own small company.

Further industrial efforts must be made to dispel misconceptions which persist to a startling degree in our young people. There is a lot of ground to cover. Industry must develop some means of replacing any incorrect interpretations with facts about their operations and financing.

School Aid Bill

Big Springs, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: It appears that Ike has taken to using "facts" concocted by the methods of Tricky Dickie, whom the last-ditch reactionaries hope to make heir-apparent to the presidency after November 6.

Eisenhower, according to news reports, in an attempt to blame the Democrats for the failure of the House of Representatives to pass the school aid bill, said that the Democrats voted 215-9 against the school program, while three-fourths of the House Republicans voted for it. What are the facts?

The facts are that out of 224 Democrats voting on the bill, a majority of 119 voted for passage, while out of 194 Republicans only 75 voted for passage.

Was it the consciousness of his lack of leadership that led Ike to distort the facts? Or has he too become imbued by the philosophy of Alexander Hamilton, the god of reactionary politics, which holds that either force or corruption is absolutely necessary to govern men, because the people are a big beast?

Western Mistakes

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The West and only the West is to be blamed for encouraging Russia to gain prestige in the Arab world. I say this with first-hand experience. I am an Arab student from Syria, respect the U.S. deeply, but dislike seeing it lose prestige and getting into trouble with my original home for the selfish interest of Zionist pressure groups who seek for "Israel's" interests before and above the interest of the U.S.

Russia is and always will be capitalizing on the mistakes of the West. These mistakes are foreign to the policy of the U.S.—they are Zionist, French, and British colonial interests—and could have been avoided if American interests were considered.

The first calculated mistake was that of Mr. Truman. To win the White House he blindly promised the wealthy Zionist groups that he would support and force other countries in the U.N. to accept the partition of Palestine to create a Zionist state. This was supposed to solve the problem of the "persecuted" Jews of Europe, but instead of solving a problem, created a graver one. A million Arab refugees—Christians and Moslems—were driven from their homes in the worst way any human beings have ever suffered.

The second mistake was the U.S. support of France's barbaric policy in Algiers against the Arab demand for freedom and self-rule. Here again the West helped Russia to gain prestige. All Russia needed to do was to denounce the military aggression of France and the assistance of the U.S.

The third western mistake is the idea of forcing "internationalization" of the Suez Canal. Would the U.S. agree to do the same for the Panama Canal? Turkey for the Dardanelles? And would England agree to internationalize the Straits of Gibraltar and that of Aden? Certainly not, because Russia being one of the big powers would have a foothold, then, in all those strategic areas. Then why should Egypt accept? The U.S. is interested in having the canal open and operated efficiently. This Egypt has promised and proven. My hope is not to see the U.S. dragged into a world war for the selfish colonial interests of France and England.

FIÇRAT BASHA

Equal Blame

Nebraska City, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I was Democratic committeeman in Rockford Township, Gage County, Nebraska, during the Bryan and Wilson times. I was instructed to tell the voters that Wilson kept us out of war. The Republican candidate for President at that time, Hughes, was for war. The women's vote in California decided the election in favor of Wilson. After the election Wilson took us into war. I have never forgiven myself for having any part in that election.

Before World War II for three years while I was living in Texas, trainloads of scrap iron were going to Japan. Roosevelt was prevailed upon to put a stop to it, but he heeded not. Hitler was taking out rivers of oil at the same time. Protest after protest was sent to Roosevelt, to no avail. The first great mistake was made when Republican McKinley took us into the Orient during the Spanish-American War for the benefit of American importers who wanted to get their products into our nation duty free.

Both Democrats and Republicans are about equally to blame for world conditions today. Neither party has the right to promise peace to the voters at this time with world conditions as they are today. Our enemies must get encouragement from the peace promises made to gain votes.

Suez Situation

Geneva, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Sen. Hruska spoke the other evening in Omaha and said we might get into a small war in the Suez, but under Ike's leadership it would not last long.

Now, what Sen. Hruska didn't say was that Dulles' and Eisenhower's mistake was picking Col. Nasser as a friend of the U.S.A. and in urging the British to get out of the Suez area in 1953 when the Eisenhower administration first took office is what got us into the Suez mess we are in now.

We "Joe Smiths" aren't as dumb as Mr. Hruska thinks we are. We know what's been going on these last four years.

Bar Association's Suggestion

The Nebraska Bar Association is to be credited with a solid service to Nebraska education in its recommendation that competitive debating be restored as a school activity.

The association pointed out that through information gained and divulged the general citizenship is improved. The association also noted that more training in debate will make better lawyers. We might add that more practice in referring to sources, more skill in organizing subjects and more training in expressiveness would help everyone whether lawyers or not.

Indeed, the first requisite of debate is to get the facts, to go to reliable sources. And the prime requisite of successful citizenship in this democratic and complicated age is to think from facts and decide after the careful weighing of them. If America is to lose its course it will not for lack of bright and well equipped school rooms or for the lack of techniques, but it will come by easy descent into the acceptanec of plausibilities and well expressed misinformation. It is a day of varied and effective communication and of keen competition for the possession of the other man's mind. It can easily become the day when it is not what is said, but who said it and how. There is the struggle, for those who are willing to struggle, of who is to possess and direct the thoughts of the individual—the owner of the mind or the coveter of it. The only true weapon of defense within the reach of the owner is a tenacious devotion to the fact, plus the training to find and manage it.

If there is anything to be added to the bar association's excellent proposal it is that it was not extensive enough. It called for competitive debate. It could have called for a requirement that no one should be graduated until the principles and practices of debate were well possessed.

Reaching For More Power

In appearing before the Lincoln Charter Revision Committee, Dave Erickson, in charge of the city's water and light departments, voiced this highly significant opinion:

"As Lincoln continues to grow, it will again need to expand its water supply and build additional large feeder mains, reservoirs, pumping stations, etc. When that need arises, much time and probably some expense will be saved if the governing body of the utility has power to issue the utility revenue bonds that may be required to finance the needed improvements. One forceful example of rapid planning and construction to meet a sudden unanticipated water expansion program is that of a private water company operating in the suburbs of a large midwestern city. In 1954 this company planned and constructed a $5 million water expansion program within the period of one year. This program included the construction of 36-million-gallons-per-day water treatment plant, new pumping station, and several large water feeder mains. Under Lincoln's present city charter, such a speedy solution to water needs could not be accomplished."

Mr. Erickson, of course, is not suggesting that Lincoln's municipal water system should go back into private hands. After years of supervision of it, he would be the last man in the world, we surmise, to suggest that the solution of Lincoln's troubles in connection with an adequate water supply at all times is private ownership and operation. What he was proposing to the charter committee was additional authority in the hands of whoever is in charge of Lincoln's water plant to issue revenue bonds in undetermined amounts to finance needed improvements without a vote of the people. The time may come when the people of Lincoln are willing to confer authority on whoever may be in charge of the municipal water plant but we doubt it.

Could be that Mr. Erickson in the paragraphs to which attention has been called was presenting an adroit reply to the criticism of former Mayor Clark Jeary over the delay in planning for a water system expansion program. We can't recall that Mr. Erickson pounded any tables in seeking to direct public attention to the needed expansion program. That expansion program was the product of an advisory committee composed of well-known Lincoln citizens.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

The Milwaukee Journal notes that Milwaukee had the driest September in 65 years. It was on the fair road to transforming that dubious distinction to the driest September in its long and honorable history, only to experience a rain on the next to the last day of the month which deposited less than a quarter of an inch of moisture but still enough to exceed the .19 of an inch of rain that fell in September of 1891. We were about to suggest that Nebraskans could feel sorry for themselves over the continuance of dry weather when, in checking the exchanges, we find that drought is common to most of the regions of the West and Midwest.

Some Old Saws Fall

Early in Nebraska's history and bobbing up again since then was the notion that water attracts water. The lakes and the forests lining their banks were assurance, we were told, of timely well-spaced rains. Milwaukee on the shores of one of the largest fresh-water lakes on the North American continent found out differently in September. About the only conclusion that we can reach is that we simply do not live right out this way. The only area that has had more rains than it needed is the region roughly embraced in the New England and North Atlantic states, where they could have gotten along on occasions throughout the summer and early fall with less moisture. The rest of the country was below normal in rainfall.

Science announces the discovery of a tree or a number of pines, rather, dating back more than 4,000 years—a pine tree older than the oldest giant redwood—a tree which flourished as many years before the dawn of the Christian century as have elapsed since the birth and life of Christ. Scarcely a decade passes now without discovery revealing that this western world reaches back into antiquity no less than some of those regions which have been credited with being the birthplace of civilization.

Has Adlai Stevenson violated political protocol by his attacks upon President Eisenhower? One of the strange things about this campaign is that Mr. Eisenhower, in the thinking of many of his most devoted friends, is not fair game for criticism, and is above and beyond it. When

Have A Look At Record

the day arrives that any occupant of the White House can impose upon the notoriously short memories of the American people, then we are in a bad way. The St. Louis Post-Dispatch is the latest to refer to President Eisenhower's unfortunate reference in a speech in Kentucky, seeking to blame the Democrats for failure of the federal school aid bill. The real test came, the Post-Dispatch insists, when the Powell amendment was offered. That rider was a provision to withhold federal school aid from any state failing to "comply with the decisions of the Supreme Court." An advance count, the Post-Dispatch added, showed that the Democrats in the House would vote against the Powell amendment by approximately two to one. All that was needed was reasonable Republican party support of the White House's asserted position against the amendment, support which a strong appeal by the President to his party could have insured. No such appeal came from Mr. Eisenhower or from the White House staff, nor from Republican Floor Leader Martin or any other Republican House member. The result was the 148 Republicans were registered as favoring the Powell amendment and only 46 against, crippling though it was and in flat conflict with what the President said represented his position. The Democrats voted on the Powell amendment, 77 for and 146 against, the opposition primarily among southern representatives. In short, the Post-Dispatch points out that the Republican members of the House by a vote of three to one supported an amendment in conflict with the President's views, while the Democrats by a vote of two to one took the President's position on the Powell amendment. Then using a pretext that they did not approve the formula for distributing the funds, the Republicans turned around in the House and voted against the bill on final passage, 119 to 75, with the Democrats supporting the bill on final passage 119 to 105.

★

It is difficult to believe that the President deliberately misrepresented and distorted the record. His error undoubtedly is to be charged to one of his team. But error it is and as an error, on a matter as important as education, it should be corrected in the public mind.

Relief For Whom?

The federal government, according to Agriculture Secretary Benson, is preparing to go into the market with a $10 million lard buying program to support the price of hogs.

That calls for a good deal of spelling out in terms of real benefit to Nebraska pork producers. Lard has had a declining market for a number of years and most producers have specialized in the leaner type of hogs. A federal aid program, if it is to have broad effect, it would seem, should be aimed at the greatest point of trouble.

It is expected that in a region where drought has cut the supply of grain an early and heavy run of hog sales is forecast. Some repetition of last year's heavy sales appears in store.

It is to be recalled at that time that Secretary Benson, armed with $85 million, announced a pork buying program to relieve the beleaguered producers. But hog prices continued to decline while his department loaded up on processed pork. If he meant relief for the producer he misfired. There was virtually no drop in consumer pork prices nor glutting of the market as the government piped off the extra production. In the end the tax payers were stuck for many millions, and neither the producer nor the consumer experienced any substantial relief.

Mr. Benson's much smaller lard buying program can well work out the same way unless he makes provision for price floors at the hog market, a thing he did not do last year. This time there should be no celebration out on the farms until it is determined for sure just who it is that Benson is going to relieve.

Soil Bank Deadline

The Department of Agriculture has announced that 4,335,555 acres had been placed under soil bank agreement by September 28. Of these Nebraska signed 10,800 agreements accounting for 253,527 acres which will be eligible for a maximum compensation of $5,919,909.

Those are not final figures. The deadline for the 1957 wheat crop is today. Declining crop prospects indicate that Nebraska will give the soil bank program maximum patronage.

While the program was conceived as a means to reduce national food surpluses, compensating the farmer in part for refraining from planting a substantial portion of his acres it cannot be gainsaid that thus far, especially in the drought-ridden Midwest, a true test of the efficacy of the program is still at least one winter away. It continues to function more as a crop insurance program.

Choice Between Ike And Democrat Party

ABOARD STEVENSON TRAIN, Pittsburgh, Pa. — President Eisenhower is running for re-election against the Democratic party.

This is the central fact of the 1956 campaign as it enters the crowded and crucial weeks which will determine the outcome November 6. It is the key to present developments.

That the President is vastly stronger than his party is by now a cliche Republicans themselves have driven home by behavior which at times approached the hysterical and was often hardly self-respecting.

At the same time, the Democrats since 1953 have shown one of the great surges of vitality which have marked their often-stormy century as a national party. It is again a cliche to recall that since 1952 they have scarcely lost an election from the courthouses to the Congress and have taken nine governorships from the Republicans.

When Adlai Stevenson won renomination at Chicago he was riding a crest of Democratic strength which, far from ebbing, has recently reached new heights from Maine to the state of Washington. It was a new departure for him.

He ran for governor of Illinois in 1948 as a superior kind of Democrat. The state party had come to him, a political novice, and was repaid with his smashing triumph. Largely on the basis of that triumph and on his record at Springfield, the national party made him the reluctant object of one of the rare genuine drafts of politics.

Again Stevenson ran as an individual as well as the party nominee. He set up his headquarters in Springfield, well away from Washington, which was identified with Harry S. Truman, and from the big cities which are the core of Democratic strength outside of the South. He drew largely upon personal friends for his staff.

Circumstances helped create these situations. In 1948 the Chicago Democratic machine needed what the trade calls window dressing. In 1952, the national Democratic party, 20 years in power, was deeply disaffected and suffering from accumulated liabilities ranging from Korea to the tax scandals.

The entirely different picture today is being verified by all political soundings. Stevenson still has his personal following, devoted, admiring and perhaps very large. But the Democratic party, with its bright new faces in so many places, is the image which appears in sharp outline as the formidable counterforce to President Eisenhower.

'Press Conference' Planned For Ike

WASHINGTON — The Madison Avenue boys who are masterminding much of Ike's campaign were surprised the other day when they put up to him the idea of answering questions at a so-called "People's Press Conference" on television.

The idea of the "People's Press Conference" was hatched by Young and Rubicam. They are bringing a cross-section of people in from various parts of the U.S.A. to meet with the President to ask him questions ranging from war and peace to the high cost of living. But the Y and R experts figured the President would not want to answer too many questions.

Much to their surprise, they found he liked the idea, said he didn't want to put any limit on the type of questions asked.

The members of the "People's Press Conference" group will be handpicked. They will be friendly to the President. But nothing is barred when they pop their questions.

NOT SO SILENT STEVENSON

Adlai Stevenson was touring St. Louis. The crowds had been tumultuous, the best he had had. As enthusiastic crowd is good for the ego and Adlai found the high spirits contagious.

Beside him as he drove through packed streets was Sen. Tom Hennings of Missouri, who is running for re-election. On one building, Hennings spied a sign. It read: "The St. Louis Silent Club."

"Adlai," said Hennings, "wouldn't you and I like to join that club!"

Stevenson grinned.

"Maybe last election," he said. "I was a rank amateur then. But this time I'm learning."

Army scientists are now planning a giant guided missile that will carry vital supplies to forward troops. This giant rocket, carrying 10 tons of food, medical supplies or ammunition would be shot through the air; then, instead of exploding, would come quietly to rest alongside front-line troops.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Adlai Must Go The Longer Way

EN ROUTE WITH STEVENSON —It can hardly be called optimism since most of the managers of the Stevenson campaign have been through this frantic mill before, but they do feel now that they have brought President Eisenhower down from his lofty pedestal to engage in the rough give-and-take of a political contest.

They have seized on one sentence in President Eisenhower's Lexington, Ky., speech in which he said that the issue of the campaign was "which party in these recent years has done more to help all citizens meet the problems of their daily lives."

Stevenson started out at once to make the claim for his party and it is on this line that the balance of the campaign will be fought if those closest to him have their way.

This is a clear recognition in other words that it is a contest not so much between President Eisenhower and Stevenson as between Eisenhower and the Democratic party. On that premise, with the Democratic organization burgeoning in state after state, the Stevenson managers base their confidence.

The Stevenson strategists realized in planning the campaign that their man would have to work at least 10 times as hard as the Republican candidate to make a dent. They were convinced, however, that if they keep Stevenson continually out in the country, they could make the headlines and stay in the public eye in contrast to President Eisenhower, who had announced that he would make only five or six television talks.

What the Democratic candidate must do by wearing out shoe leather and using lung power the Republican candidate, by virtue of holding the office of the presidency, gets almost effortlessly. The odds have been historically against the challenger, which may be the principal reason why only four incumbent presidents have been defeated during the past century.

While most commentators pointed out the political implications of naming a Democrat and a Catholic to the vacancy, the President could say that he was merely performing one of the duties of his office.

He will make an appeal for the United Community Funds and Councils of America, a traditional gesture from the White House. He will make this not as a political broadcast on Ed Sullivan's Sunday night show, which has a very high audience rating. Again it is a duty, but it will show the President to millions of Americans in his most congenial and agreeable role.

Stevenson must by contrast hammer hard at what he believes to be the payoff issues. In his first swing which took him into a number of farm states he hit hardest on the farm issue.

This was not so much with the hope of carrying those states, since the Eisenhower margin of victory there was up to 16 per cent four years ago. The object is to win away a small percentage of the farm vote in such states as Pennsylvania, New York, Ohio and Massachusetts where the rural districts are solidly Republican.

New York, for example, is the second largest farming state in the union and a three per cent switch in upstate New York would, according to Stevenson's strategists, put that state in the Democratic column.

WHAT YOUNG PEOPLE THINK

Is Big Business All-Powerful?

By EUGENE GILBERT
President of the Gilbert Youth Research Co.

"Big businesses run everything in America — they have all the money." This reaction of a 16-year-old high school girl in Tucson, Ariz., sums up the attitude of many of our young people toward big business.

Our organization queried 1,923 youngsters of high school age in 42 cities through the country to find not only their opinions but also their knowledge of the major industries of our country.

One question asked was: "Tell me everything that comes to your mind when you hear the words 'big business' "

Nearly 31 per cent of those interviewed thought of big business in a negative sense, as sort of a giant monopoly spread across all America. They feared the future will see all free enterprise swallowed up in one or two gigantic trusts.

The consensus was that within the next decade and a half there will be one or two large companies representing each individual industry.

All this sounds more like an account in a Russian newspaper than a report about American secondary school students. However, these are their reactions. The lack of information among teen agers about some of our major industries comes at a time when companies are spending more and more money on school materials and educational literature such as films, books, displays and charts. Some of these corporations have entire divisions set up for the development of aids to promote better understanding among school children of their products and services.

But somehow or other the free enterprise message is not getting across. The school boys of today will have many misconceptions to unlearn if they are to grow up to be the industrial leaders of the 1980's.

And it would seem a wise procedure for more industries to re-examine the ways of getting facts across to teen-agers and to plan educational programs that will illustrate the factual story of American industry.

For instance, in another study of 5,402 young people, our organization found that one out of three teen-agers thinks that electric and telephone companies make between 25 and 49 cents on every dollar of income; and one out of 10 thinks they make 50 cents or more. Furthermore, practically 40 per cent of these young people think that oil companies make over 30 cents per dollar, and one out of 9 thinks they make more than 50 cents or more.

☆ ☆ ☆

As an example of how these opinions stack up against industry figures, the Consolidated Edison Co., a huge utility serving the New York metropolitan area, reports 10.6 cents of each revenue dollar represents profit after taxes.

Similarly, the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. reports that its Bell System, which operates 48 million of the nation's 58 million telephones, gets about 12 cents of each revenue dollar after taxes.

Standard Oil of New Jersey, which engages in all activities of the petroleum industry in many parts of the world says its profits have been averaging 10 and 11 cents of the revenue dollar for several years after taxes.

From these figures and the comments of teen-agers on the nature of big business, it is obvious that youth has no conception of American industry and knows even less about the nature of stockholders. This is aptly illustrated by the fact that only 19 per cent of the youngsters interviewed could even vaguely define the term "common stock." Few had any idea how many stockholders own shares in a large company, thereby missing a vital element in their insistence that "America is run by big business."

Nevertheless, or perhaps because of these beliefs, only one out of eight young men in high school expects or has any desire to go into business for himself. The majority hope to find security and success in positions with important national companies.

The "reach for the sky" dream of American youth seems to have suffered a setback in the period since the end of World War II. Young men would rather put their trust in management of large concerns than set out on their own.

To combat this, busineessmen in many major cities have banded together to give aspiring young people of high school age a chance to see the system of free enterprise at work. In Junior Achievement organizations, a teen-ager can get capitalization, advice and instruction in the formation and operation of his own small company.

Further industrial efforts must be made to dispel misconceptions which persist to a startling degree in our young people. There is a lot of ground to cover. Industry must develop some means of replacing any incorrect interpretations with facts about their operations and financing.

School Aid Bill

Big Springs, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: It appears that Ike has taken to using "facts" concocted by the methods of Tricky Dickie, whom the last-ditch reactionaries hope to make heir-apparent to the presidency after November 6.

Eisenhower, according to news reports, in an attempt to blame the Democrats for the failure of the House of Representatives to pass the school aid bill, said that the Democrats voted 215-9 against the school program, while three-fourths of the House Republicans voted for it. What are the facts?

The facts are that out of 224 Democrats voting on the bill, a majority of 119 voted for passage, while out of 194 Republicans only 75 voted for passage.

Was it the consciousness of his lack of leadership that led Ike to distort the facts? Or has he too become imbued by the philosophy of Alexander Hamilton, the god of reactionary politics, which holds that either force or corruption is absolutely necessary to govern men, because the people are a big beast?

Western Mistakes

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The West and only the West is to be blamed for encouraging Russia to gain prestige in the Arab world. I say this with first-hand experience. I am an Arab student from Syria, respect the U.S. deeply, but dislike seeing it lose prestige and getting into trouble with my original home for the selfish interest of Zionist pressure groups who seek for "Israel's" interests before and above the interest of the U.S.

Russia is and always will be capitalizing on the mistakes of the West. These mistakes are foreign to the policy of the U.S.—they are Zionist, French, and British colonial interests—and could have been avoided if American interests were considered.

The first calculated mistake was that of Mr. Truman. To win the White House he blindly promised the wealthy Zionist groups that he would support and force other countries in the U.N. to accept the partition of Palestine to create a Zionist state. This was supposed to solve the problem of the "persecuted" Jews of Europe, but instead of solving a problem, created a graver one. A million Arab refugees—Christians and Moslems—were driven from their homes in the worst way any human beings have ever suffered.

The second mistake was the U.S. support of France's barbaric policy in Algiers against the Arab demand for freedom and self-rule. Here again the West helped Russia to gain prestige. All Russia needed to do was to denounce the military aggression of France and the assistance of the U.S.

The third western mistake is the idea of forcing "internationalization" of the Suez Canal. Would the U.S. agree to do the same for the Panama Canal? Turkey for the Dardanelles? And would England agree to internationalize the Straits of Gibraltar and that of Aden? Certainly not, because Russia being one of the big powers would have a foothold, then, in all those strategic areas. Then why should Egypt accept? The U.S. is interested in having the canal open and operated efficiently. This Egypt has promised and proven. My hope is not to see the U.S. dragged into a world war for the selfish colonial interests of France and England.

FICRAT BASHA

Equal Blame

Nebraska City, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I was Democratic committeeman in Rockford Township, Gage County, Nebraska, during the Bryan and Wilson times. I was instructed to tell the voters that Wilson kept us out of war. The Republican candidate for President at that time, Hughes, was for war. The women's vote in California decided the election in favor of Wilson. After the election Wilson took us into war. I have never forgiven myself for having any part in that election.

Before World War II for three years while I was living in Texas, trainloads of scrap iron were going to Japan. Roosevelt was prevailed upon to put a stop to it, but he heeded not. Hitler was taking out rivers of oil at the same time. Protest after protest was sent to Roosevelt, to no avail. The first great mistake was made when Republican McKinley took us into the Orient during the Spanish-American War for the benefit of American importers who wanted to get their products into our nation duty free.

Both Democrats and Republicans are about equally to blame for world conditions today. Neither party has the right to promise peace to the voters at this time with world conditions as they are today. Our enemies must get encouragement from the peace promises made to gain votes.

Suez Situation

Geneva, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Sen. Hruska spoke the other evening in Omaha and said we might get into a small war in the Suez, but under Ike's leadership it would not last long.

Now, what Sen. Hruska didn't say was that Dulles' and Eisenhower's mistake was picking Col. Nasser as a friend of the U.S.A. and in urging the British to get out of the Suez area in 1953 when the Eisenhower administration first took office is what got us into the Suez mess we are in now.

We "Joe Smiths" aren't as dumb as Mr. Hruska thinks we are. We know what's been going on these last four years.

AEC Chairman Strauss Says Estes 'Distorted Facts'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission said Thursday Sen. Estes Kefauver "distorted the facts" when he charged the Eisenhower administration with lagging in the field of atomic power.

Strauss also accused the Democratic vice-presidential nominee of resorting to "malicious innuendo" and making "totally false" statements in a speech Kefauver made at Los Alamos, N.M., Tuesday.

"Sen. Kefauver, unless he is content to be held irresponsible, should either support or withdraw his baseless charges," Strauss said. "He has a responsibility not to deceive the American people."

The AEC head's statement took the form of a "memorandum" to President Eisenhower, which was released by the White House. James C. Hagerty, Eisenhower's press secretary, said the President felt the memo should be made public "to keep the facts straight."

Kefauver charged at Los Alamos that the Eisenhower administration has thrown the nation's atomic energy program into politics and permitted the United States to fall behind Britain and Russia in the development of atomic power for peaceful purposes.

Strauss denied that, as AEC chairman, he had a "vested interest" in trying to keep the construction of atomic reactors in the hands of private companies.

"I have no 'interests' in the development of atomic energy, except the interest and pride in being associated with the defense of my country and with your great enterprise for peace, prosperity and human betterment," Strauss told the President.

'Facts Available'

"If Sen. Kefauver had chosen to present the facts—which are available to him—he would have told his audience that public power groups and cooperatives, as well as private industry, are well represented in the AEC's power demonstration program, and that their participation has been encouraged by the commission."

Any statement that Britain and Russia have outstripped this country in developing atomic energy as a peacetime source of power "is patently false," Strauss said. He added:

"The first large, full-scale atomic power plant in the world, exclusively for civilian use, and for which you — Eisenhower—broke ground two years ago, will be in operation in Shippingport, Pa., next year. England does not even plan to begin an atomic plant for civil power exclusively until next year and it will not be completed before 1960.

"As for Russia—the Soviets, so far as we are aware—have nothing at present but a small, 5,000-kilowatt reactor which already is as obsolete as the Model T."

Soil Bank Agreements Likely To Reach 15,000 In Nebraska

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department said Thursday winter wheat farmers up to Sept. 28 had signed 106,485 agreements putting 4,335,555 acres in the soil bank program.

In Nebraska 10,800 agreements were signed, covering a total acreage reserve of 253,527 acres and maximum compensation of $5,919,909.

During the previous week ending Sept. 21 there had been a total of 79,985 agreements covering 2,997,007 acres. Friday is the deadline for farmers to sign up for participation in the soil bank program on the 1957 winter wheat crop.

(According to Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation authorities in Lincoln, the final Nebraska figure may reach between 13,000 and 15,000 agreements with a maximum compensation of near $7,000,000).

Heaviest registration was expected during the last week before the deadline.

Farmers signing up for the program can receive a maximum of $79,781,774 in payments on their pledges to withhold the 4,335,555 acres from production.

Machinery Damaged By Dynamite Blast

PAPILLION, Neb. (AP) — A ditch-digging machine near Papillion and a large tractor near Millard were wrecked when they were blasted by dynamite.

L. E. Ball, operator of the Ball Construction Co., Norfolk, owned the $12.00 ditch-digger, and Middlestates Construction Co., Omaha, owned the tractor, which was equipped with a power scoop.

Both are non-union construction firms.

Ball said he had been having trouble with the International Union of Operating Engineers. A spokesman for Middlestates said the firm had been asked recently to recognize the operating engineers as a bargaining agent for its employes.

Ball said his labor trouble had been centered at Fremont, where his firm is installing 8,000 feet of water main.

Four Airline Routes Would Serve State Under Ozark

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ozark Air Lines proposed Thursday new local air service for many cities in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska and Colorado.

Attorney James Batchelor presented the Ozark proposals at a Civil Aeronautics Board hearing.

Ozark's system now extends from Chicago west to Sioux City, Iowa, and southwest to Wichita, Kan. Its planned expansion to include many additional cities requires CAB approval.

Rival proposals for serving various sections of the same area have been made by Central, North Central and Frontier airlines.

Ozark seeks permission to establish nine new routes including:

1. Omaha to Kansas City via St Joseph, Mo, Topeka, Kan., and Beatrice and Lincoln, Neb., one round trip daily would operate via St. Joseph and another via Topeka. The route would give Beatrice its first scheduled air service and would replace present Braniff flights between St. Joseph and Lincoln, Omaha and Kansas City

2 Omaha-Alliance, Neb.,-Denver, serving Lincoln, Grand Island and Hastings, North Platte, McCook, Sidney and Scottsbluff, Neb, and Sterling, Colo A skip-stop operation is planned that would include two flights daily between Omaha and Alliance, one through flight between Omaha and Denver, two tround trip shuttle flights between Denver and Sterling and one round trip between Grand Island and Omaha

3. Minneapolis-St. Paul to Omaha via Mason City and Fort Dodge, Ia. Two daily round trips would be flown on this segment daily.

4 St. Louis to Omaha, via Quincy, Ill, Hannibal, Mo., and Ottumwa, Ia. One round trip daily would operate directly between Quincy and Omaha and another by way of Ottumwa.

Ozark said modified, 27-passenger DC3 twin-engine planes would be used on all routes. The modifications include technical improvements which Ozark claims improve the stability of the standard DC3, reduce vibration and increase the cruising air speed to 200 miles an hour.

Parole Board Post Goes To Mrs. Bowring

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Eva Kelly Bowring of Merriman, Neb., former U.S. Senator from Nebraska, was named to the Federal Board of Parole Thursday by President Eisenhower.

Mrs. Bowring

Mrs. Bowring, 64, whose appointment is subject to Senate conformation, is a Republican and owns and operates a 13,000 acre ranch in Cherry County.

She served in the Senate from April to November, 1954, filling out the term of the late Dwight Griswold.

While in the Senate she served on the Labor, Commerce and Post Office-Civil Service committees.

The first woman to represent Nebraska in either branch of Congress, Mrs. Bowring is past president of the Highway 61 Authority and a member of the Governor's Highway Advisory Committee.

She was vice chairman of the State Republican Central committee from 1946 to 1954 and served as Cherry County GOP chairman.

In February, 1955, she was named to a three-year term on the Defense Advisory Committee on Women in the Services.

On the Parole Board she will fill out the term of Dorothy McCullough Lee, who has resigned. The term ends Sept. 30, 1958. Mrs. Bowring will be the only woman on the eight-member board. Her salary will be $11,800 a year.

Safety Program Includes Pretend Blindness Plan

COLUMBUS, Neb. (AP)—More than 250 employes of the Platte and Loup Power Districts and the Nebraska Public Power System are going to see what it's like to be blind.

They'll take part in a nationally recognized safety program in which participating employes pretend they are blind for a short period of time.

They are asked to light cigarets, tell colors of cloth by texture and do simple mechanical jobs while they are blindfolded.

Roy Lang, Nebraska Public Power System director of personnel and public relations, said that in this way the workers experience what would happen if an industrial accident should take away their eyesight.

The program was developed by the National Foreman's Institute and is called—"Let's Pretend."

Perry Lumber Co. Is Back In Business

HOLDREGE, Neb.—The E. L. Perry Lumber Company of Holdrege, destroyed by a fire last month, is back in operation in less than two weeks, with a temporary location for office quarters and a near-by parking lot for lumber storage.

'Mum' Day May Attract 3,000

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP)—About 3,000 persons are expected at the North Platte Experiment station Sunday for the Annual "Mum Day."

More than 6,000 flowering plants of all kinds will be on display.

Besides the chrysanthemums, which highlight the annual showing there will be hybrid carnations, penstemons, roses and many others.

Glen Viehmeyer, horticulturist, said that the 400 different kinds of chrysanthemums this year are somewhat fewer than usual, but four newly developed varieties of chrysanthemums will be displayed.

District ZCBJ Meet

VERDIGRE, Neb. — This community will be host to the ZCBJ Seventh District convention October 14, with representatives slated to attend from Spencer, Lynch, Niobrara, Pischelville, Osmond, Pierce and Atkinson.

Controlled Access Planned Along Inter-State Says Ress

OMAHA (AP)—The inter-state highway which will be built across Nebraska in the next 13 years will have controlled access throughout its entire length, State Engineer L. N. Ress noted Thursday.

And although Nebraska now has relatively few miles where access is controlled, the Highway Department is "adding more each month," he declared in speech before a Nebraska Real Estate Assn. Convention here.

"By limiting the access to a few predetermined points, we are able to protect not only the new facility but also the values of abutting properties," he declared.

Ress said the "ribbon development," where highways can be entered or left at will and commerce enterprises spring up along the roadways, "has been the biggest single cause of premature highway functional obsolescence and the biggest deterrent to roadside land price advance."

"The congestion we now see on many of our highways and city streets is slowly stifling business in these areas, and I'm sure you are aware of what happens to real estate values as a consequence," he added.

Ft. McPherson Group Elects Duke As Head

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP) — Robert Duke has been named president of the Ft. Mc Pherson Memorial Association along with other new officers chosen in a reorganization program.

The Memorial Association directs Memorial Day activities at Ft. Mc Pherson National Cemetery south of Maxwell and raises funds for the project by assessment of various veterans organizations throughout a wide area of central and western Nebraska.

Four Airline Routes Would Serve State Under Ozark

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ozark Air Lines proposed Thursday new local air service for many cities in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska and Colorado.

Attorney James Batchelor presented the Ozark proposals at a Civil Aeronautics Board hearing.

Ozark's system now extends from Chicago west to Sioux City, Iowa, and southwest to Wichita, Kan. Its planned expansion to include many additional cities requires CAB approval.

Rival proposals for serving various sections of the same area have been made by Central, North Central and Frontier airlines.

Ozark seeks permission to establish nine new routes including:

1. Omaha to Kansas City via St. Joseph, Mo., Topeka, Kan., and Beatrice and Lincoln, Neb., one round trip daily would operate via St. Joseph and another via Topeka. The route would give Beatrice its first scheduled air service and would replace present Braniff flights between St. Joseph and Lincoln, Omaha and Kansas City.

2. Omaha-Alliance, Neb.,-Denver, serving Lincoln, Grand Island and Hastings, North Platte, McCook, Sidney and Scottsbluff, Neb., and Sterling, Colo. A skip-stop operation is planned that would include two flights daily between Omaha and Alliance, one through flight between Omaha and Denver, two tround trip shuttle flights between Denver and Sterling and one round trip between Grand Island and Omaha.

3. Minneapolis-St. Paul to Omaha via Mason City and Fort Dodge, Ia. Two daily round trips would be flown on this segment daily.

4. St. Louis to Omaha, via Quincy, Ill., Hannibal, Mo., and Ottumwa, Ia. One round trip daily would operate directly between Quincy and Omaha and another by way of Ottumwa.

Ozark said modified, 27-passenger DC3 twin-engine planes would be used on all routes. The modifications include technical improvements which Ozark claims improve the stability of the standard DC3, reduce vibration and increase the cruising air speed to 200 miles an hour.

Safety Program Includes Pretend Blindness Plan

COLUMBUS, Neb. (AP)—More than 250 employes of the Platte and Loup Power Districts and the Nebraska Public Power System are going to see what it's like to be blind.

They'll take part in a nationally recognized safety program in which participating employes pretend they are blind for a short period of time.

They are asked to light cigarets, tell colors of cloth by texture and do simple mechanical jobs while they are blindfolded.

Roy Lang, Nebraska Public Power System director of personnel and public relations, said that in this way the workers experience what would happen if an industrial accident should take away their eyesight.

The program was developed by the National Foreman's Institute and is called—"Let's Pretend."

Parole Board Post Goes To Mrs. Bowring

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Eva Kelly Bowring of Merriman, Neb., former U.S. Senator from Nebraska, was named to the Federal Board of Parole Thursday by President Eisenhower.

Mrs. Bowring

Mrs. Bowring, 64, whose appointment is subject to Senate conformation, is a Republican and owns and operates a 13,000 acre ranch in Cherry County.

She served in the Senate from April to November, 1954, filling out the term of the late Dwight Griswold.

While in the Senate she served on the Labor, Commerce and Post Office-Civil Service committees.

The first woman to represent Nebraska in either branch of Congress, Mrs. Bowring is past president of the Highway 61 Authority and a member of the Governor's Highway Advisory Committee.

She was vice chairman of the State Republican Central committee from 1946 to 1954 and served as Cherry County GOP chairman.

In February, 1955, she was named to a three-year term on the Defense Advisory Committee on Women in the Services.

On the Parole Board she will fill out the term of Dorothy McCullough Lee, who has resigned. The term ends Sept. 30, 1958. Mrs. Bowring will be the only woman on the eight-member board. Her salary will be $11,800 a year.

Perry Lumber Co. Is Back In Business

HOLDREGE, Neb.—The E. L. Perry Lumber Company of Holdrege, destroyed by a fire last month, is back in operation in less than two weeks, with a temporary location for office quarters and a near-by parking lot for lumber storage.

'Mum' Day May Attract 3,000

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP)—About 3,000 persons are expected at the North Platte Experiment station Sunday for the Annual "Mum Day."

More than 6,000 flowering plants of all kinds will be on display.

Besides the chrysanthemums, which highlight the annual showing there will be hybrid carnations, penstemons, roses and many others.

Glen Viehmeyer, horticulturist, said that the 400 different kinds of chrysanthemums this year are somewhat fewer than usual, but four newly developed varieties of chrysanthemums will be displayed.

District ZCBJ Meet

VERDIGRE, Neb. — This community will be host to the ZCBJ Seventh District convention October 14, with representatives slated to attend from Spencer, Lynch, Niobrara, Pischelville, Osmond, Pierce and Atkinson.

Controlled Access Planned Along Inter-State Says Ress

OMAHA (AP)—The inter-state highway which will be built across Nebraska in the next 13 years will have controlled access throughout its entire length, State Engineer L. N. Ress noted Thursday.

And although Nebraska now has relatively few miles where access is controlled, the Highway Department is "adding more each month," he declared in speech before a Nebraska Real Estate Assn. Convention here.

"By limiting the access to a few predetermined points, we are able to protect not only the new facility but also the values of abutting properties," he declared.

Ress said the "ribbon development," where highways can be entered or left at will and commerce enterprises spring up along the roadways, "has been the biggest single cause of premature highway functional obsolescence and the biggest deterrent to roadside land price advance."

"The congestion we now see on many of our highways and city streets is slowly stifling business in these areas, and I'm sure you are aware of what happens to real estate values as a consequence," he added.

Ft. McPherson Group Elects Duke As Head

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP) — Robert Duke has been named president of the Ft. Mc Pherson Memorial Association along with other new officers chosen in a reorganization program.

The Memorial Association directs Memorial Day activities at Ft. Mc Pherson National Cemetery south of Maxwell and raises funds for the project by assessment of various veterans organizations throughout a wide area of central and western Nebraska.

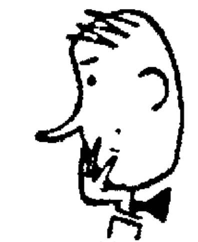
Stan Delaplane's
POSTCARD



In my salad days I was taught that a man's best friend was his dog. Later, as I put on a little weight and started combing my hair, it seemd to me that man's best friend was girls.

I do not know how many letters I received in those gloomy days which wound up "We can still be good friends, can't we?" This news was usually accompanied by the hope that "I think you and John would like each other."

I doubted it. I hated John. I hate him now, even today.

☆ ☆ ☆

Well, this is only to show what an untrustworthy world we live in, my masters.

You cannot trust girls. But, on the other hand, you cannot trust dogs, either.

I read the other day that in Murroe, Ireland, Inspector Patrick Pender went out to investigate an illegal whiskey still. He found an Irish setter and a spaniel had been at it.

The setter could not stand up and the spaniel was staggering, but still insisted he could drive if someone would back the car out and show him the road.

I think my own dog, Carmichael, would have a go at the sauce. If I did not keep the bottles under lock and key.

A report comes in from Inverness, Scotland. Scottish sheep are staggering all over the highlands. The Scots say this comes from eating Scotch broom, an innocent-looking plant until it gets inside a sheep.

Once inside this built-in distillery, it becomes high test rifle whisky. (I wish to point out that spelling, you dog. Whiskey with an "ey" in Ireland, with a plain "y" in Scotland. Hoot mon!)

☆ ☆ ☆

If you did not keep your eyes open to these things, you would go right along being misled about the animal kingdom.

Up in Fort Frances, Ontario, a bear got into Jake Skibinsky's wood alcohol. When Mrs. Skibinsky came out, the bear was breaking glasses and offering to lick anybody in the house.

Mrs. Skibinsky was not fooled by all the talk about what nice beasts bears are. She got out the old Winchester and gave him a temperance lesson which lasted him all of his life. Which I must admit was short.

As you can see from these far-flung reports, the whole animal kingdom is showing signs of going to pieces.

Sheep on the gay-and-frisky. Irish setters and spaniels giving lip to the constables. Bears getting blotto as a fiddler on wood alcohol.

☆ ☆ ☆

The only reason this occurs to me is because I picked up a paper the other day and read that a poodle parlor in Los Angeles this year will give an office party. You know, those things they have before Christmas? Where heaven knows how you get lipstick on your shirt, only there were so many people bumping into you?

Well, this poodle parlor is for poodles to get their hair curled. And the poodle parlor people thought it would be nice to toss them a party.

As you can see from all incoming news, this is like feeding beer to the baby and handing him a loaded .45. Why, I shudder to think of the affair and can only advise the poodle parlor to take out plenty of insurance.

A bunch of newly curled poodles around a punch bowl for a couple of wassail hours and you would have dog hair in the dryers for weeks.

This business of making gin accessible to man's best friend is silly. They have no experience and probably a poor taste for it. Naturally, I am speaking of dogs, bears and sheep. Not girls.

Governor Gives 'Details' Of Convention Plane Trip

. . . Answers Morris Criticism

Governor Victor Anderson Thursday reviewed what he described as the "full details" of his trip to California in a state plane stating that "there seems to be an attempt to make a political issue" out of the trip.

Criticism of the Governor's flying trip to California for the Republican National Convention was leveled by George Morris, the former Nebraska Reformatory superintendent now running for governor as an Independent, in a speech here Tuesday night. Morris contended the Governor had reimbursed the state on the basis of a $15 per hour rate for use of the state plane, whereas the type of plane used involves a standard $45 per hour charge

Said Gov Anderson in a statement Thursday

"According to Nebraska Statute 3 106, the Department of Aeronautics is under the direction of the Governor. He may, at any time, use any of the planes at no cost whatever

'However, on this trip I felt it would be fair to the state to pay what was felt to be the operation cost I paid $362 50 to the Department of Aeronautics and $159 50 to the pilot for his expense, a total of $521 70

'I could have gone by regular airline for $149 60

'Harold Hessenflow, who flew the plane, did so on his vacation and accumulated overtime.

"I have not traveled for pleasure during my term of office and have taken no vacation during the two years During my term of office, even when on official state business, I have personally paid my travel expense out of my pocket

'Because reservations were impossible by air or train in both directions, I felt the convenience of having my own transportation in case of any emergency would be to the best interests of the state "

Governor Gives 'Details' Of Convention Plane Trip

. . . Answers Morris Criticism

Governor Victor Anderson Thursday reviewed what he described as the "full details" of his trip to California in a state plane, noting that "there seems to be an attempt to make a political issue" out of the trip.

Criticism of the Governor's flying trip to California for the Republican National Convention was leveled by George Morris, the former Nebraska Reformatory superintendent now running for governor as an Independent, in a speech here Tuesday night. Morris contended the Governor had reimbursed the state on the basis of a $15 per hour rate for use of the state plane, whereas the type of plane used involves a standard $45 per hour charge.

Said Gov. Anderson in a statement Thursday:

"According to Nebraska Statute 3-106, the Department of Aeronautics is under the direction of the Governor. He may, at any time, use any of the planes at no cost whatever.

"However, on this trip I felt it would be fair to the state to pay what was felt to be the operation cost. I paid $362.50 to the Department of Aeronautics and $159.50 to the pilot for his expense, a total of $521.70.

"I could have gone by regular airline for $149.60.

"Harold Hessenflow, who flew the plane, did so on his vacation and accumulated overtime.

"I have not traveled for pleasure during my term of office and have taken no vacation during the two years. During my term of office, even when on official state business, I have personally paid my travel expense out of my pocket.

"Because reservations were impossible by air or train in both directions, I felt the convenience of having my own transportation in case of any emergency would be to the best interests of the state."

Six-Man Advisory Group To Visit NU Journalism Classes

An advisory committee consisting of six men, appointed by the Nebraska Press Assn., will visit classes of the University of Nebraska's school of journalism Oct. 12, Dr. William E. Hall, director of the school, announced.

The committee was formed recently to help the school strengthen its training program in the weekly newspaper field, Dr. Hall said.

Five of the six members are on the press association board. They are Henry Mead, Seward, NPA president; W. H. Pollard, Fullerton, treasurer; Vern Scofield, Lincoln, secretary-manager; Jack Lough, Albion, and Bob Bogue, Oakland.

The sixth member, Stuart Bohacek, Wilber, is Nebraska president of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity.

Very light frost was reported on the first of the month and heavy frost occurred on the sixth, but the damage was spotty.

'NU Facing Faculty Problem'

Hardin Says Other Schools Bid High

"We are facing a difficult staff problem," Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin told University of Nebraska students in a "State of the University" report delivered at convocation Thursday

"Almost every college or university in the country is interested now in obtaining the services of faculty members such as we employ," he said.

Dr. Hardin told students he appreciated the devotion of the staff to the University. "I know that many of them have turned down offers to go elsewhere at higher salaries. I know that many of them will receive even more attractive financial offers in the future," he said.

The concern of the teaching situation "involves a great deal more than just employing enough people to preside over classrooms, laboratories and lecture halls," he told the students.

Dr. Hardin said, "Our university is very proud of its standards. This university deals in quality education. Our standards are high.

"What success we will have in the immediate future in obtaining the financial support necessary to keep our quality staff intact and at the same time to add to it, remains to be seen."

Parking Problem

Other comments by Dr. Hardin included:

Campus Traffic—"With over 500 more student parking permits issued this year than last, it is evident that we have a serious parking problem. We intend to do everything we can to avoid a general prohibition against the campus use of cars by students." The Chancellor complimented students on their campus safety record and urged them to uphold it.

Building program—"To date, the building program has enabled us to bring our physical plant up to a point which should have been attained in about 1949. It has not permitted much in the way of new buildings to serve the increased enrollments we will have between now and 1965. We are very hopeful that the building program will be continued "

Fall enrollment—up 535 students over last year.

SIGN OF THE TIMES

While fall enrollment at the University has increased by some 535 students, the number of campus parking permits issued to students is up by 556, University officials report.

Interest In Band Soars At NWU; Homecoming Near

Interest in band at Nebraska Wesleyan has soared in the past five years, according to band director Robert Marshall

Marshall, who has helped build the 97-piece Plainsman Band, reports that more than 50 per cent of the freshmen at Wesleyan this fall have had band experience in high school, and a large number of them plan to continue band in college.

The members of the 1956 Plainsman marching band have been chosen and outfitted with uniforms, and are practicing for the Wesleyan Homecoming Oct 12, which is the first big work-out of the year.

New personnel for the band are selected each year from among new students after competitive try-outs directed by Marshall.

The band includes 82 musicians and 15 additional non-playing personnel who are used in staging half-time and pre-game football shows.

Fellowship Urged By Forrest

Tells NWU Students It Solves Problems

Chancellor A. Leland Forrest of Nebraska Wesleyan University, in his annual Chancellor's Address before the Wesleyan student body and faculty Thursday, urged students to solve their problems by "first sitting down together in an honest fellowship."

Dr. Forrest said the next two steps would be to "take some time to think of the needs of young people and colleges in disadvantaged parts of our world" and then "to make this a year when we discover ourselves more fully through complete participation in the activities about us."

He warned against accepting the physical accomplishments of our age as the answers to life's big questions.

He said:

"Some seem to think that because we have smashed the atom and have learned to roll the energy of a river into transmission lines so that cities may be lighted, and have learned to arrest the ravages of many dread diseases, we have given the answers to life's biggest problems. Nothing could be farther from the truth.

The Chancellor's address before the first all-school gathering of the year was preceded by an academic procession by members of the Wesleyan faculty.

NU Band To Salute 1956 Olympics

. . . At Game Saturday

A salute to the 1956 Olympic Games by the University of Nebraska Marching Band, directed by Prof. Donald Lentz, will feature half-time ceremonies Saturday at the Nebraska - Iowa State game at Memorial Stadium.

The band will present the Olympic flags and form Olympic circles and the Torch, and salute track, gymnastics, winter sports and water sports.

Music will include: "Chicago World's Fair," "World Events March," "Don't Want to Set the World on Fire," "Anvil Chorus," "Tenderly," "Let It Snow," "Volga Boatman" and "Over the Waves."

The Universitys gymnastic team will present a trampoline demonstration as part of the program.

Judge Discloses Attitude Change In Traffic Court

OMAHA (AP)—There has been an "astonishing" change in the general attitude in traffic court since the investigation of ticket suspensions began, Municipal Judge James O'Brien said.

He noted these improvements:

The "morale of those paying fines has improved 100 per cent."

Not one person "has tried to talk business before court."

Not a single lawyer has attempted to pay a fine for a client without the defendant appearing in court.

Complaints to the traffic prosecutor about unjust arrests are fewer.

"The most amazing change of all," said Judge O'Brien, "is the attitude of those who appear before me. I have prefaced the opening of court with the remark that I believe every good American asks only one thing—to be treated with utmost fairness with partiality toward none.

"Many of those fined say as they turn away from the bench 'you are absolutely right, judge, I'm going to try to do better.'"

Lincoln's Traffic Safety Rating Holds Steady In '55; More Police, Higher Pay Recommended

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Lincoln's traffic safety rating for 1955 by the National Safety County held steady although the average for 54 comparable cities slumped slightly from the 1954 level.

The overall rating of 60.5 was just slightly under the group average of 62, but considerably above in the categories of police supervision of traffic, and school traffic dent records, and school traffic safety education.

This report was presented at a Safety Luncheon Thursday by Robert D. Hopper, field representative of the National Safety Council.

Representatives of local safety organizations, city and police officials, and school representatives attended the luncheon.

Recommendations

Although rating Lincoln police supervision of traffic above the 54-city average, the Council report recommended:

1. Eighty-one officers be added to bring the department's strength up to a recommended 174 men. The 1955 strength was 93 officers.

2. Pay scale be raised to compare more favorably with other cities. A patrolmen's average pay for the top one-third of the cities survey was $350 as compared with Lincoln's $305 in 1955.

3. Two officers be trained and assigned to specialize in accident investigation.

Below Average

Although Lincoln was rated "below average" in traffic engineering, the report gave "special recognition" to the work of the police administrator in this field.

The report suggested that traffic engineering should be assumed by the city engineering department and this responsibility established by ordinance.

Also along this line, the Council recommended that:

1. Parking meter revenue be used for off-street parking and other traffic improvements.

2. Additional off-street parking be provided.

More One-Ways

3. Consideration by given to expanding one-way street operation.

4. Consideration be given modern-type street lighting along high volume and accident-prone streets.

Rating Lincoln's traffic courts as "slightly below average," the Council suggested that the "uniform (quadruplicate) traffic ticket and complaint be adopted" and that a "school for traffic violators be established."

Lincoln was presented a certificate of achievement in school traffic safety education for both the public and parochial schools.

'Outstanding'

Hopper noted that Lincoln had an "outstanding record" in this field.

Complimenting the driver training program in the schools, Hopper said the report urged that the program be expanded to encompass all eligible students.

Lincoln was also cited for improvement of its traffic death rate record over its average for the previous three years.

In 1955, Lincoln reported two deaths, a 66.7 per cent decrease from the three-year average. In 1954, Lincoln had 1.8 death per 1,000 vehicles as compared with the average of only 0.4 for 1955.

Pedestrians

The report also recommended that pedestrians be held accountable for dangerous acts just as motorists are, by arrest and conviction for violation.

More effort in the apprehension of drinking drivers and conviction on specific driver intoxication charges was urged by the Council.

The Lincoln survey was included in the 54 cities reporting in the 100,000 to 200,000 population class.

The report of an evaluation and inventory of all traffic safety activities by these cities.

Chest Asks Rehearing On Donation Rule

The Lincoln Community Chest filed a "friend of the court" brief with the State Supreme Court Thursday asking a rehearing in a case involving charitable contributions by governmental subdivisions.

A brief asking the rehearing also was filed by the Douglas County chapter of the American Red Cross.

The State Supreme Court held recently that Nebraska statutes which had permitted the Omaha Public Power District to contribute to the United Community Services (Community chest) are unconstitutional.

The brief of the Lincoln Community Chest emphasized its concern at the suggestion of unconstitutionality because of religious activities.

"A community-wide public welfare program of this kind cannot be fully and completely divorced from any remnant of religious activity," the Lincoln agency's brief claimed.

The Red Cross brief noted that the OPPD and Metropolitan District in Omaha had pledged $81,900 to the United Community Services' operating fund for 1955-56, of which $13,923 was to go to the Red Cross.

"The financial effect of the Supreme Court's decision in this case, if it is allowed to stand, will be nothing short of disastrous to the United Community Services," the brief said. It added: "The agency faces the awful spector of insolvency."

Educational TV Channel Now 12

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Communications Commission Thursday changed the educational TV channel reservation at Lincoln from UHF 18 to VHF 12.

The change, effective Nov. 7, was requested by University of Nebraska, which operates KUON-TV on commercial Channel 12 and wants that outlet classed as a strictly noncommercial educational operation.

NEW COAL CONTRACT BOOSTS MINERS' WAGES $2.40 A DAY

CINCINNATI (AP)—John L. Lewis Thursday signed a new one-year soft coal contract with major producers calling for a whopping $2.40 per day boost in miners' wages and holiday allowances.

The new agreement covers approximately 150,000 of the nation's 200,000 soft coal miners. Lewis said he expected the deal to be a pattern for the rest of the industry.

Lewis and Edward G. Fox, president of the Bituminous Coal Operators Assn., hailed the agreement as insuring a continuation of more than seven years of peaceful labor relations in the once strife-torn industry.

The agreement will eventually bring miners' daily wages to a basic $22.25 rate. Double time pay for work done on holidays and Sundays was stipulated, along with an increase in vacation and holiday pay.

Lincoln's Traffic Safety Rating Holds Steady In '55; More Police, Higher Pay Recommended

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Lincoln's traffic safety rating for 1955 by the National Safety County held steady although the average for 54 comparable cities slumped slightly from the 1954 level.

The overall rating of 60.5 was just slightly under the group average of 62, but considerably above in the categories of police supervision of traffic, and school traffic dent records, and school traffic safety education.

This report was presented at a Safety Luncheon Thursday by Robert D. Hopper, field representative of the National Safety Council.

Representatives of local safety organizations, city and police officials, and school representatives attended the luncheon.

Recommendations

Although rating Lincoln police supervision of traffic above the 54-city average, the Council report recommended:

1. Eighty-one officers be added to bring the department's strength up to a recommended 174 men. The 1955 strength was 93 officers.

2. Pay scale be raised to compare more favorably with other cities. A patrolmen's average pay for the top one-third of the cities survey was $350 as compared with Lincoln's $305 in 1955.

3. Two officers be trained and assigned to specialize in accident investigation.

Below Average

Although Lincoln was rated "below average" in traffic engineering, the report gave "special recognition" to the work of the police administrator in this field.

The report suggested that traffic engineering should be assumed by the city engineering department and this responsibility established by ordinance.

Also along this line, the Council recommended that:

1. Parking meter revenue be used for off-street parking and other traffic improvements.

2. Additional off-street parking be provided.

More One-Ways

3. Consideration by given to expanding one-way street operation.

4. Consideration be given modern-type street lighting along high volume and accident-prone streets.

Rating Lincoln's traffic courts as "slightly below average," the Council suggested that the "uniform (quadruplicate) traffic ticket and complaint be adopted" and that a "school for traffic violators be established."

Lincoln was presented a certificate of achievement in school traffic safety education for both the public and parochial schools.

'Outstanding'

Hopper noted that Lincoln had an "outstanding record" in this field.

Complimenting the driver training program in the schools, Hopper said the report urged that the program be expanded to encompass all eligible students.

Lincoln was also cited for improvement of its traffic death rate record over its average for the previous three years.

In 1955, Lincoln reported two deaths, a 66.7 per cent decrease from the three-year average. In 1954, Lincoln had 1.8 death per 1,000 vehicles as compared with the average of only 0.4 for 1955.

Pedestrians

The report also recommended that pedestrians be held accountable for dangerous acts just as motorists are, by arrest and conviction for violation.

More effort in the apprehension of drinking drivers and conviction on specific driver intoxication charges was urged by the Council.

All Ready For Denver

One of Lincoln's exceedingly popular families have been Mr. and Mrs. James Nicola and their three daughters, Sherry, Kathy and Patty. But at the moment reluctant farewells are being said to the members of the Nicola family who are leaving to reside in Denver.

As a matter of fact Mr. and Mrs. Nicola and their daughters have little time left in Lincoln—They will spend the week-end with relatives in York, and will leave on Tuesday for Denver.

All ready for the week-end in York—and the trip to Denver are Patty, Kathy and Sherry (left to right) who are quite anxious to climb into the back seat of the car and be on their way, but who were quite gracious and posed with their parents for the photographer.

NEWS AROUND TOWN

THERE IS activity everywhere this week-end — luncheons at the clubs, post-game festivities also at the clubs and here and there around town — The 100 Club dinner dance — A Sunday party for out of town guests — and so it goes — ad infinitum —with a repeat performance the week-end of Oct. 13.

But before we lose ourselves in conversation concerning Saturday and Sunday, let's talk for a moment about the past — Wednesday evening and the new members of Cotillion Club —The eight new member couples include Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Druliner (Tish Swanson), Mr. and Mrs. Pete Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Childs (Nancy Halligan), Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Ludwick, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Warner Rhoades, Dr. and Mrs. Paul Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Stephens and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reynolds.

* * *

WE already have told you about much of Saturday's activity — all that isn't hush hush, but we found a party for Sunday that is to honor out of town guests—The guests, incidentally, belong to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wake of Seward, and we told you a day or so ago that the members of the guest eightsome were traveling companions of Mr. and Mrs. Wake during a world cruise—

The visitors, including Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Clark and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carlson, all of Salt Lake City; Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Sproule of Milwaukee and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Snyder of Waukegan, Ill have a busy week-end in store for them — Mr. and Mrs. Wake are entertaining at a barbecue party this evening — will bring the eightsome to Lincoln tomorrow for luncheon at the Lincoln Country Club — and the game—

But on Sunday the group of guests are to be honored at a 4 o'clock to 6 o'clock party when Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Rucklos entertain at their home.

* * *

AND also on Sunday afternoon, between the hours of 3 o'clock and 5 o'clock, is the tea for which members of the Sigma Nu chapter on the Nebraska campus will be hosts when they honor their new housemother, Mrs. Martha Brinkerhoff Stanek.

* * *

NEXT Tuesday, when Mrs. J. C. Ridnour entertains at luncheon at the University Club, it will be a birthday party for Mrs. Elsie Grainger Fullerton whose anniversary is on Oct. 6 —But since Oct. 6 is a football day, the celebration will be on Tuesday with members of a birthday club as luncheon guests—

* * *

THAT reminds us that Mrs. Luther Bonham of Fairbury was in town on Thursday and entertained the members of her birthday club in honor of Mrs. Fullerton's anniversary.

* * *

TODAY is the day that Mrs. Arthur Bierhaus arrives from Vincennes, Ind., to spend two weeks as the house guest of her sister-in-law, Mrs. O. A. Reinhart.

THE STAR IN SUBURBIA

This is Friday—the morning we entered the South Hill's community gate. Our first stop was at the Carl Peterson residence —a later journey brought us to the Harry Hornby home—and we made some very interesting excursions throughout other parts of the neighborhood, including the Ben Heard residence and a short visit with Mrs. Henry Saathoff and Mrs. Emery Coonrod. Before we closed the gate, however, we called on many other residents in the area.

When Mrs. Carl Peterson returned home from St. Elizabeth's Hospital last week she was greeted not only by her family, but several neighborhood friends. Included in the callers were Mrs. Holger Overgaard, Mrs. Harry Hornby, Mrs. Hayden Noe and Mrs. Robert Lienemann.

On Tuesday afternoon the hostesses at a neighborhood coffee —and pop for the youngsters, were Mrs. Robert Lienemann and Cindy. Guests who enjoyed the afternoon of visiting and fun were Mrs. Don Sommers and daughter Diana; Mrs. Don Miltner, son Donnie and Mrs. Harry Hornby.

The Ben Heard residence was the setting last week for another coffee which happened to be on Tuesday morning. Assisting Mrs. Heard as hostess was Mrs. Robert Kissinger, and the honored guest was Mrs. A. R. Hounninger who with her family moved to South Hills from Little Rock, Ark. two weeks ago. Other guests were Mrs. John Kelly, Mrs. Herman Hempel, Mrs. Henry Saathoff, Mrs. Loren Beckler, Mrs. James Metz, Mrs. Robert Kissinger, Mrs. Harry Hornby, Mrs. Lawrence Ross and Mrs. J. R. Evans.

Last Tuesday certainly was a popular day for entertaining out in South Hills — On that evening, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Thompson were host and hostesses at a coffee, when their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Baker, Mr. and Mrs. John Burt and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Christensen.

And house guests at the Thompson residence Tuesday and Wednesday were Mrs. Thompson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gustafson of Cozad.

Thursday was a very special day for Miss Laurie Lee Hempel, for it was just two weeks ago that day that she arrived at St. Elizabeth's Hospital. Laurie Lee's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hempel, have three other children, Rodger, Hollye and Galene.

Arriving this week-end to visit Mr. and Mrs. Henry Saathoff will be Mr. Saathoff's brothers and sisters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolf Saathoff and Mr. and Mrs. John Saathoff. The guests will remain in South Hills until Monday or Tuesday, when they will return to their homes in Watertown, S. D.

A surprise birthday party is in store for Mrs. Emery Coonrod's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gude of Nebraska City, whose birthdays are the 10th and 17th of October. Mr. and Mrs. Coonrod and their three children, Kathleen, Kim and Jamee Ann, and Mrs. Coonrod's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John Love will join Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gude, Jr. and their family in Nebraska City before making the surprise visit at the birthday honorees' residence.

Double Ring Wedding

MRS. LEE FISCHER

Miss Phyllis Lillian Ebeler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ebeler of Elmwood, became the bride of Lee Fischer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Fischer of Alvo, at a double ring service solemnized Friday evening, Aug. 17, at the Church of Christ in Elmwood. White and pink gladioli and lighted candles formed the background for the wedding, the lines of which were read by the Rev. James Snyder.

Frocked in pale green nylon net over taffeta and carrying a bouquet of pink carnations was the matron of honor, Mrs. Delores Schneider of Decatur, Ill., and wearing identical ensembles in pink were the bridesmaids, Miss Sharon Phillips, Elmwood, Mrs. Eunice Gillam and Mrs. Arlene Hegedus, Lincoln. Miss Jacqueline Schneider of Decatur was the flower girl, and the ringbearer was Joey Gillam, Lincoln.

Lighting the candles were Miss Barbara Ebeler and Jerry Lisby.

Jim Hermance, Alvo, served Mr. Fischer as best man, and the ushers were Lawrence Sweat, Kirwin, Kan.; Robert Schiermann, Greenwood; and Jack Hegedus, Lincoln.

The bride wore a gown of white nylon tulle and lace over taffeta. The fitted bodice of lace was re-embroidered with silver thread and was designed with a rounded neckline and long, tapered sleeves. The tulle skirt was shirred into fullness, and her illusion veil was held by a bandeau of the silvered lace. She carried a white Bible ornamented with a white orchid.

Mr. and Mrs. Fischer will make their home in Lincoln.

Ceremonies Of Early Autumn

MRS. CHARLES A. KNUDSEN

MRS. ALAN POKORNY

MRS. E. KENNETH JONES

YOUNG-KNUDSEN

The wedding of Miss Delores Nadine Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Young of North Platte, and Charles A. Knudsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert T. Knudsen, took place on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 2, at the First Christian Church in North Platte. White and yellow chrysanthemums, and white candles burning in branched candelabra, appointed the chancel for the ceremony, which was solemnized by the Rev. E. Phil Dubbs, and Mrs. Benford Eaves, organist, played the wedding music. Mrs. Eaves also accompanied Burton Johnson, vocalist.

Frocked identically in aqua mist crystalette over taffeta were Miss Verna Young of North Platte, as the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Charlotte Doll, Omaha; Miss Louise Henke, DeWitt; and Mrs. Burton Johnson, Lincoln. The attendants carried bouquets of white and yellow pompons, and wore coronets of the blossoms in their hair.

William Knudsen of Milwaukee, Wis., served as best man, and seating the guests were William Schmidt, Blue Hill; Walter Reiss, Omaha; and Gerry Heeren, Hastings.

The bride's gown was fashioned of white nylon tulle over satin touched with imported lace. The tulle bodice was appliqued with lace to frame the heart-shaped neckline, and the lace continued over the shoulders to form the long, fitted sleeves. The very full skirt of pleated tulle was completed by a lace-bordered peplum of tulle which tapered into a chapel train, and her veil of illusion was held to the head by a cap of lace dotted with seed pearls. She carried a golden-throated white orchid showered with stephanotis.

Following the reception for 225 guests in the church parlors, Mr. Knudsen and his bride left for a honeymoon trip to Denver, after which they will reside at 3483 M in Lincoln. Mrs. Knudsen wore for traveling an olive green knitted ensemble with black accessories.

A former student at Doane College, the bride is a member of Phi Sigma Tau sorority. Mr. Knudsen attended Doane College, where he is a member of Sigma Phi Theta, and the University of Nebraska.

VAN AMPTING-POKORNY

At a morning ceremony solemnized on Thursday, Aug. 30, Miss Dorothy Van Ampting of Columbus, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Anton Van Ampting, became the bride of Alan Pokorny, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lumir Pokorny of Howells. White gladioli formed a fan-shaped arrangement to decorate the altar of St. Bonaventure Church in Columbus for the service, which was read by the Rev. Roch Hettinger, and Mrs. William Gregorius, organist, played the wedding music and accompanied Miss Barbara Paprocki, the vocal soloist.

Wearing alike frocks of ruffled lace and net in the orchid shade were Miss Sharon Rozanek of Columbus, the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Pat Cockson of Bellwood, and Miss Rosemary Irwin of Columbus. The attendants completed their costumes with open-crowned hats of orchid lace, and carried cascades of white and orchid-toned carnations.

Maurice Flynn of Schuyler served Mr. Pokorny as best man, and the ushers were Duane Newman and Richard Skarda of Schuyler, Paul Pokorny of Howells, and Al Van Ampting of Genoa.

The bride's gown of white lace and tulle was designed in the period mode. A small, standing collar of lace accented the lace and tulle yoke of the sculptured bodice, and the sleeves were long and tapered. Below the narrow waist, the lace formed a full peplum over the tulle skirt and was caught at the back into a cascade of lace and tulle tiers. A halo brim of scalloped lace edged with pearls held her illusion veil, and she carried a bouquet of white gladioli and carnations.

A wedding dinner for members of the family and bridal party was followed by a reception for 300 guests in the parish hall.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Pokorny are residing at 1516 So. 19th in Lincoln, where the bridegroom is attending the University of Nebraska.

HANSEN-JONES

The wedding of Miss Ruth Ann Hansen of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hansen of Dorchester, and E. Kenneth Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest K. Jones of Neodesha, Kan., took place on Saturday evening, Sept. 1, at the First Congregational Church in Friend. The Rev. Marvin Williams read the lines of the 7 o'clock service, and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Rachel Leach, organist, who also accompanied Miss Marilyn Stuzman, vocal soloist.

As her sister's maid of honor, Miss Myrna Hansen of Dorchester wore a full-skirted frock of ruffled net in the cotillion blue shade completed by a brief jacket of matching lace. Costumed identically were the bridesmaids, Miss Mona Beggs and Miss Beth Nidasy, in gold, and the junior bridesmaid, Miss Marian Hansen, also a sister of the bride, in blue. The attendants carried bouquets of asters and daisies in shades contrasting with their frocks. The flower girl was Miss Linda Jensen, and Jerry Jensen was ringbearer.

Allen Krivohlavek of Dorchester served as best man, and the ushers were Gerald Boden, Richard Sehnert and Billy August.

The bride's colonial gown was fashioned of white lace and tulle over satin. The shoulder-wide yoke of illusion was framed by petal points of the lace to form the rounded neckline, and long, fitted sleeves completed the lace basque. The full skirt of tulle ended in a chapel train, and her illusion veil was held by a bandeau of the lace. She carried an arrangement of American Beauty roses, and wore a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones will make their home in York. The bride is a former student at Peru College and has been employed in Lincoln. Mr. Jones attended Nebraska Trade School at Milford.

Ceremonies Of Early Autumn

MRS. CHARLES A. KNUDSEN

MRS. ALAN POKORNY

MRS. E. KENNETH JONES

YOUNG-KNUDSEN

The wedding of Miss Delores Nadine Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Young of North Platte, and Charles A. Knudsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert T. Knudsen, took place on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 2, at the First Christian Church in North Platte. White and yellow chrysanthemums, and white candles burning in branched candelabra, appointed the chancel for the ceremony, which was solemnized by the Rev. E. Phil Dubbs, and Mrs. Benford Eaves, organist, played the wedding music. Mrs. Eaves also accompanied Burton Johnson, vocalist.

Frocked identically in aqua mist crystalette over taffeta were Miss Verna Young of North Platte, as the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Charlotte Doll, Omaha; Miss Louise Henke, DeWitt; and Mrs. Burton Johnson, Lincoln. The attendants carried bouquets of white and yellow pompons, and wore coronets of the blossoms in their hair.

William Knudsen of Milwaukee, Wis., served as best man, and seating the guests were William Schmidt, Blue Hill; Walter Reiss, Omaha; and Gerry Heeren, Hastings.

The bride's gown was fashioned of white nylon tulle over satin touched with imported lace. The tulle bodice was appliqued with lace to frame the heart-shaped neckline, and the lace continued over the shoulders to form the long, fitted sleeves. The very full skirt of pleated tulle was completed by a lace-bordered peplum of tulle which tapered into a chapel train, and her veil of illusion was held to the head by a cap of lace dotted with seed pearls. She carried a golden-throated white orchid showered with stephanotis.

Following the reception for 225 guests in the church parlors, Mr. Knudsen and his bride left for a honeymoon trip to Denver, after which they will reside at 3488 M in Lincoln. Mrs. Knudsen wore for traveling an olive green knitted ensemble with black accessories.

A former student at Doane College, the bride is a member of Phi Sigma Tau sorority. Mr. Knudsen attended Doane College, where he is a member of Sigma Phi Theta, and the University of Nebraska.

VAN AMPTING-POKORNY

At a morning ceremony solemnized on Thursday, Aug. 30, Miss Dorothy Van Ampting of Columbus, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Anton Van Ampting, became the bride of Alan Pokorny, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lumir Pokorny of Howells. White gladioli formed a fan-shaped arrangement to decorate the altar of St. Bonaventure Church in Columbus for the service, which was read by the Rev. Roch Hettinger, and Mrs. William Gregorius, organist, played the wedding music and accompanied Miss Barbara Paprocki, the vocal soloist.

Wearing alike frocks of ruffled lace and net in the orchid shade were Miss Sharon Rozanek of Columbus, the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Pat Cockson of Bellwood, and Miss Rosemary Irwin of Columbus. The attendants completed their costumes with open-crowned hats of orchid lace, and carried cascades of white and orchid-toned carnations.

Maurice Flynn of Schuyler served Mr. Pokorny as best man, and the ushers were Duane Newman and Richard Skarda of Schuyler, Paul Pokorny of Howells, and Al Van Ampting of Genoa.

The bride's gown of white lace and tulle was designed in the period mode. A small, standing collar of lace accented the lace and tulle yoke of the sculptured bodice, and the sleeves were long and tapered. Below the narrow waist, the lace formed a full peplum over the tulle skirt and was caught at the back into a cascade of lace and tulle tiers. A halo brim of scalloped lace edged with pearls held her illusion veil, and she carried a bouquet of white gladioli and carnations.

A wedding dinner for members of the family and bridal party was followed by a reception for 300 guests in the parish hall.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Pokorny are residing at 1516 So. 19th in Lincoln, where the bridegroom is attending the University of Nebraska.

HANSEN-JONES

The wedding of Miss Ruth Ann Hansen of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hansen of Dorchester, and E. Kenneth Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest K. Jones of Neodesha, Kan., took place on Saturday evening, Sept. 1, at the First Congregational Church in Friend. The Rev. Marvin Williams read the lines of the 7 o'clock service, and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Rachel Leach, organist, who also accompanied Miss Marilyn Stuzman, vocal soloist.

As her sister's maid of honor, Miss Myrna Hansen of Dorchester wore a full-skirted frock of ruffled net in the cotillion blue shade completed by a brief jacket of matching lace. Costumed identically were the bridesmaids, Miss Mona Beggs and Miss Beth Nidasy, in gold, and the junior bridesmaid, Miss Marian Hansen, also a sister of the bride, in blue. The attendants carried bouquets of asters and daisies in shades contrasting with their frocks. The flower girl was Miss Linda Jensen, and Jerry Jensen was ringbearer.

Allen Krivohlavek of Dorchester served as best man, and the ushers were Gerald Boden, Richard Sehnert and Billy August.

The bride's colonial gown was fashioned of white lace and tulle over satin. The shoulder-wide yoke of illusion was framed by petal points of the lace to form the rounded neckline, and long, fitted sleeves completed the lace basque. The full skirt of tulle ended in a chapel train, and her illusion veil was held by a bandeau of the lace. She carried an arrangement of American Beauty roses, and wore a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones will make their home in York. The bride is a former student at Peru College and has been employed in Lincoln. Mr. Jones attended Nebraska Trade School at Milford.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

It is not a national committee's scheme to leave a Republican at every cottage for a thirty day's trial.

The idea is to mouse-trap the property owner before he hires 11 Democratic chauffeurs for a one-car garage. Optimism is an unhatched statistic. The side with the most votes wins the election except in Philadelphia.

Opportunity knocks more than once getting the vote out. When they talked about porch campaigns you never thought it was going to be your veranda, didja?

Strange Varmits

PEVELY, Mo. (AP) — Farmers in this area won't believe their eyes if they happen to spot a couple of critters on the loose in these parts. A truck carrying an animal shipment to Chicago overturned, and two coatimondis escaped. They're cousins of the raccoon family, but have long snouts that gives them an appearance similar to that of the anteater.

Eager Beginner

HOT SPRINGS, Va (AP) — Mr. and Mrs James Culpeper checked to see how their 8-year-old son Jimmy was faring in the adjoining hotel room—his first experience with his own private room. It was 11 p m. They heard the click of the telephone receiver and Jimmy's authoritative voice. "Room service? I'll have a double chocolate milk shake. Rush that, please."

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner o fthe rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Strange Varmits

PEVELY, Mo. (AP) — Farmers in this area won't believe their eyes if they happen to spot a couple of critters on the loose in these parts. A truck carrying an animal shipment to Chicago overturned, and two coatimondis escaped. They're cousins of the raccoon family, but have long snouts that gives them an appearance similar to that of the anteater.

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. James Culpeper checked to see how their 8-year-old son Jimmy was faring in the adjoining hotel room—his first experience with his own private room. It was 11 p.m. They heard the click of the telephone receiver and Jimmy's authoritative voice: "Room service? I'll have a double chocolate milk shake. Rush that, please."

They Duel Today—After Rainout

Don Newcombe (right), of the Brooklyn Dodgers, matches grips with New York Yankee Pitcher Don Larsen after Thursday's World Series game was called off. The righthanders had been scheduled to take the mound in the second game. Now they are slated to duel today. (AP Wirephoto.)

Bookies Say 'Brooks' After Rain

Newcombe, Larsen Named Again

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK (INS) — A soft, sad rain dispersed the World Series players and fans Thursday. The battle will be rejoined at Ebbets Field at 11 a.m. CST today with Don (27-7) Newcombe pitching for the Dodgers agains Don (11-5) Larsen for the Yankees in the second game.

The Dodgers are now 7-5 favorites to win their second straight game in the series and are at the same price to take the whole shebang, as they did last year. The 24-hour delay in the proceedings will permit more extensive use of Sal Maglie, the heroic old standout in the first game.

Democratic Presidential Nominee Adlai Stevenson will be on hand for today's game and political pundits Thursday night oiled up their applause meters and other gadgets which measure popularity and public acceptance of a product. The consensus was that President Eisenhower, who threw out the first ball in the opener, failed to wow the Democratic stronghold of Brooklyn.

Thursday's was the first series game that has had to be postponed because of foul weather since the fourth game of the 1951 meeting between the Yanks and Giants. Commissioner Ford Frick and his umpires went through an hour of soul-searching before surrendering to the elements.

"It'll help the other fellow more than me," Yankee Manager Casey Stengel, famed grammarian, said of the delay.

"I wish we could have played," said Walter Alston, Brooklyn's resident brain. "It's best to play when you're hot, and we're hot."

Many of the Dodger players spent the afternoon at Belmont Racetrack. Newcombe worked out briefly after the game was called. The huge righthander jogged around the dried sections of the field.

The postponement in the 1951 series was listed by Giants fans as the reason they failed to win over the Yankees. They had won two of the first three games played.

The day's delay rested Allie Reynolds, who had been beaten in the first game by a score of 5-1. Allie returned to even up the series at two games apiece by beating one Sal Maglie 6-3 in the Polo Grounds, after which the Yanks went on to win their third game by 13-1 and the final one by 4-3.

Weatherman Ernest J. Christie says the chances are pretty good that the second game of the series can go on as now scheduled. The skies are expected to clear before game time today. The infield, of course, is protected by a tarpaulin.

Frick said the prime reasons he called off Thursday's show was 1) the game might have had to be shortened and 2) it would have been played under unfair field conditions.

World series crowds went back to doing whatever World Series crowds do when not in a ballpark. Their topic — in fact, the Big Town's one main topic — was Maglie and the manner in which he beat the Yanks Wednesday. The man has become a legend.

Stevenson will speak at a rally at Borough Hall before going to Ebbets Field. He throws righthanded.

By RON GIBSON
Star Sports Staff Writer

Creighton Prep, The Star's top-ranked Class A football team, won't have to worry about getting knocked off this week.

The Bluejays, undefeated in 34 straight games, are idle.

However, several other top ranking teams carry on

LH Favored Over Islanders; Rockets, SE Seek First Win

GAMES TONIGHT

Lincoln High	at Grand Island, 8 p.m.
Northeast	at Beatrice, 7:30 p.m.
Southeast	at Norfolk, 8 p.m.

By BOB McCOY
Star Sports Staff Writer

There will be no local prep action tonight on the home front, as three Lincoln teams are on the road and one played Thursday night.

Piux X got its one day head start on this week's action off on the wrong foot as it journeyed to David City St. Mary to take a 13-7 defeat Thursday night

The Lincoln High Links should be ready to go when they take to the road against unbeaten Grand Island. The Islanders, however, have not been particularly impressive in any of their three winning appearances and the Links figure to be the favorite after being edged by Omaha Central, lacing North Platte and showing well last week against tough Washington High of Sioux Falls, S. D.

Whatever the outcome, the traditional battle still figures to be another "rock-em, sock-em" affair.

Northeast, still unable to get into the win column, travels to Beatrice to face the Orangemen there in a Mid-East conference battle. The Gage county crew picked up its first victory of the current campaign last week by trouncing Southeast, 37-0 and should rate the favorite in this contest.

Southeast will try its luck tonight at Norfolk in a game which figures to be as close as the fuzz on a peach.

The Knights should be ready for this one after three straight whitewashings by Fremont, Hastings and Beatrice.

Famous Strong Man To Marry

TOCCOA, Ga. (AP)—Paul Anderson, 23-year-old Georgian often hailed as the strongest man in the world; is engaged to be married.

Anderson's engagement to Patricia Gail Taylor, 17-year-old senior at Tallulah Falls High School, was disclosed Thursday by Mrs. Charles Collins, grandmother of the birde-to-be. She said no date for the wedding has been set.

Paul was not immediately available, but his father confirmed the young couple had become engaged. He said the wedding would not take place until next summer.

Young Anderson, a 300-pounder, currently is training for the Olympics where his world records are expected to give the U. S. weight-lifting team an advantage.

Patricia Gail, who tops the scales at 112, met Anderson at Lake Rabun, a nearby resort, this summer while posing for newspaper photographs. They have been going steady ever since.

Greenberg Denies Farrell Report

NEW YORK (INS)—Hank Greenberg, General Manager of the Cleveland Indians, denied Thursday a report that Kerby Farrell would replace resigned Al Lopez as manager of the Tribe.

"It's not true," said Greenberg of the rumored appointment of Farrell, a first-baseman with the Chicago White Sox in 1945 who now is managing Indianapolis of the American Association.

"We haven't discussed the manager's job with anyone and we're in no hurry to do so."

It's conference time around the ol' Big Seven and the indications are that every club will have to be on its best behavior each Saturday.

As of the moment there are several clubs that could land a New Year's vacation in Miami. So any club that slips will not only have an unhappy Saturday, but will run the risk of a Vitamin C deficiency.

This week the guessing game offers only one cinch—Oklahoma over Kansas State. The rest of the contests are up for grabs.

After regaining some confidence last week—only seven misses—it's time for another look. On with the blindfold:

Big Seven

NEBRASKA 20, IOWA STATE 13—Huskers face mighty tough chore, but repeat of second half show at Ohio State would cinch it.

OKLAHOMA 40, KANSAS STATE 0—After getting drubbed by Colorado, there's no hope for Wildcats against mighty Sooners.

SOUTHERN METHODIST 13, MISSOURI 7—Tigers may be ready to surprise.

COLORADO 26, KANSAS 13—Buffalo offense improving and Jayhawk defense still questionable.

Big Ten

IOWA 21, OREGON STATE 14—The Hawkeyes have it.

NOTRE DAME 28, INDIANA 6—Irish aren't fooled often.

TULANE 27, NORTHWESTERN 13—Green Wave to rock 'n roll.

MICHIGAN STATE 21, MICHIGAN 19—Spartans can't stumble once or they'll be chasing.

MINNESOTA 14, PURDUE 6—Gopher line big and tough.

OHIO STATE 20, STANFORD 7—Too many Buckeyes, too few Indians.

McCASHLAND . . . Double Duty?

Leo George May Miss I-S Game

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

Nebraska's Cornhuskers may be without the services of Alternate Fullback Leo George when they meet Iowa State at Memorial Stadium Saturday afternoon.

Coach Pete Elliott said Thursday that "George's status is questionable."

The junior from Wilkes-Barre, Pa., suffered a pulled muscle in the Ohio State game.

If George can't go against the Cyclones, Dick McCashland—soph from Geneva—may have to work at either center or fullback with the alternates.

McCashland has operated at fullback all year, but was slated for the No. 2 center job after Max Kitzelman strained a shoulder in the Ohio State game.

If George can't go at fullback and McCashland is used there, either Bob Lyall or Dick Prusia is likely to get the call at center.

Doug Thomas and Eugene Haman are reserve fullbacks who also may see service.

Thursday the Huskers took it easy and polished their offensive and defense for the Cyclones.

Petersen Mends

Tackle Jerry Petersen missed practice again Thursday because of an attack of tonsilitis, but he is expected to be ready Saturday.

Same Backfield

Elliott said Thursday that he is counting on the services of Halfbacks Bennie Dillard and Willie Greenlaw against Iowa State, but that the starting backfield will be the same as the one that opened against South Dakota and Ohio State.

'Last Year'

When Elliott was queried about the point spreads that favor the Huskers from six to 14 points over Iowa State he said:

"Those points must be based on last year, because they certainly can't be based on this year.

"Iowa State has really improved. I was greatly impressed by the movies of their game with Denver and Coach Scarbrough (scouted the Cyclones at Northwestern) reports they have a fine team.

"We'll have to play our best and get some breaks at the same time if we hope to win.

"Points? I'll be very happy to win by one point."

NU-Cyclone Tilt Termed 'Key Game'

AMES, Ia.—Iowa State's "key" game—that's the tag hung on the Nebraska-Iowa State battle coming up at Lincoln Saturday.

On the outcome, thinks Cyclone head man Vince DiFrancesca, will hang much of the fortune of the big Cardinal team this year.

"I've pointed to the Denver and Nebraska games as our key contests ever since the fall drills started," DiFrancesca said. "We need to win the first game of the year and the first conference game if we want to have a chance to be an upsetter all season long. We have a sound club this year and it needs only a key win or two to fool all those experts who tabbed it for last in the Big Seven. We need to win this one."

To do something about getting ready to win the game DiFrancesca has shifted John Scheldrup to the starting right end position. The big Oak Park, Ill., junior has played fine ball in both games so far, with fine pass catching and good defense counterbalancing some spotty blocking. He has shown tremendous desire all year and Vince figures he has earned the right to show what he can do as a starter.

Another man getting a promotion has been Chuck Latting, third string left halfback who has scored three of the four touchdowns this year. Latting was moved up during the week as a reward for his fine work.

DiFrancesca hinted at other shifts but listed none as definite, except on Scheldrup and Latting.

Omaha Boxers Score In Trials

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Technical knockouts came in flurries as the Mid-Western Olympic Boxing Trials began before an estimated 1,800 fans here Thursday night.

Six of the first 10 bouts failed to go the distance. There were 21 matches scheduled for the opening session of the three-night show.

One of the technical knockouts was scored by Joe Parks, Omaha, Neb., who put away Gary Sturdivant, Des Moines, Iowa, in the third round.

Two of the early bouts went on split decisions. Jack McCracken, St. Louis, outpointed George Cruz, Omaha, in their first-round bout at 156 pounds, and Alvin Richardson, Ft. Riley, Kan., gained a close decision over Wayne Hagedorn, Omaha, at 139 pounds.

Jenson: 'Fullmer Will Take Title'

WEST JORDAN, Utah (AP) — Manager Marv Jenson says his fighter, Gene Fullmer, may not get too much money in his December bout with Sugar Ray Robinson, but will take "the world middleweight championship!"

Jenson returned from New York where contracts were signed for the title fight.

'31 Grad Team To Be Selected

NEW YORK (AP) — Sports Illustrated, weekly sports magazine, will pick a silver anniversary All-America football team this year, its managing editor, Sidney L. James, said Thursday.

All colleges in the United States have been asked to name a senior letter winner of 1931 who has "most distinguished himself in his chosen field of life, whether in athletics, business, public service or the professions."

The magazine will cull an All-America team from these nominees. Each will be awarded minature, silver goal posts sometime in December.

—Neal Sparkles In Loss—

Pius X Surprised By DC St. Mary's, 13-7

By RON GIBSON
Star Sports Staff Writer

DAVID CITY — David City St Mary's surprised Lincoln Pius X, 13-7, in a battle of hard-charging lines Thursday night.

St. Mary's, winning its 13th game in a row, took a 13-0 lead in the third quarter and staved off a comeback attempt by Pius.

NEAL . . . Slowed By Penalties

Penalties hurt the Lincoln team. Two long runs by Joe Neal — one for a touchdown in the fourth quarter and a similar jaunt in the first quarter — were nullified by penalties.

The quick St. Mary's forwards were too much for Pius. They kept Lincoln's backs bottled up except for the long runs of Neal.

Bill Meysenburg and Bob Roh, the latter an all-state six-man center in 1955, led the St. Mary's defensive charges.

Statistics

	Pius X	St. Mary's
First Downs	6	9
Rushing Yardage	136	241
Passing yardage	0	6
Passes—Comp.	3-0	4-0
Passes Intercepted	3	1
Punts—Ave.	6-27	3-43
Fumbles Lost	1	2
Yards Penalized	65	10

Powerful Ken Dill and swift Tom Peters provided both St. Mary's touchdowns and got most of the yardage.

Quarterback Max Coufal steered the Knights to their first touchdown in the second quarter. He led a drive to the Pius 22 yard line, from where Dill scored on a shot off right tackle.

The score remained 6-0 at halftime, but the Knights drove 75 yards to boost their lead early in the third quarter.

Peters got the touchdown on a 49 yard run. He shot through the middle on a quick opener, eluded the grasping Neal and sprinted away.

Peters' conversion made it 13-0.

End Harold Aksamit — whose defensive play sparkled — recovered a St. Mary's funble on the Pius 27 to set up the 73 yard drive which resulted in Pius' only touchdown.

The score came on a fourth down play. Neal took a handoff from George Easley and ran 27 yards for the touchdown. He added the extra point on a run.

Stan Larchick's jarring tackle of Peters gave Pius a last chance to win. Carchick, covering a punt, hit the Knight back hard and forced a fumble which Aksamit recovered on the Knights' 30.

On the next play Neal swept left end to score but a clipping penalty nullified the gain and Pius was unable to move the ball after that.

Early in the first quarter, Neal ran 54 yards on the same handoff play and raced to the end zone but a holding penalty called the play back.

Pius X	0	0	7	0	—7
St Mary's	0	6	7	0	—13

Other matches will be announced later, Novak said.

RED HUSKER FROSH BLANK WHITES, 12-0

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

Nebraska's freshman football team held its first game scrimmage of the year Thursday afternoon and the Reds defeated the Whites, 12-0.

Both clubs produced several outstanding individuals and the first game-condition outing was jammed with the usual freshman enthusiasm.

Coach Gene Stauber termed the contest a "typical first scrimmage" and said "we've got a lot of work to do on fundamentals."

However, Stauber was particularly pleased with the way the backs held onto the ball.

"They only fumbled three or four times, which is surprising for this early in the year," he said.

In the statistics department, the Reds held a decided edge as they played ball-control to post the win.

The Reds had the ball for 56 plays and made 247 yards for a 4.0 average. They passed eight times, completed three and had one intercepted.

The Whites had possession of the ball for only 38 plays and were held to 85 yards for a 2.2 average. They passed six times, completed one and had one intercepted.

Stauber cited Linemen Glen Hepburn of Boys Town, Don Olson of Grand Island, Duane Mongerson of Omaha and John Ponsiego of Chicago, Ill., for outstanding work.

"Jerry Gilbert, a Lincoln boy, did a fine job at center, too," Stauber said. Gilbert is a former Lincoln High star who recently returned from a stretch with the Marines.

"I thought we had three quarterbacks who did a good job," the NU frosh coach continued. He named Harry Tolly of North Platte, Clyde Haskins of Fullerton and Joe Miller of Sioux City, Ia., as the top-performing signal callers.

Bob Brandt of Denison, Ia., Ben Cacioppo of Omaha and Duane Buchtel of Clay Center drew praise "for doing a great job of ball carrying."

Another Omahan, Paul Saggau, served notice that he's going to be quite a punter for the Huskers, getting off several booming boots.

"Paul did an amazing job of punting," Stauber said. "And he did it even though he got some bad passes from center."

They Duel Today—After Rainout

Bookies Say 'Brooks' After Rain

Newcombe, Larsen Named Again

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK (INS) — A soft, sad rain dispersed the World Series players and fans Thursday. The battle will be rejoined at Ebbets Field at 11 a.m. CST today with Don (27-7) Newcombe pitching for the Dodgers agains Don (11-5) Larsen for the Yankees in the second game.

The Dodgers are now 7-5 favorites to win their second straight game in the series and are at the same price to take the whole shebang, as they did last year. The 24-hour delay in the proceedings will permit more extensive use of Sal Maglie, the heroic old standout in the first game.

Democratic Presidential Nominee Adlai Stevenson will be on hand for today's game and political pundits Thursday night oiled up their applause meters and other gadgets which measure popularity and public acceptance of a product. The consensus was that President Eisenhower, who threw out the first ball in the opener, failed to wow the Democratic stronghold of Brooklyn.

Thursday's was the first series game that has had to be postponed because of foul weather since the fourth game of the 1951 meeting between the Yanks and Giants. Commissioner Ford Frick and his umpires went through an hour of soul-searching before surrendering to the elements.

"It'll help the other fellow more than me," Yankee Manager Casey Stengel, famed grammarian, said of the delay.

"I wish we could have played," said Walter Alston, Brooklyn's resident brain. "It's best to play when you're hot, and we're hot."

Many of the Dodger players spent the afternoon at Belmont Racetrack. Newcombe worked out briefly after the game was called. The huge righthander jogged around the dried sections of the field.

The postponement in the 1951 series was listed by Giants fans as the reason they failed to win over the Yankees. They had won two of the first three games played.

The day's delay rested Allie Reynoids, who had been beaten in the first game by a score of 5-1. Allie returned to even up the series at two games apiece by beating one Sal Maglie 6-3 in the Polo Grounds, after which the Yanks went on to win their third game by 13-1 and the final one by 4-3.

Weatherman Ernest J. Christie says the chances are pretty good that the second game of the series can go on as now scheduled. The skies are expected to clear before game time today. The infield, of course, is protected by a tarpaulin.

Frick said the prime reasons he called off Thursday's show was 1) the game might have had to be shortened and 2) it would have been played under unfair field conditions.

World series crowds went back to doing whatever World Series crowds do when not in a ballpark. Their topic — in fact, the Big Town's one main topic — was Maglie and the manner in which he beat the Yanks Wednesday. The man has become a legend.

Stevenson will speak at a rally at Borough Hall before going to Ebbets Field. He throws righthanded.

NU Fullback 'Doubtful'

Leo George May Miss I-S Game

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

Nebraska's Cornhuskers may be without the services of Alternate Fullback Leo George when they meet Iowa State at Memorial Stadium Saturday afternoon.

Coach Pete Elliott said Thursday that "George's status is questionable."

The junior from Wilkes-Barre, Pa., suffered a pulled muscle in the Ohio State game.

If George can't go against the Cyclones, Dick McCashland—soph from Geneva—may have to work at either center or fullback with the alternates.

McCashland has operated at fullback all year, but was slated for the No. 2 center job after Max Kitzelman strained a shoulder in the Ohio State game.

If George can't go at fullback and McCashland is used there, either Bob Lyall or Dick Prusia is likely to get the call at center.

Doug Thomas and Eugene Haman are reserve fullbacks who also may see service.

Thursday the Huskers took it easy and polished their offensive and defense for the Cyclones.

Petersen Mends

Tackle Jerry Petersen missed practice again Thursday because of an attack of tonsilitis, but he is expected to be ready Saturday.

Same Backfield

Elliott said Thursday that he is counting on the services of Halfbacks Bennie Dillard and Willie Greenlaw against Iowa State, but that the starting backfield will be the same as the one that opened against South Dakota and Ohio State.

'Last Year'

When Elliott was queried about the point spreads that favor the Huskers from six to 14 points over Iowa State he said:

"Those points must be based on last year, because they certainly can't be based on this year.

"Iowa State has really improved. I was greatly impressed by the movies of their game with Denver and Coach Scarbrough (scouted the Cyclones at Northwestern) reports they have a fine team.

"We'll have to play our best and get some breaks at the same time if we hope to win.

"Points? I'll be very happy to win by one point."

LH Favored Over Islanders; Rockets, SE Seek First Win

GAMES TONIGHT

Lincoln High	at Grand Island, 8 p.m.
Northeast	at Beatrice, 7:30 p.m.
Southeast	at Norfolk, 8 p.m.

By BOB McCOY
Star Sports Staff Writer

There will be no local prep action tonight on the home front, as three Lincoln teams are on the road and one played Thursday night.

Piux X got its one day head start on this week's action off on the wrong foot as it journeyed to David City St. Mary to take a 13-7 defeat Thursday night.

The Lincoln High Links should be ready to go when they take to the road against unbeaten Grand Island. The Islanders, however, have not been particularly impressive in any of their three winning appearances and the Links figure to be the favorite after being edged by Omaha Central, lacing North Platte and showing well last week against tough Washington High of Sioux Falls, S. D.

Whatever the outcome, the traditional battle still figures to be another "rock-em, sock-em" affair.

Northeast, still unable to get into the win column, travels to Beatrice to face the Orangemen there in a Mid-East conference battle. The Gage county crew picked up its first victory of the current campaign last week by trouncing Southeast, 37-0 and should rate the favorite in this contest.

Southeast will try its luck tonight at Norfolk in a game which figures to be as close as the fuzz on a peach.

The Knights should be ready for this one after three straight whitewashings by Fremont, Hastings and Beatrice.

Famous Strong Man To Marry

TOCCOA, Ga. (AP)—Paul Anderson, 23-year-old Georgian often hailed as the strongest man in the world, is engaged to be married.

Anderson's engagement to Patricia Gail Taylor, 17-year-old senior at Tallulah Falls High School, was disclosed Thursday by Mrs. Charles Collins, grandmother of the birde-to-be. She said no date for the wedding has been set.

Paul was not immediately available, but his father confirmed the young couple had become engaged. He said the wedding would not take place until next summer.

Young Anderson, a 300-pounder, currently is training for the Olympics where his world records are expected to give the U. S. weight-lifting team an advantage.

Patricia Gail, who tops the scales at 112, met Anderson at Lake Rabun, a nearby resort, this summer while posing for newspaper photographs. They have been going steady ever since.

Greenberg Denies Farrell Report

NEW YORK (INS)—Hank Greenberg, General Manager of the Cleveland Indians, denied Thursday a report that Kerby Farrell would replace resigned Al Lopez as manager of the Tribe.

"It's not true," said Greenberg of the rumored appointment of Farrell, a first-baseman with the Chicago White Sox in 1945 who now is managing Indianapolis of the American Association.

"We haven't discussed the manager's job with anyone and we're in no hurry to do so."

It's conference time around the ol' Big Seven and the indications are that every club will have to be on its best behavior each Saturday.

As of the moment there are several clubs that could land a New Year's vacation in Miami. So any club that slips will not only have an unhappy Saturday, but will run the risk of a Vitamin C deficiency.

This week the guessing game offers only one cinch—Oklahoma over Kansas State. The rest of the contests are up for grabs.

After regaining some confidence last week—only seven misses—it's time for another look. On with the blindfold:

Big Seven

NEBRASKA 20, IOWA STATE 13—Huskers face mighty tough chore, but repeat of second half show at Ohio State would cinch it.

OKLAHOMA 40, KANSAS STATE 0—After getting drubbed by Colorado, there's no hope for Wildcats against mighty Sooners.

SOUTHERN METHODIST 13, MISSOURI 7—Tigers may be ready to surprise.

COLORADO 26, KANSAS 13—Buffalo offense improving and Jayhawk defense still questionable.

Big Ten

IOWA 21, OREGON STATE 14 —The Hawkeyes have it.

NOTRE DAME 28, INDIANA 6 —Irish aren't fooled often.

TULANE 27, NORTHWESTERN 13—Green Wave to rock 'n roll.

MICHIGAN STATE 21, MICHIGAN 19—Spartans can't stumble once or they'll be chasing.

MINNESOTA 14, PURDUE 6—Gopher line big and tough.

OHIO STATE 20, STANFORD 7—Too many Buckeyes, too few Indians.

Omaha Boxers Score In Trials

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Technical knockouts came in flurries as the Mid-Western Olympic Boxing Trials began before an estimated 1,800 fans here Thursday night.

Six of the first 10 bouts failed to go the distance. There were 21 matches scheduled for the opening session of the three-night show.

One of the technical knockouts was scored by Joe Parks, Omaha, Neb., who put away Gary Sturdivant, Des Moines, Iowa, in the third round.

Two of the early bouts went on split decisions. Jack McCracken, St. Louis, outpointed George Cruz, Omaha, in their first-round bout at 156 pounds, and Alvin Richardson, Ft. Riley, Kan., gained a close decision over Wayne Hagedorn, Omaha, at 139 pounds.

Jenson: 'Fullmer Will Take Title'

WEST JORDAN, Itah (AP) — Manager Marv Jenson says his fighter, Gene Fullmer, may not get too much money in his December bout with Sugar Ray Robinson, but will take "the world middleweight championship!"

Jenson returned from New York where contracts were signed for the title fight.

NU-Cyclone Tilt Termed 'Key Game'

AMES, Ia.—Iowa State's "key" game—that's the tag hung on the Nebraska-Iowa State battle coming up at Lincoln Saturday.

On the outcome, thinks Cyclone head man Vince DiFrancesca, will hang much of the fortune of the big Cardinal team this year.

"I've pointed to the Denver and Nebraska games as our key contests ever since the fall drills started," DiFrancesca said. "We need to win the first game of the year and the first conference game if we want to have a chance to be an upsetter all season long. We have a sound club this year and it needs only a key win or two to fool all those experts who tabbed it for last in the Big Seven. We need to win this one."

To do something about getting ready to win the game DiFrancesca has shifted John Scheldrup to the starting right end position. The big Oak Park, Ill., junior has played fine ball in both games so far, with fine pass catching and good defense counterbalancing some spotty blocking. He has shown tremendous desire all year and Vince figures he has earned the right to show what he can do as a starter.

Another man getting a promotion has been Chuck Latting, third string left halfback who has scored three of the four touchdowns this year. Latting was moved up during the week as a reward for his fine work.

DiFrancesca hinted at other shifts but listed none as definite, except on Scheldrup and Latting.

'31 Grad Team To Be Selected

NEW YORK (AP) — Sports Illustrated, weekly sports magazine, will pick a silver anniversary All-America football team this year, its managing editor, Sidney L. James, said Thursday.

All colleges in the United States have been asked to name a senior letter winner of 1931 who has "most distinguished himself in his chosen field of life, whether in athletics, business, public service or the professions."

The magazine will cull an All-America team from these nominees. Each will be awarded minature, silver goal posts sometime in December.

Series Comes 2nd For Duck Hunters

Pius X Surprised By DC St. Mary's, 13-7

By RON GIBSON
Star Sports Staff Writer

DAVID CITY — David City St. Mary's surprised Lincoln Pius X, 13-7, in a battle of hard-charging lines Thursday night.

St. Mary's, winning its 13th game in a row, took a 13-0 lead in the third quarter and staved off a comeback attempt by Pius.

Penalties hurt the Lincoln team. Two long runs by Joe Neal — one for a touchdown in the fourth quarter and a similar jaunt in the first quarter — were nullified by penalties.

The quick St. Mary's forwards were too much for Pius. They kept Lincoln's backs bottled up except for the long runs of Neal.

Bill Meysenburg and Bob Roh, the latter an all-state six-man center in 1955, led the St. Mary's defensive charges.

Powerful Ken Dill and swift Tom Peters provided both St. Mary's touchdowns and got most of the yardage.

Quarterback Max Coufal steered the Knights to their first touchdown in the second quarter. He led a drive to the Pius 22 yard line, from where Dill scored on a shot off right tackle.

The score remained 6-0 at halftime, but the Knights drove 75 yards to boost their lead early in the third quarter.

Peters got the touchdown on a 49 yard run. He shot through the middle on a quick opener, eluded the grasping Neal and sprinted away.

Peters' conversion made it 13-0.

End Harold Aksamit — whose defensive play sparkled — recovered a St. Mary's funble on the Pius 27 to set up the 73 yard drive which resulted in Pius' only touchdown.

The score came on a fourth down play. Neal took a handoff from George Easley and ran 27 yards for the touchdown. He added the extra point on a run.

Stan Larchick's jarring tackle of Peters gave Pius a last chance to win. Carchick, covering a punt, hit the Knight back hard and forced a fumble which Aksamit recovered on the Knights' 30.

On the next play Neal swept left end to score but a clipping penalty nullified the gain and Pius was unable to move the ball after that.

Early in the first quarter, Neal ran 54 yards on the same handoff play and raced to the end zone but a holding penalty called the play back.

Newcomers Battling For Quarterback Job As Plainsmen Host Wayne Tonight

Two newcomers to the Nebraska Wesleyan University football squad this fall will continue their battle for the steady job of quarterbacking the club as Wesleyan battles Wayne Friday night at Wesleyan.

Robert Heffelfinger, Lincoln sophomore and service vet, will get the starting call. But he'll probably alternate with Lonnie Johnson, Oakland freshman, who has impressed coaches with the way he handles the team on the field.

Heffelfinger reported late after enrolling at Wesleyan this fall and played in his first game for Wesleyan Saturday at Chadron.

"Both of them have done well," Coach Kieth Skogman said. "They have that take-charge ability needed at the signal-calling spot."

"Lonnie has impressed us too," Skogman said, "with the speed that he has worked into the Wesleyan system and been able to take over the team when he's on the field.

Heffelfinger won the starting assignment with a good performance against Chadron last Saturday.

"It was his first time in a game for Wesleyan and he did a top-notch job at signal calling," Skogman said.

Heffelfinger is a 25-year-old, 165-pounder. Johnson is a 159-pounder, and is 18 years old. Heffelfinger is a vet who had played service ball.

Puerto Rico Barred From Olympic Games

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — Puerto Rico, working fast with the hopes of getting back into the good graces of the International Olympic Committee, Thursday night elected a new Olympic committee.

Earlier in the day the IOC executive board meeting in Lausanne, Switzerland, barred Puerto Rico's athletes from the 1956 games at Melbourne because of government interference. Two other nations which had been dropped for the same reason were formally re-admitted.

The new Puerto Rico committee, headed by Jaime Annexy, was elected at a special meeting of representatives of all five local sports federations who are affiliated with international organizations.

The old committee was headed by Julio Monagas, a government employee.

The IOC action in Lausanne followed Wednesday night's decision to suspend the controversial rule requiring a declaration by athletes that they did not intend to turn professional.

Avery Brundage, IOC president, said that "certain local laws," were responsible for this condition and the board had acted after receiving a protest from the National Shooting Assn. of Puerto Rico, claiming that it had been excluded from the elections held in Puerto Rican sports federations.

Asked if it would be possible for Puerto Rico to set up an acceptable Olympic committee, Brundage said:

"There might be, but they would have to work very rapidly."

At the same time, the board restored to good standing the national teams of Argentina (other than rowers) and Turkey, which had previously been threatened with expulsion because of government interference with their national Olympic committees.

Softens Rule

Although the board softened the rigorous rule against "intending" athletes to meet criticism from sports organizations throughout the world, it took two actions concerning professionalism.

The board confirmed without reservation a recent decision of the International Rowing Federation to bar Argentina's oarsmen from the Olympics because of professionalism.

It decided to draw the attention of the Italian Olympic Committee to charges of professionalism made against Italy's world bicycle record-holder, Ercole Baldini. It left the responsibility of Baldini's Olympic qualification up to the Italian committee.

Other actions taken by the board at the two-day meeting:

1. Overruled a British effort to change the designation of the Irish team from "Ireland" to Eire. The Marquess of Exeter, IOC vice president, made this proposal. There has been a long-standing dispute about this designation, arising from political claims over the sovereignty of Northern Ireland.

2. Decided to suspend during the Melbourne Games an Olympic rule against the award of two medals for a single performance. This will make it possible for athletes competing in such events as gymnastics and pentathlon to receive medals for both individual and team standings.

3. Decided that, despite the forthcoming return of the Saar to German sovereignty, Saar athletes would only be permitted to compete for the German team if they were born German citizens.

Limit Officials

4. Reconfirmed a previous ruling that only three officials will be permitted to parade with each national team in the opening ceremony and that officials of the various international sports organizations would not be permitted to parade at all.

The new rule banning international officials from the field had given rise to reports in Australia that the Duke of Edinburgh, representing Queen Elizabeth, would not be permitted to appear on the field when he formally opens the games.

Brundage said these reports were based on a "complete misunderstanding." He said the IOC never intended to keep the Duke off the field, but it would not permit a long line of officials to parade for a handshaking presentation ceremony in public.

Coaches In Trim, Too

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Coach Andy Pilney of Tulane believes a coaching staff should be in as good a condition as the team's players. The Tulane staff's weight averages about the same as their playing weights while in college.

Million Dollar Race

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP)—The Garden State, world's richest horse race, is close to the one million dollar mark. It will have its fourth running at Garden State Park on Oct. 27. The first three runnings totaled $821,730. This year's event is expected to gross almost $290,000.

Harbert, Metzger To Lead Wesleyan

The two starting tackles will be co-captains for the Nebraska Wesleyan University football team as the Plainsmen meet Wayne at Wesleyan Friday night.

Coach Kieth Skogman said seniors Roger Harbert, York, and Gordon Metzger, Lincoln, will lead the Plainsmen as they go after their first win of the 1956 season.

Harbert is a 20-year-old 198-pounder and Metzger is a 22-year-old 197-pounder.

Harvard Cancels Basketball Games With Southerners

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Harvard University Thursday cancelled a Christmas vacation trip south for its basketball team, obviously in protest to racial discrimination.

The announcement was made by Athletic Director Tom Bolles.

Harvard's wording of its explanation is as follows

"Acting in its belief that Harvard alone must decide on the eligibility of its students to compete, the Harvard faculty committee on athletics has withdrawn its approval of the trip which had included two games in locations, where, under present conditions, this control of eligibility would not be possible."

The games on the tour included Quantico Marines, North Carolina, Georgia Tech and Loyola of New Orleans.

The state of Louisiana has banned interracial athletic competition by law. As a state-supported institution, Georgia Tech comes under the heading of state schools against which Negroes cannot play.

Omaha To Stage '57 Gals' Western Amateur Tourney

OMAHA (AP)—The 1957 Women's Western Amateur golf tournament will be held at the Omaha Country Club next July 15 through July 27, Mrs. Robert Hall tournament chairman, announced Thursday.

This is the 56th year of the Women's Western Amateur, the oldest women's golf organization in the country. But it is the first time the tournament has been assigned to Omaha.

Mrs. Hall said that Ann Quast of Marysville, Ore., the defending champion is expected to participate. At 18, Miss Quast is the youngest titleholder in the history of the tournament.

Richard Walker is president of the Omaha Country Club. Mrs. Hall said she will announce the tournament committee personnel next month.

Nats Said Moving To Los Angeles

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Washington Post and Times Herald said Thursday night that Calvin Griffith, president of the Washington baseball club, has disclosed he has under consideration a plan to move the club franchise to California, possibly Los Angeles, for the 1957 season.

The newspaper said in a story from New York that Griffith made the disclosure to reporters who questioned him on the activity of California interests with whom he has been conferring during the World Series.

"If we make the move, the Griffith family will still retain control of the team," Griffith said. "We do not plan to sell to anybody."

Griffith said that any decision to move for the 1957 season would depend on American League approval of the transfer before Oct. 31 the deadline on any franchise shifts.

"We would need the favorable votes of six of the eight teams in the league, including our own," Griffith said.

Agajanian Quits Job As Kicker

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)— Ben Agajanian, the place kick specialist, announced Thursday he is retiring again from pro football, mainly because the New York Giants won't let him commute between his home here and work.

Bootin' Ben said he wants to be at home most of the time because he now has three children, including a 3-week-old son, and because his business, a sporting goods store, demands his time.

"I've got just as much punch left, but I can't leave my family," said Agajanian. He said he tried to work out a commuting deal with the Giants but they wouldn't go for it.

Ben, 37, has been working out with the Giants this year. The kicker has played 11 years of pro ball, including stints with the Los Angeles Rams, Pittsburgh Steelers and the last three years with the Giants. He retired in 1950 but came back in 1953 to join the Rams.

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Credell Green was supposed to be the slowest back on the Husky squad but in 1955 he high-stepped his way to 258 yards in one afternoon against Washington State. He's from Richmond, Calif.

Nats Said Moving To Los Angeles

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Washington Post and Times Herald said Thursday night that Calvin Griffith, president of the Washington baseball club, has disclosed he has under consideration a plan to move the club franchise to California, possibly Los Angeles, for the 1957 season.

The newspaper said in a story from New York that Griffith made the disclosure to reporters who questioned him on the activity of California interests with whom he has been conferring during the World Series.

"If we make the move, the Griffith family will still retain control of the team," Griffith said. "We do not plan to sell to anybody."

Griffith said that any decision to move for the 1957 season would depend on American League approval of the transfer before Oct. 31, the deadline on any franchise shifts.

"We would need the favorable votes of six of the eight teams in the league, including our own," Griffith said.

Agajanian Quits Job As Kicker

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)— Ben Agajanian, the place kick specialist, announced Thursday he is retiring again from pro football, mainly because the New York Giants won't let him commute between his home here and work.

Bootin' Ben said he wants to be at home most of the time because he now has three children, including a 3-week-old son, and because his business, a sporting goods store, demands his time.

"I've got just as much punch left, but I can't leave my family," said Agajanian. He said he tried to work out a commuting deal with the Giants but they wouldn't go for it.

Ben, 37, has been working out with the Giants this year. The kicker has played 11 years of pro ball, including stints with the Los Angeles Rams, Pittsburgh Steelers and the last three years with the Giants. He retired in 1950 but came back in 1953 to join the Rams.

Court Denies Tamburello Draft Appeal

BALTIMORE (AP)—Frank Tamburello, drafted Monday virtually off the University of Maryland campus where he had been a star football quarterback, was turned down Thursday in a court move to get out of the Army.

Federal Judge R. Dorsey Watkins refused to order the 22-year-old Tamburello's draft board to reconsider their June 22 classification which led to his induction.

The judge took note that it received "consideration up and down the line." He mentioned it had been upheld by the state appeals board, been referred to the state and national selective directors, and a letter written by Tamburello to President Eisenhower about it.

Tamburello had based his appeal for relief to the federal court on a petition claiming his draft board had not considered up-to-date information about his college studies when they withdrew his exemption as a student, that he was not granted all his rights, and that "prejudice or bias" was involved.

Hughes Resigns Coaching Post

SANTA BARBARA Calif. (AP)—Tom Hughes, former Purdue University athlete and former University of Oregon football coach, resigned Thursday as head coach at Santa Barbara College on the advice of his physician.

College sources said he is suffering from nervous exhaustion. Hughes resigned as assistant coach of the Baltimore Colts professional football team last May to take over the coaching job here.

Rainy Day Series Notes:

'Umpire' Yogi—Haven't Missed Yet

By ED CORRIGAN

BROOKLYN (AP)—Rainy day meanderings·

New York Yankees' Manager Casey Stengel isn't anti-Ebbets field, mind you, but the place confuses him—something like some of the professor's oratory to newsmen . . . "These ground rules around here," he growled while sitting out Thursday's rainout, "they're too complicated . . . I've told my men just to keep running on anything that hits the right-field screen"

Brooklyn Coach Billy Herman has a great time kidding Yank catcher Yogi Berra . . . When Herman spotted Yogi in the runway under the dugout, he yelled: "Hey, Yogi, how's your umpiring? . . . "I haven't missed one all season," called back Yogi . . He has a habit, irritating to the umpires, no doubt, of calling strikes and balls . . . They're all strikes, though.

The two old-timers of the World Series, Brooklyn pitcher Sal Maglie and New York outfielder Enos Slaughter, were holding court together . . . "You know," said Maglie, the hero of the first Dodger victory, "if someone would have told me I'd be in another series two years ago, I'd have said 'Thanks, but you're dreaming'" . . . "Well," said Slaughter, "this is my first series since 1946 (remember how he broke it up?) and there's still a little left . . . I'll be giving it all I have and I must say I feel almost as good now as I did then."

If he gets into a tight spot today Stengel probably will call on Johnny Kucks . . . "Our ideal type of pitcher for Ebbets Field is that young fella," said Stengel, "Because he makes 'em hit into the ground . . . But he's been pitching better in the first six innings than in the last three lately, so he stays in the bullpen."

Kayo Fighters Meet Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tony Anthony of New York, one of the country's few light-heavyweight contenders, encounters Clarence Hinnant, a hometown boy with a good knockout record, in a 10-round bout at Capitol Arena tonight

Anthony himself has a better than fair kayo punch, having stopped 21 of his 27 victims in 31 fights.

The New York boxer, a 1952 Olympic Games performer, is Ring Magazine's seventh ranked challenger for Archie Moore's light-heavyweight crown, but is unlisted by the National Boxing Assn.

Hinnant, 23-year-old Washingtonian who never fought as an amateur, isn't considered by either of the rating groups but in recent matches has stopped Al Andrews, Willie Troy and Julio Carreras, Cuban light-heavyweight champ.

The bout will be carried over a TV-radio hookup (NBC, 8 p m, CST). It will be scored by the 10-point "must" system, which allows the winner of each round 10 and the loser 9 or under.

ANSWER

4. Reverse. Worst call. The slowest play of the four. It could possibly enable the end to gain some poise.

3. Slant. Hits harder and faster than No. 4 but there's not the chance for a gain as in our better choices

2. End run around defensive left. Rates No. 2 because of deception in top choice.

1. In and out end run. Best call. The inexperienced end would likely be eager to go for the fake inside.

Ninety - nine veterans — two of them coeds — are enrolled.

3 Nebraska Lawyers Named To Committee

The special committee on estate and gift taxes of the Section on Taxation of the American Bar Assn. will include three Nebraska lawyers, Nebraska Bar Assn. sources reported.

Politics Charged In Suez

Aswan Dam Offer Dropped Because Of Morse—Long

WASHINGTON (INS)— A Senate Democrat charged Thursday that the Eisenhower administration's fear of losing the Oregon political contest touched off the entire Suez Canal dispute.

Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La), said he is convinced the administration withdrew its offer to help build the Aswan Dam in Egypt because of what it feared Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore), would say in his campaign for re-election.

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N. J.), declared that Long's charge "simply is not true." Smith, who also is a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said: "There is no relation whatsover between the contest in Oregon and the Suez Canal issue."

Smith said he had been in close touch with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles on the entire Suez dispute and had there been any connection "he would have told me."

Long, noting Morse's long fight for a government-financed Hells Canyon Dam in the northwest, said in an interview:

"I think the administration canceled its offer to Egypt because it could just hear Morse going up and down Oregon declaring that this government wouldn't help build Hells Canyon dam but it would put millions into a dam in Egypt."

It was immediately after Dulles withdrew the U. S. offer to help pay for the high dam in Egypt that Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser nationalized the Suez Canal.

Morse, who left the Republican party to become an independent and then a Democrat, is opposed in his re-election fight by Douglas McKay, who resigned as Interior Secretary to run for the Senate Morse claims that the administration would rather see him licked in November than any other Senate Democrat. Public power is a leading issue in the Northwest.

'Near Impotence'

PARIS (AP) — Andre le Troquer, newly re-elected speaker of the French National Assembly, denounced what he called the "near impotence" of U. S. policy in the Suez crisis. He blamed it on the election campaign.

His complaint echoed French newspapers, which say the United States isn't supporting Britain and France nearly enough in their effort to do something about Egypt's nationalization of the great waterway.

Le Troquer, a Socialist, said in his inaugural address to the Assembly that the "annoying delays have their source in a U. S. Constitution which, though it gives the executive a direct popular basis, reduces it to near impotence during a long pre-election period."

'Much To Blame'

WASHINGTON (INS)—A former Suez Canal pilot charged that State Department mistakes in dealing with Egypt were "much to blame" for Cairo's decision to seize the vital waterway.

Capt. Al W. Beale Jr., who was one of two American pilots working on the canal when it was nationalized, said that the first of the errors was the West's refusal to sell arms to Egypt.

6-Month Sentence Irks Prisoner; He Wants Seven

LYNN, Mass. (AP)—"I guess we'll have to give him six months," said Judge William J. Landergan after Riley Feido, about 60, pleaded guilty to attempted larceny.

"Make that seven, will you, your honor?" asked Feido, who was arrested as he tried to break into a Saugus golf driving range office.

"It'll be a little warmer when I come out,' 'he explained politely.

"All right," said the judge. "We will gladly oblige."

"I want to thank you for your consideration," Feido responded.

"I want to thank you," Judge Landergan replied. "You've been the pleasantest prisoner I've had to send away."

'Long Gone'

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Here's heartening news for Bing Crosby, who wrote a London colmunist that he is "long gone" as a pop singer.

Capitol records reported that Crosby's records of "True Love" is the firm's No. 1 seller in 85 per cent of the markets. Also, his album of the "High Society" score is selling big.

Capitol believes there's life in the 52-year-old crooner yet.

Politics Charged In Suez

Aswan Dam Offer Dropped Because Of Morse—Long

WASHINGTON (INS)— A Senate Democrat charged Thursday that the Eisenhower administration's fear of losing the Oregon political contest touched off the entire Suez Canal dispute.

Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La), said he is convinced the administration withdrew its offer to help build the Aswan Dam in Egypt because of what it feared Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore), would say in his campaign for re-election.

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N. J.), declared that Long's charge "simply is not true." Smith, who also is a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said: "There is no relation whatsover between the contest in Oregon and the Suez Canal issue."

Smith said he had been in close touch with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles on the entire Suez dispute and had there been any connection "he would have told me."

Long, noting Morse's long fight for a government-financed Hells Canyon Dam in the northwest, said in an interview:

"I think the administration canceled its offer to Egypt because it could just hear Morse going up and down Oregon declaring that this government wouldn't help build Hells Canyon dam but it would put millions into a dam in Egypt."

It was immediately after Dulles withdrew the U. S. offer to help pay for the high dam in Egypt that Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser nationalized the Suez Canal.

Truckers Ask Relief From 'Tight Money' Policy

WASHINGTON (INS) — The giant trucking industry protested Thursday that the government's tight money policy has dried up normal credit sources and said it has asked administration officials for relief.

The industry, which claims to rank second to agriculture as the nation's largest employer, said it had presented its protest at a conference Wednesday with high-ranking government financial leaders.

Government officials participating in the meeting were Undersecretary of the Treasury W. Randolph Burgess; A. L. Mills Jr., a member of the board of governors of the Federal Reserve System, and Raymond J. Saulnier, a member of the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

While there was no intimation that immediate action is planned, there were reports that further conferences may take place.

A plea for help was presented to the government officials by a special credit committee of American Trucking Association, Inc., which represents the industry. Chairman of the committee is Walter F. Carey, Birmingham, Mich.

The association said that Carey acted as spokesman at the conference and pressed these points:

1. The government, in tightening up on credit in recent years through increases in the Federal Reserve bank loan rate and other measures, has seriously restricted the availability of credit for equipment purchases by truck operators.

2. Availability of credit from smaller banks in connection with loans by the small business administration is "largely theoretical," since the SBA requires bank participation and banks, in the present tight money market, will not pariticpate.

3. Refusal of the SBA to make loans to truck operators with gross earnings of two million dollars or more a year is "completely unrealistic," since the average net earnings on two million of gross is only $47,000, which is "not big business."

Railroads 'Solid'

4. The railroads, "whose credit position is solid," have been given rapid tax write-offs of capital investment to the extent of six billion dollars while the trucking industry has been granted only 54 million dollars, though its gross revenue "is half as great."

5. "Unable to obtain adequate credit through normal channels, truck operators are finding it necessary to seek relief through small loan and neighborhood finance companies which charge prohibitive interest rates."

Second Blast

MELBOURNE (INS) — Britain detonated successfully the second nuclear device in its series of atomic tests at the Maralinga proving grounds in South Australia.

Gruenther Cites Training Needs

BRUSSELS (INS) — Supreme Allied Commander Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther said Thursday if war comes the Atlantic Pact powers will place "a very high premium on highly trained men."

Gruenther a native of Platte Center, Neb., who is stepping down from his post, came to Belgium on a farewell visit.

At a news conference he refused direct comment on West Germany's decision to limit the military service of draftees to only 12 months.

But the general pointed out that 24 months is the minimum training period for conscripts in both Russia and the Soviet satellites.

Deltha H. Bixler Funeral Saturday

Funeral services for Deltha H. Bixler, 59, of 2921 So. 12th, will be 9:30 a.m. Saturday at Blessed Sacrament Catholic Church, with Msgr. A. J. Kraemer officiating.

He was a member of Blessed Sacrament Catholic Church, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, Disabled American Veterans and Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 131.

Surviving are his wife, Vera; sons, Robert S. and James A.; mother, Mrs. Lulu Underwood of Bedford, Ia.; and two grandsons, Louis and Bobby.

4 Killed

MANILA (Friday) (INS)— A Philippine Army spokesman said a light plane carrying four persons including a brigadier general exploded in mid-air over northern Mindanao Island.

He said Brig. Gen. Patricio Borromeo, military area commander, and the other three persons aboard the Air Force Cessna all were killed in the mysterious accident, the cause of which is under investigation.

Grains Slip Down For Small Losses

CHICAGO (AP)—A combination of hedging and profit taking caused grains to slide down for small losses on the Board of Trade Thursday.

In wheat and rye it was mostly profit taking which caused the slump. In corn and soybeans hedging pressure had a lot to do with the decline. Oats held steady.

Wheat closed ½ to 1 cent lower, corn ½-⅝ lower, oats ¼ lower to ⅛ higher, rye 1 to 1½ lower, soybeans ½ lower to ⅛ higher and lard 5 to 13 cents a hundred pounds lower.

'Too Much Kick In Mink Tonic' —Owner Sues

OMAHA (AP)—Lloyd Pruner, Elkhorn, Neb., mink farmer, claimed Thursday in a damage suit that 97 of his animals died after taking an overdose of tonic.

Pruner's District Court petition against the Purina Co. asks $3,870 for the loss of his mink and $115.26 rebate on the tonic.

He said he was sent a concentrate four times more powerful than the tonic he had ordered.

Speaker Hits State 'Injustice' To Osteopaths

Failure by 12 states, including Nebraska and Kansas, to recognize fully doctors of osteopathy was labeled a "gross injustice" Thursday night by Lloyd Hall, representative for the Kansas Osteopathic Association.

Speaking before a Nebraska Osteopathic committee, Hall said that doctors of osteopathy represented "one of the most highly trained professions in the United States" but nevertheless have not gained "full recognition" in professional medical circles.

Hall pointed out that the group can use manipulative therapy in all states, but that special limitations in 12 states, sprinkled throughout the country, are imposed upon the use of surgery, drugs and chemicals.

A graduate of the University of Nebraska in 1942 and of the Law School in 1948, Hall discussed the minimum educational requirements for doctorates in osteopathy at great length.

Pre - professional requirements for doctors of osteopathy, he said, are somewhat higher than those for doctors of medicine. Professional, internship and residency requirements are about the same for the two-doctorates, he continued.

Hall also spoke of the American Medical Association as the "main source of opposition at the present time." He mentioned that a special AMA committee made an extensive study of osteopathy, recommending in June, 1953, that more complete recognition of the doctors of osteopathy be authorized by the group.

Unfortunately, Hall said, the report was rejected.

Davis Enters Plea Of Not Guilty To Robbery Of Bank

OMAHA (AP) — Clifford Harold Davis, charged in the robbery of a Decatur, Neb., bank, pleaded innocent to that charge and to two narcotics counts Thursday.

Davis appeared in Federal District Court after arriving from Des Moines with U.S. Marshal Roland A. Walter, Des Moines.

Davis had been granted a week's delay in his Omaha court appearance. Des Moines authorities had been holding him on a charge of breaking and entering.

The surrender of Davis to the U.S. marshal here released $17,500 in bonds which had been posted by professional bondsman L. S. (Bob) Cornett.

Davis was taken to Douglas County Jail where he was unable to post $30,000 in bonds.

Lincoln Man Found Dead Beside Track

TECUMSEH—A man, identified by Lincoln relatives as Dave Rau, 44, of 1327 So. 9th, Lincoln, was found dead about 10:30 a.m. Thursday, beside the railroad tracks one mile west of Saint Mary.

C. V. Ziss, a railroad inspector, and Roadmaster L. N. Uri discovered the body while making a routine check of the track.

Johnson County Sheriff A. J. Olson of Tecumseh said the man had been hit and killed by a train, but did not know whether or not he fell from the train. The apparent time of death was Wednesday night or early Thursday morning, Olson said.

His family told Olson that Rau had left home about noon Wednesday, telling them only that he was going to visit relatives in Kansas City, Kan.

Rau had lived in Lincoln 42 years.

His survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Jean Foreman; a son, David, both of Lincoln; father, David of Lincoln; sisters, Mrs. Jacob Busch and Mrs. Ralph Giebelhaus, both of Lincoln; a brother, Alex of Omaha, and one grandchild.

Students To Plan Redevelopment Of Sidney, Mullen

Architectural students at the University of Nebraska will attempt in classroom work to redevelop architecturally four different areas in Sidney and the main street in Mullen.

Both Nebraska towns were selected as study centers for the project.

As part of the Nebraska Community Education Project, the program will attempt to stimulate people's sensibilities toward the materialistic development of their towns.

The architecture class of eight students is directed by Eric Jensen, associate professor.

The Sidney project will involve a housing area, the highway entering town, a slum area and the city square.

The eight students participating are: Iraj Dastan, Iran; J. C. Graver, Lincoln; John Merrow, Lincoln; Donald Perrenoud, Omaha; John W. Rudd, Nebraska City; W. D. Schwabauer, Lincoln, and Paul C. Zucker, Scribner.

McCook Schools Make Claim To Meter Fine Funds

The State Supreme Court was asked Thursday to rule that money paid as a result of parking meter violations in McCook belongs to the school district.

The brief was filed by the McCook school district.

Nebraska's Constitution prescribes that "fines, penalties or license moneys" collected by cities shall go to the schools.

The Red Willow District Court held that the parking meter violation payments did not come within this category and that the city could use the money to reimburse itself for expenses in the administration of the parking meter ordinance.

The school district has appealed.

"We believe," the district said in the brief, "that the Constitution of the state . . . was intended to provide that all funds acquired by a city under its police powers, regardless of what said funds are called, should be the property of the schools."

Stock Market Prices Sag; Volume Down

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market's latest rally bogged down Thursday in as dull a session as Wall Street has seen in a month.

Trading limped along at a sluggish pace as key stocks declined fractions to around a point.

Business totaled 1,600,000 shares. This compared with 2,180,000 shares Wednesday when the recovery drive was still going strong, and 2,400,000 Tuesday when the recent upturn started.

It was evident that professional traders had decided to take their profits following the strong advance.

Prices showed firmer tendencies toward the close, however, and many leaders finished above their lows for the day.

The Associated Press 60-stock average declined 10 cents at $176.60 with the industrials component up 10 cents, the rails down 40 cents and the utilities unchanged.

Before Thursday's standoff, the market had regained about one-fifth of the ground lost during its late summer decline. The big question confronting traders Thursday was which way the market would move from here on. Some brokers had expected the market to regain about one-third of its August-September loss before attempting a new test of its recent low support level. Consensus was that the market's hesitant performance Thursday, just as the rally of the two days before, was chiefly due to technical factors.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mixed but with a leaning toward the upside. Sales totaled 560,000 shares, against 700,000 Wednesday.

Grains Slip Down For Small Losses

CHICAGO (AP)—A combination of hedging and profit taking caused grains to slide down for small losses on the Board of Trade Thursday.

In wheat and rye it was mostly profit taking which caused the slump. In corn and soybeans hedging pressure had a lot to do with the decline. Oats held steady.

Wheat closed ½ to 1 cent lower, corn ½-⅝ lower, oats ¼ lower to ⅛ higher, rye 1 to 1¾ lower, soybeans ½ lower to ¼ higher and lard 5 to 13 cents a hundred pounds lower.

'Too Much Kick In Mink Tonic' —Owner Sues

OMAHA (AP)—Lloyd Pruner, Elkhorn, Neb., mink farmer, claimed Thursday in a damage suit that 97 of his animals died after taking an overdose of tonic.

Pruner's District Court petition against the Purina Co. asks $3,870 for the loss of his mink and $115.26 rebate on the tonic.

He said he was sent a concentrate four times more powerful than the tonic he had ordered.

Speaker Hits State 'Injustice' To Osteopaths

Failure by 12 states, including Nebraska and Kansas, to recognize fully doctors of osteopathy was labeled a "gross injustice" Thursday night by Lloyd Hall, representative for the Kansas Osteopathic Association.

Speaking before a Nebraska Osteopathic committee, Hall said that doctors of osteopathy represented "one of the most highly trained professions in the United States" but nevertheless have not gained "full recognition" in professional medical circles.

Hall pointed out that the group can use manipulative therapy in all states, but that special limitations in 12 states, sprinkled throughout the country, are imposed upon the use of surgery, drugs and chemicals.

A graduate of the University of Nebraska in 1942 and of the Law School in 1948, Hall discussed the minimum educational requirements for doctorates in osteopathy at great length.

Pre - professional requirements for doctors of osteopathy, he said, are somewhat higher than those for doctors of medicine. Professional, internship and residency requirements are about the same for the two-doctorates, he continued.

Hall also spoke of the American Medical Association as the "main source of opposition at the present time." He mentioned that a special AMA committee made an extensive study of osteopathy, recommending in June, 1953, that more complete recognition of the doctors of osteopathy be authorized by the group.

Unfortunately, Hall said, the report was rejected.

Davis Enters Plea Of Not Guilty To Robbery Of Bank

OMAHA (AP) — Clifford Harold Davis, charged in the robbery of a Decatur, Neb., bank, pleaded innocent to that charge and to two narcotics counts Thursday.

Davis appeared in Federal District Court after arriving from Des Moines with U.S. Marshal Roland A. Walter, Des Moines.

Davis had been granted a week's delay in his Omaha court appearance. Des Moines authorities had been holding him on a charge of breaking and entering.

The surrender of Davis to the U.S. marshal here released $17,500 in bonds which had been posted by professional bondsman L. S. (Bob) Cornett.

Davis was taken to Douglas County Jail where he was unable to post $30,000 in bonds.

Lincoln Man Found Dead Beside Track

TECUMSEH—A man, identified by Lincoln relatives as Dave Rau, 44, of 1327 So. 9th, Lincoln, was found dead about 10:30 a.m. Thursday, beside the railroad tracks one mile west of Saint Mary.

C. V. Ziss, a railroad inspector, and Roadmaster L. N. Uri discovered the body while making a routine check of the track.

Johnson County Sheriff A. J. Olson of Tecumseh said the man had been hit and killed by a train, but did not know whether or not he fell from the train. The apparent time of death was Wednesday night or early Thursday morning, Olson said.

His family told Olson that Rau had left home about noon Wednesday, telling them only that he was going to visit relatives in Kansas City, Kan.

Rau had lived in Lincoln 42 years.

His survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Jean Foreman; a son, David, both of Lincoln; father, David of Lincoln; sisters, Mrs. Jacob Busch and Mrs. Ralph Giebelhaus, both of Lincoln; a brother, Alex of Omaha, and one grandchild.

Students To Plan Redevelopment Of Sidney, Mullen

Architectural students at the University of Nebraska will attempt in classroom work to redevelop architecturally four different areas in Sidney and the main street in Mullen.

Both Nebraska towns were selected as study centers for the project.

As part of the Nebraska Community Education Project, the program will attempt to stimulate people's sensibilities toward the materialistic development of their towns.

The architecture class of eight students is directed by Eric Jensen, associate professor.

The Sidney project will involve a housing area, the highway entering town, a slum area and the city square.

The eight students participating are: Iraj Dastan, Iran; J. C. Graver, Lincoln; John Merrow, Lincoln; Donald Perrenoud, Omaha; John W. Rudd, Nebraska City; W. D. Schwabauer, Lincoln, and Paul C. Zucker, Scribner.

McCook Schools Make Claim To Meter Fine Funds

The State Supreme Court was asked Thursday to rule that money paid as a result of parking meter violations in McCook belongs to the school district.

The brief was filed by the McCook school district.

Nebraska's Constitution prescribes that "fines, penalties or license moneys" collected by cities shall go to the schools.

The Red Willow District Court held that the parking meter violation payments did not come within this category and that the city could use the money to reimburse itself for expenses in the administration of the parking meter ordinance.

The school district has appealed.

"We believe," the district said in the brief, "that the Constitution of the state . . . was intended to provide that all funds acquired by a city under its police powers, regardless of what said funds are called, should be the property of the schools."

—ICELAND—

Talks End; Troops Still Must Leave

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two days of "frank and friendly" talks at the State Department apparently haven't moved Iceland's Foreign Minister Emil Jonsson from his position that American troops must leave Iceland.

"It is now, as always before, the traditional policy of Iceland to avoid the stationing of armed forces in Iceland," Jonsson said just before leaving for Reykjavik, the Icelandic capital.

He said his country still wants the 4,000-man American force withdrawn from Keflavik, leaving the giant NATO air base there to be maintained by Icelanders.

The only concession Jonsson appeared to be prepared to make was possibly to allow some foreign specialists—but not soldiers — to be stationed at the base.

'Ready for Emergency'

"We are ready to keep the base in readiness and maintain it so it will be ready to use in case of emergency," the foreign minister said.

Jonsson declined to be drawn out about the possibility of a compromise being reached at further talks to be held in Reykjavik in mid-November.

State Income Decline, Tax Increase Cited

FREMONT, Neb. — Frank Sorrell of Syracuse, Democratic candidate for governor, called attention Thursday to the fact that Nebraska per capita income fell from $1,652 annually in 1952 to $1,482 in 1956. Sorrell addressed the Fremont Kiwanis Club.

This decrease, Sorrell said, gives Nebraska by far the worst income for the past year. Sorrell stated that the average Nebraska per capita income is today $1,482 against a national average of close to $2,000.

Sorrell said that this falling income was accompanied by a rise in state taxes in Nebraska amounting to more than 20 per cent in the past two years.

Sorrell advocated a cut in state expense pointing out that the number of state owned automobiles licensed has increased from 485 in 1953 to 577 in 1956. He contended that too many state employees are traveling in state owned automobiles and airplanes.

Sorrell blamed the one party system and a lack of political competition to some of Nebraska's ills stating that the restoration of competition in politics by electing a Democratic governor would be good for the state and save the taxpayers thousands of dollars which are now being squandered.

Modern Bakery, Ak-Sar-Ben Plant Additions Told

OMAHA (AP) — A two-million dollar push-button bakery and an $835,000 improvement program at the Ak-Sar-Ben plant were in the works Thursday.

Peter Pan Bakeries said it would construct the big plant on South 72nd St. Construction is to start immediately and the project should be completed by early 1958.

Milton Petersen, president of Peter Pan Bakeries, one of the largest such independent firms in the nation, said the bakery would be largest in this area and one of the most modern in the country.

The new plant will have about 132,000 square feet of space, all on one floor and will include space for the general office of P. F. Petersen Co.

The equipment, all electronically-controlled, will include operations ranging from the unloading of flour to packaging of finished products. The plant will serve western Iowa and eastern Nebraska.

Dead Total 10 In Building Collapse; Probes Launched

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — Three official investigations were launched Thursday into the roaring collapse of a partly completed office building which claimed the lives of 10 workmen.

Only five bodies have been recovered. But rescue workers said there is no chance the other five missing men could still be alive.

The Consumers Power Co., which had planned to house vital offices in the concrete building, called in two University of Michigan professors in an effort to determine cause of the collapse.

Separate investigations were also ordered by the general contractors and the architects. The State Legislature may also investigate.

Hruska And Curtis Back Ramsey For Top Spot In CAA

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sens. Curtis and Hruska, Nebraska Republicans, Thursday recommended J. D. Ramsey, former Nebraska director of aeronautics, for appointment as civil aeronautics administrator.

The recommendation was contained in a letter sent to the White House.

The top post of the Civil Aeronautics Administration is vacant because of the recent death of Charles J. Lowen.

Local Legislature Candidates Will Appear At YWCA

Candidates for the Nebraska legislature from the 18th, 19th and 20th Districts will speak Monday, Oct. 15 at a candidates meeting to be held at the YWCA cafeteria here.

A question period with audience participation will follow addresses by each candidate.

Participating candidates will be Chris Kuhner, Otto Liebers, Stanley Portsche, C. V. Keller, Mrs. Fern Hubbard Orme and Fred Waggoner.

The public meeting, sponsored by the YWCA, Lincoln United Church Women and League of Women Voters, will be held from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Talks End; Troops Still Must Leave

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two days of "frank and friendly" talks at the State Department apparently haven't moved Iceland's Foreign Minister Emil Jonsson from his position that American troops must leave Iceland.

"It is now, as always before, the traditional policy of Iceland to avoid the stationing of armed forces in Iceland," Jonsson said just before leaving for Reykjavik, the Icelandic capital.

He said his country still wants the 4,000-man American force withdrawn from Keflavik, leaving the giant NATO air base there to be maintained by Icelanders.

The only concession Jonsson appeared to be prepared to make was possibly to allow some foreign specialists—but not soldiers — to be stationed at the base.

'Ready for Emergency'

"We are ready to keep the base in readiness and maintain it so it will be ready to use in case of emergency," the foreign minister said.

Jonsson declined to be drawn out about the possibility of a compromise being reached at further talks to be held in Reykjavik in mid-November.

State Income Decline, Tax Increase Cited

FREMONT, Neb. — Frank Sorrell of Syracuse, Democratic candidate for governor, called attention Thursday to the fact that Nebraska per capita income fell from $1,652 annually in 1952 to $1,482 in 1956. Sorrell addressed the Fremont Kiwanis Club.

This decrease, Sorrell said, gives Nebraska by far the worst income for the past year. Sorrell stated that the average Nebraska per capita income is today $1,482 against a national average of close to $2,000.

Sorrell said that this falling income was accompanied by a rise in state taxes in Nebraska amounting to more than 20 per cent in the past two years.

Sorrell advocated a cut in state expense pointing out that the number of state owned automobiles licensed has increased from 485 in 1953 to 577 in 1956. He contended that too many state employees are traveling in state owned automobiles and airplanes.

Sorrell blamed the one party system and a lack of political competition to some of Nebraska's ills stating that the restoration of competition in politics by electing a Democratic governor would be good for the state and save the taxpayers thousands of dollars which are now being squandered.

Modern Bakery, Ak-Sar-Ben Plant Additions Told

OMAHA (AP) — A two-million dollar push-button bakery and an $835,000 improvement program at the Ak-Sar-Ben plant were in the works Thursday.

Peter Pan Bakeries said it would construct the big plant on South 72nd St. Construction is to start immediately and the project should be completed by early 1958.

Milton Petersen, president of Peter Pan Bakeries, one of the largest such independent firms in the nation, said the bakery would be largest in this area and one of the most modern in the country.

The new plant will have about 132,000 square feet of space, all on one floor and will include space for the general office of P. F. Petersen Co.

The equipment, all electronically-controlled, will include operations ranging from the unloading of flour to packaging of finished products. The plant will serve western Iowa and eastern Nebraska.

Dead Total 10 In Building Collapse; Probes Launched

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — Three official investigations were launched Thursday into the roaring collapse of a partly completed office building which claimed the lives of 10 workmen.

Only five bodies have been recovered. But rescue workers said there is no chance the other five missing men could still be alive.

The Consumers Power Co., which had planned to house vital offices in the concrete building, called in two University of Michigan professors in an effort to determine cause of the collapse.

Separate investigations were also ordered by the general contractors and the architects. The State Legislature may also investigate.

Hruska And Curtis Back Ramsey For Top Spot In CAA

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sens. Curtis and Hruska, Nebraska Republicans, Thursday recommended J. D. Ramsey, former Nebraska director of aeronautics, for appointment as civil aeronautics administrator.

The recommendation was contained in a letter sent to the White House.

The top post of the Civil Aeronautics Administration is vacant because of the recent death of Charles J. Lowen.

Local Legislature Candidates Will Appear At YWCA

Candidates for the Nebraska legislature from the 18th, 19th and 20th Districts will speak Monday, Oct. 15 at a candidates meeting to be held at the YWCA cafeteria here.

A question period with audience participation will follow addresses by each candidate.

Participating candidates will be Chris Kuhner, Otto Liebers, Stanley Portsche, C. V. Keller, Mrs. Fern Hubbard Orme and Fred Waggoner.

The public meeting, sponsored by the YWCA, Lincoln United Church Women and League of Women Voters, will be held from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Army Displays Mystery Gun—Apparent New Lightweight Atomic Weapon

By ELTON C. FAY

ABERDEEN PROVING GROUND, Md. (AP)—The Army displayed Thursday a mystery gun which appeared intended as a new lightweight atomic artillery piece.

Also displayed at the annual American Ordnance Assn. weapons show was the Army's 200-mile range Redstone ballistic missile. The general who demonstrated the Redstone, without actually firing it, called it a "high accuracy" weapon and said it is completely immune to any known method of diverting the missile from its flight to a target.

It was announced that the Redstone "will soon take its place in the nation's arsenal of operational weapons."

This compares with 86 tons for the 280 mm. atomic cannon.

Army officials demonstrated for the 5,000 AOA members, the new gun using a nonexplosive practice shell weighing only 150 pounds. They were carefully noncommittal about the weapon's nuclear capabilities. To a direct question by newsmen, they replied only that. "There is no announcement regarding the gun's atomic potential."

However, it was significant the Army weaponeers had gone to the trouble and expense to create a new weapon of a caliber and range comparable with the standard 8-inch gun.

Trimmed

It was already known that the Army and the Atomic Energy Commission had compacted an artillery shell from the original 280 mm.—11 inch—size to 8 inches. Now it seemed the nuclear shell had been trimmed down to 7 inches to fit the new, highly mobile weapon. The Army calls the 175 mm. weapon "superior" to the 8-inch gun.

The gun was developed by the Franklin Institute of Philadelphia and the Watertown, Mass., and Watervliet, N.Y., arsenals.

Ignoring rain and fog, the Army for the first time conducted a public firing of its Little John rocket, small brother to the bigger Honest John. This rocket, about 12 feet long, is believed capable of mounting a nuclear warhead like the bigger version. It has a range of about 10 miles.

9th, 10th Switch To Alter Routes Of Some Buses

The one-way street system on 9th and 10th to be inaugurated Sunday will mean minor changes in several Lincoln City Lines bus routes.

The So. 10th bus will follow the one-way system as it goes west on O to 9th, south on 9th to Peach, east on Peach to 10th and then south to Van Dorn over the regular route. Previously, the bus traveled back and forth from 9th to 10th on its southbound trip.

On its return, that line will travel straight north on 10th to O and into its regular Normal route.

The Bethany bus which now makes a loup around the block bounded by 11th, 10th, O and P, will travel west to 10th, north to P, west to 9th, south to O and east on O over the regular route.

One change in loading and unloading zones will be made with the present stop at the northwest corner of 11th and O being moved Sunday to the northeast corner of 10th and O.

City Lines Manager Joseph Schleckman said the routes with the one-way system will provide more efficient and better service.

9th, 10th Switch To Alter Routes Of Some Buses

The one-way street system on 9th and 10th to be inaugurated Sunday will mean minor changes in several Lincoln City Lines bus routes.

The So. 10th bus will follow the one-way system as it goes west on O to 9th, south on 9th to Peach, east on Peach to 10th and then south to Van Dorn over the regular route. Previously, the bus traveled back and forth from 9th to 10th on its southbound trip.

On its return, that line will travel straight north on 10th to O and into its regular Normal route.

The Bethany bus which now makes a loup around the block bounded by 11th, 10th, O and P, will travel west to 10th, north to P, west to 9th, south to O and east on O over the regular route.

One change in loading and unloading zones will be made with the present stop at the northwest corner of 11th and O being moved Sunday to the northeast corner of 10th and O.

City Lines Manager Joseph Schleckman said the routes with the one-way system will provide more efficient and better service.
